News of Acitivities Cannot Easily Seep Through Sieve of Censorship.-Towns Under Martial Law.

Vienna.-No declaration of war has been issued and it is believed none will be since Servia never subscribed to The Hague convention. The sending of his passports to the Servian minister, M. Jovanovitch, by the Austrian foreign office, however, is deemed equivalent to the declaration of war. This action was taken when the report that the Servian minister had left Vienna was found incorrect. M. Jovanovitch will leave immediately. In his absence the Russian ambassador will take charge of Servian

The prospect of war is not regarded here as child's play. The Servians put 400,000 men into the field during the Balkan wars. Both officers and men are passionately patriotic. It is expected that Servia will attempt to hold the front along the Danube and the Drina with only a weak force, while the greater part of the army will be concentrated in the central district, probably near Nish or Kraguyeratz and another strong force in Novipazar, which will be destined for offensive operations against Bosnia.

Age of Justice Clark May Debar. Washington-President Wilson told Senator Simmons and Overman that he could not consider for the U.S. supreme court a man over 65 years old and would not consider if he could help it a man oer sixty years of age. This eliminates Chief Justice Walter Clark, of North Carolina, for considertion, as he is 68 years old, and makes doubtful the prospects of Judge B. F. The contractors in charge of the construction of the Geer building at Durham have employed a night force and in the future will use about a hundred hands on the excavation for this building during the day and half that number during the night. Hundred watt incandescents have been stretched across the building site, and these make the night about as bright as the day for the laborers. No trouble was experienced in getting negroes to work during the night for they like the cool nights better than the warm days. The construction forces are using two forces of horses and are bauling the dirt from the excavation as fast as the negroes can get it up. Putting on of the night force was made necessary on account of the nature of the soil six feet under the surface. A kind of sand stone was encountered which made the progress of the work so slow that the contractors had to resort to the night work in order to get the building completed on schedule time.

LESSON FOR AUGUST 2

THE TRIUMPHAL ENTRY.

LESSON TEXT-Mark 11:1-11. GOLDEN TEXT-"Rejoice greatly, O daughter of Zion; shout, O daughter of Jerusalem, because thy king cometb unto thee." Zech. 9:9 R. V.

Mark devotes 233 verses to his account of the last week of our Lord's life and 425 to all the balance. Matthew devotes seven chapters and Luke five. If all of the life of Jesus had been given to us in like ratio it would have taken at least 80 volumes in which to tell us the story.

Today's lesson is the introduction to that week. We must consider his entry in its light upon the whole movement of his life. His instructions how to secure the colt seem to indicate his intention to provoke a demonstration. Though often in Jerusalem before, this was a different occasion, and for a different purpose. Before he did not provoke his conflicts, now he courts publicity, that he may fasten his claims upon the attention of all.

Test of Faith.

I. "The Lord hath need of him," vv. 1-7. It was a test of faith for these disciples to obey the Lord's command (v. 2), yet they did precisely what they were commanded to do (v. 6). cipleship, John 15:14. When the disciples entered the village (v. 1) they found the colt "whereon no man ever yet sat." Jesus knew all and had the keys to the human heart. Perhaps this colt belonged to a disciple, hence the willingness to let it be used for the occasion Jesus was for the first and only time assuming. Many disciples are not willing to be so explicitly and simply obedient. This obedience is heightened when we remember how the disciples had followed Jesus towards Jerusalem 'amazed" and perplexed.

Those who stood by asked the very question suggested by Jesus, v. 6 cf. v. 3. As these disciples cast their garments upon the colt for Jesus to sit upon, they proclaimed their allegiance to him as king. II. "Hosanna" vv. 8-11. Literally, "save now," Ps. 118:25, 26. His entry was characterized by a remarkable outbreak of enthusiasm. Before this only the disciples accepted his kingdom claims, now the multitude found their expression of gratification. Passing into the city, sitting upon the colt, he was accompanied by their chants of praise. Their first word was, "Hosanna"-their last "Hosanna in the highest." Between these they exclaimed, "Blessed is the kingdom that cometh, of our father David." It has been suggested that this host was made up largely of Galileans, and that theirs was an appeal to the city to receive the one who was coming, hence their double blessing to the king and to the kingdom. Jesus seems to have yielded his whole soul to this glad acclaim. It was a necessary part of that dignity which should properly be accorded to the Messiah on this his last entry into the Holy City. This suggestion about the Galileans may explain the cry uttered the last part of the week by the citizens of Jerusalem. "Crucify him." Still we feel sure that many of this same crowd joined this latter cry. The use of the word "many" (v. 8) seems to indicate that everyone joined the acclamations of

Effect of Psychology.

Some of that crowd were doubtless moved by the "psychology of the crowd," and their devotion was shortlived. It is not hard to imagine the effect this strange procession must have produced upon the city as it moved on to the temple. Some threw their garments upon the ground to pave his way. Others took palm branches (John 12:13), and strewed
