Benjamin W. Hooper, who headed the Republican ticket in Tennessee last November, but drew the support of thousands of voters of various political affiliations, was inaugurated governor of Tennessee. Governor Hooper's inaugural address opened with a plea for the cessation of political strife in Tennessee. A short farewell address was made by the retiring governor, M. R. Patterson, Governor Hooper referred to the lax cafocement of the prohibition law in his inaugural address.

Following a three days' conference between the joint advisory board of the Cigarmakers' Association and a committee from the Manuafacturers' Association, the advisory board declared the strike of cigarmakers at Tampa, Fla., ended. The strike, in point of numbers involved and the financial loss to Tampa, is the largest in the history of the South. For seven months, between 10,000 and 14,-000 workmen have been out of work, entailing a weekly loss in salaries alone of over three hundred thousand dollars. Much personal feeling marked the strike, and one man was murdered.

BUCK STOVE & RANGE COMPANY AND HIGH LABOR LEADERS IN SUPREME COURT. ARGUMENT BY A. B. PARKER Question Involved is Whether or Not Gompers Was in Contempt of Court in Advising a "Boycott" of Buck Stove & Range Co.

Washington,-Reaching the conclusion that the Bucks Stove & Range Co. of St. Louis, Mo., and the American Federation of Labor had settled their disputes out of court, the Supreme Court of the United States stopped the oral argument of the socalled "boycott" of the former against the latter on the theory that no issue in it remained for the court to pass upon.

Following that action the court listened to oral argument on the "contempt case" embracing the charges of the Buck Stove & Range Co. that Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor; John Mitchell, its vice president, and Frank Morrison, its secretary, had violated the injunction of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia in the "boycott" case. Each had been held to be guilty and sentenced to jail. "It is commonly stated that this case in dead," said Justice Lurton, interrupting argument of the boycott case. "I wish you would tell us if we are trying a moot case." Daniel Davenport, addressing the court in behalf of the company, said that his client had informed him, after two appeals, that neither the controversies at the base of the case nor the case itself had been settled, although a frindly relation existed between the company and the federation. As an officer of the court, Mr. Davenport added that he suspected that the disputes between the company and the federation had been so adjusted that there was nothing left for the court to decide except who should pay the costs. He then produced a copy of an agreement, which he said his client had sent him very recently, providing for the adjustment of disputes and for the publication by the American Federation of Labor that the company was on > growing states are particularly interested in the potash controversy between the State Department and Berlin, since the future price of fertilizer is directly affected by the outcome. German interests have just made representation to Secretary Knox similar in effect to those assertions made by circular letter to the miners throughout the South claiming that the German potash law, which places a penalty on mines selling heavily to Americans at a lower price than has for-> general conservation policy of Germany. According to Ochsimus, a leading German geologist, there are about 39,000 square miles of potash in one section of Germany, each of these containing some 50,000,000 tons of pure potash. This same authority totes that the annual output from these mines is about 600,000 tons each. and he figures that if the annual output should jump to 5,000,000 tons annually, it would still require 621,600 years to exhaust the supply.

Another of Germany's assertions is that the law does not discriminate against Americans. The brief of the American potash buyers committee submitted to congress points out that, under the law as recently passed by Germany, the mines of the potash trust in that country were allowed a proportion of output sufficient to supply the world, while the independent mines that had made contracts to supply the United States at a reduced price were limited to one-fourth of their actual sales already made to us. In addition a penalty of $22 per ton was imposed for overproduction. Thus the penalty falls exclusively upon shipments to this country and indirectly upon the consumer.

An effort is apparently being made to create the impression that this controversy is really a contest between the policy of the German government and an American trust. The fact is that there is no such complete and powerful trust in the United States as this German potash syndicate. This syndicate actually monopolizes the entire potash supply of the world. save for the two mines that broke away from the trust and sold to American buyers. In this country thereare about 70 different fertilizer manufacturers using potash, and of these
