HITTSEO O, CHATHAM COUNTY, N.C., NOV. N.B., 19 1913

State Superintendent Joyner Urges That Cor ty Boards Pay Their Teachers Promptly.

That the teachers of the state may have their salaries fully and promptly paid at the end of each school month, in compliance with the law, and may not be compelled to wait for payments or to discount their vouchers, as they have sometimes been compelled to do, State Superintendent Joyner is directing the county boards when necessary, cure advances from unused balances sheriffs or treasurers.

In this connection Mr. Joyner sends out the following letter to the county boards of the state: "Gentlemen I beg to call your attention to the amendment of 1913 to authorizing and directing the county boards of education to provide for the prompt payment of all teachers' salaries at t he end ofe ach school month, and to urge your prompt compliance with this law.

"Under this law the county boards education are authorized and required to make satisfactory arrangements, by borrowing the money or otherwise, for the prompt payment of all teachers' salaries at the end of each month where the school funds in the hands of the treasurer at that time are insufficient for such payments. In many instances, however, the necessity for borrowing may be avoided and the expense of paying interest saved by urging sheriffs to turn over to the treasurers from month to month school funds as rapidly as collected a by requesting sheriffs and treasure. having unused balances from other funds in their hands to advance from these to the school fund part or all of the money needed at the end of the month to pay the salaries due, thereby saving to the school fund considerable interest curities Company is now actively en | counties-arrangements can be made with one or more banks to cash all upon presentation, to stamp upon each voucher the date of payment and to date until the date of settlement of same by the treasurer. Conclusion. The greatest lesson beity of the purposes of God. As great and important as Moses has been during his 40 years of leadership, yet he was not necessary. The instrument of divine deliverance, direction and dous blank he must have left. Yet Israel is to go forward, there is to be no halting in its progress. God had been training men for 40 years, one of whose faith failed not at the sight of the giants, one who had fellowship with the old and is now to face the new. We recall the words of John Wesley, inscribed upon his memorial tablet in Westminster abbey, "God buries his workmen, but carries on his work." .. Each individual in the Newton.—There were 4,073 bales of long succession of leaders has his apway for a new leader. The abiding principles that condition each man' success are loyalty and obedience.

The Golden Text is in substance thrice repeated. First, Joshua was to be strong and of good courage because of the work ahead of him (v. 6).; second, he was to be strong and courageous in the observance of the law; courageous in order to avoid the perils of fear and dismay which were to beset the path of advance (v. 9).

A study of the remainder of this chapter reveals not only the orderly response of the people but that the people, as well as God, also demanded of their leader that he should "be strong and of a good courage."
