STOCK DOESN'T PAY FOR CONVICT LABOR

BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF STATE'S PRISON OBJECTS TO AIDING RAILROADS.

PENITENTIARY FUNDS SHORT

The Cash Now on Hand is Insufficient For the Running Expenses .-Authorities Would Accept Money Contracts For Convict Labor.

Raleigh .- If the wishes of the board of directors of the state's prison count for much, railroads in search of convict labor will have to go elsewhere than to the North Carolina penitentiary to secure it. In their report made public recently the directors and Superintendent Mann insist that Article V, Section 4, of the State Constitution forbids state aid to railroad construction unless approved by the vote of the people,

The council of state, however, stands firm on retaining the system as the promoters are meeting the terms required by legislaive acts for such

The position of the directors is simply that the railroad stock acquired through hiring of convicts fails to bring in the ready cash, and has often failed to bring any. They do not want to turn down offers of cash for John Dobson, a farmer, aged 50, re- from the aviation field in the Second the prisoners' labor and run behind siding near Central, S. The prison directors report that the prison is now absolutely without funds except the railroad stock that is pronounced worthless. The run ning expenses of the prison amount upwards of $15,000 a month and with no revenue except this railroad stock for labor in sight until far into the fall, the state will probably have to put up $93,000 or more for prisor maintenance by January 1. On the other hand, there are numbers o applications for convict labor a $1.50 cash a day that would quickly created surplus at the prison, if the railroad stock contracts were terminated.

A lengthy report by Supt. Mann gives in detail the conditions at all these railroad camps. It pronounces the Atlantic and Transcontinental operations a "sham and pretense" at the same time crediting its promoters with honest intentions.

PRODUCTION OF ALUMINUM

North Carolina Will Do Its Share Teward Meeting the Increase Demand For Aluminum.

Raleigh.-A special from Washington states that the officials of the United States geological survey believe that this state/will during the year 1913 do a great part in meeting the growing demand for aluminum, through the formation of the Southern Aluminum Company, which has commenced operations on the Yadkin river, in Stanly county.

In a report of the production of aluminum during the year 1912, issued recently, the survey states that last year there was a notable increase in the use of that meal, more than 65, 0000,000 pounds being consumed, compared with 46,125,000 pounds in the preceding year. Not only was there an increase in the domestic production, states the report, but there was a decided growth in the imports of the metal.

In commenting on the formation of the Southern Aluminum Company in this state, the report of the survey

"To meet in part the growing demand for aluminum, the Southern Aluminum Company, with a large capital, has acquired a water-power site on Yadkin river, in Stanly county, North Carolina, and is now engaged in the development of the property. The projected operations of the company and the additional fact that the importation of foreign aluminum is being stimulated by a keen demand promise a sufficient supply of the metal in the future.

THE APPOINTMENTS OF POST-MASTERS FOR NORTH CARO-LINA STILL DELAYED.

Benator Simmons Holding up Nomination of Postmasters at Laurinburg, Marshall and Reidsville .- His Reason For This Action Given.

Raleigh.-A special from Washing ton states that there has been no material change during the past two weeks in the situation regarding the appointments of postmasters at Laur inburg, Marshall and Reidsville, where the men named by congressmen are unsatisfactory to Senator Simmons and he is having their nominations held up.

G. H. Russell, who was recommend ed for appointment at Laurinburg by Congressman Page was in Washington going over the situation with his friends, and seeking advice as to the best way to overcome Senator Simmons' objection. He did not call on the senator. Senator Simmons said that he had not seen Russell and indidicated that it would be useless for Russell to call on him, as he was intent on having E. H. James, appointed postmaster at Laurinburg, and did not believe he would change his mind any time soon.

It is understood that Russell's friends in Washington advised him to take up the matter with Senator Simdefeat of James.
