The decision of the first chairman was made in the interest of Mr. Godwin, the present representative from that district, for the delegates from Cumberland and New Hanover were all against him, and this decision intensified their opposition to him so much that they finally threw their votes for Mr. Clark and nominated him.

It seems to be the rule, or at least the custom, in that district to allow no representative to remain more than two terms in Congress. Mr. Godwin cannot complain that he is allowed only two terms, because he defeated for the nomination four years ago, Mr. Patterson, who had served only two terms.

The next day Godwin's adherents held a "rump" convention, composed of those who had "bolted" the regular convention, and went through the farce of nominating him for Congress. It is rence. to be hoped that he and his misguided followers will reconsider their action and not jeopardize the Democrats carrying the district. It is sad to think of men, who have been honored more than they deserved, allowing their greed for office to tempt them to disrupt their party !

THE census returns will not be made public for some time yet as their compilation requires much time and labor. Enough, however, is already known to justify the statement that the Congress legislates so as to prevent it.
