-The trees in the forest have put on their fall suits of variegated colors - green, yellow, red, etc., and are beautiful to look at.
-Mr. Walker Hanks presented the editor last Monday some strawberries that were raised in his garden. And this in November.
-Mr. Grover Ellington has moved to town. He will occupy the Nooe residence on the corner of Fifth avenue and Small street.
-The toothsome Chatham rabbit is again to the front, the several big frosts we have recently had making them tender and palatable.
-Our bird hunters can begin to enjoy their favorite sport after the 15th of this month. The partridges are said to be more numerous this fall than usual.
-Our congratulations are extended to the successful candidates and our sympathy is extended to the unsuccessful ones. Blessed are those who expected nothing, for they were not disappointed.
-The interior of the jail building has been given a coat of whitewash by Mr. Harlowe Taylor, the very efficient jailer. Although deaf and dumb Mr. Taylor has made the best jailer Chatham ever had.
-According to the report of Mr. N. A. Perry, cotton statistician for Chatham county, there were 2,218 bales of cotton ginned in this county up to October 18 this year. Same date last year there were 2,694 bales ginned.
-We learn that Moncreux is a big planing mill. A Mr. Leonard, a gentleman from Greensboro, who is interested in the plant, was here last Saturday and stated that the mill would be built there this winter or early in the spring.
-One of the candidates on the county ticket - we did not say which one - is suffering from a fever-blistered mouth, causing his lips to protrude somewhat. A lady wag says the cause of these blisters was from kissing so many babies during the campaign.
-Our farmers have rarely ever had a more favorable fall for gathering their corn and cotton and for sowing wheat. We are pleased to learn that an unusually large crop of wheat is being sowed in this county, and we confidently predict that no farmer will regret sowing all he can.
-RECORD can truthfully say that the campaign just closed was one of the most quiet and orderly campaigns that has ever taken place in Chatham. Both sides were continually jollying one another on their election or defeat. The whole campaign was carried through in a friendly spirit, and we are glad to note it.
-The Baracca and Philathea classes of the Bynum Sunday school will give a play - "When a Man Was Single" - in the school auditorium at that place next Saturday night, November 7th. An admission fee of 25 cents for adults and 15 cents for children will be charged. The proceeds are for the benefit of the school auditorium at Bynum.
-A ride from here to Siler City last Thursday showed that the overseer, or overseers, of the road from Kimbolton to Siler City ought to work that road without further delay. Although this fall has been dry, yet there are many disgraceful mudholes in that road which need immediate attention, and will become almost impassable before Christmas if not worked at once. It is strange how the people who have to travel on bad roads do not insist on their being repaired.

DEMOCRATS ELECT TICKET

They Carry the County by 400 to 575 Majority

Chatham again goes Democratic and by majorities larger than those given to any Democratic candidates for county officers since 1890 when Spence Taylor beat John Paschal for sheriff by 553 and Dan Marsh was elected register of deeds by 891. On this page may be seen the tabulated vote in full.

Johnson, Lane and Griffin were re-elected for register, sheriff and clerk by majorities ranging from 500 to 575. Bynum's majority over Dixon for the legislature is 280. Our county commissioners are re-elected by from 300 to 400 majorities, and the state Democratic ticket by over 400.

The constitutional amendments were lost in this county by probably 1,000 majority.

S. G. Gunter beat J. T. Wright for constable of Centre township by 73 majority.

Barn and Stable Burned.

Last Monday night, just before 12 o'clock, the people of Pittsboro were aroused from their slumbers by the blowing of the oil mill whistle, the cause being the burning of the barn and stable of Sherman Alston, colored, near the colored Methodist church. All of the fodder and corn in the barn were a total loss, Alston barely saving his horse, which was somewhat burned.

Alston, who is a hard-working, industrious negro, seems to be running in bad luck. It has not been but a few days since he lost three of his children by death. The fire is supposed to have been of an incendiary origin as no lamp or matches had been used about the barn.

Siler City Fire.

On last Sunday night our neighbor town of Siler City was visited with a very destructive fire. It started in the restaurant of a colored man, named Henry Wright, which was a one-story frame building on the corner northeast of the railroad depot. It was not discovered until after midnight and before the flames could be checked they had caught and burned several of the adjoining buildings.

By hard work the Chatham Hotel was saved and thus prevented the fire from reaching the Grit office on the south. On the street leading east the flames were checked at the brick building used as a meat market. At one time during the progress of the fire it was feared that the greater part of the business section would be burned and it was only by hard work that it was saved.

Siler City Grit: A colored youth, Arshur Brown, was accidentally killed Monday afternoon at the sawmill of Thomas & Co., on the Woody place, eight miles from Siler City. The boy was underneath a log wagon adjusting a chain around a log when the wagon became uncoupled, the log falling on him and killing him almost instantly.

Europe Buying Horses. Washington, Oct. 23. - Referring to reports that agents of the European governments are buying large numbers of horses in the United States for war purposes, President Harrison, of the Southern Railroad Co., said today: "This is a matter that directly concerns the farmers of the South. On account of the great destruction of horses that is now going on in Europe, we may look forward to an active demand for draft animals during the war and for some time after the restoration of peace. The natural effect of this will be to bring about higher prices, and this emphasizes the importance to the farmers of the South of raising their own draft animals and not buying so many horses and mules from the west as heretofore."

THE SCHOOL NEWS.

MISS OLIVIA HARMON, Class Editor.

Susie Morgan, one of the tenth grade pupils, has stopped school on account of her health. Several of the high school boys have been absent this week, helping their parents gather and store away their crops.

The school regrets to lose Myrren Straughan, who left last week for her aunt at Petersburg, Va., where she will continue her school work.

We are glad to know that Curtis Griffin, who has been out of school on account of her eyes, will soon be able to resume her school work.

Several visitors were present at the meeting of the En Avant literary society last Wednesday afternoon. Music, recitations and a little play were rendered. Why can't we have visitors every meeting?

The proceeds of the play, that was given Wednesday night, will be used to buy the articles necessary to start a domestic science class. The chief object of this class will be to learn to prepare good, wholesome and sanitary school lunches.

Mr. R. H. Hayes conducted the morning exercises one day last week, and Rev. C. L. Wicker last Thursday morning. It would be a great benefit if more of the patrons would visit the school. It would create interest in both you and in us.

Soldier Admits Killing Whole Family.

St. Louis, Oct. 31. - A written confession that he blew up his home with dynamite, killing his sleeping wife and four small children, was given to the police here today by Scott Stone, a U. S. army recruit arrested yesterday at Jefferson barracks. Stone's farm house at Tolono, Ill., was burned September 28 last. Mrs. Stone and four children, the oldest, aged five, perishing in the blaze.

Stone asserted he committed the crime to be free to run away with a woman whom he knew only as Lucille. Sixteen days after the destruction of his home and family, Stone enlisted in the army under an assumed name. He was arrested yesterday at the request of the state's attorney of Champaign county, Ill.

According to the confession, Stone and his family on the night of Sept. 27 went to bed at eight o'clock, all sleeping in the same room, the three older children slept at the foot of the bed and the youngest child beside its mother.

Stone said: "I slept until 10 o'clock, when I felt my wild, roving nature overcoming me. Between 1 and 2 o'clock I got out of bed and went to the barn where I had hidden ten sticks of dynamite in the wheat bin. I had bought the dynamite in Tolono and the percussion caps in Champaign.

"I put the dynamite on a table in the kitchen and ran 13 feet of fuse from it to the back door. I then went outdoors and lit the fuse. After the explosion I began calling for help."

Stone said that townspeople arrived and helped him carry out his furniture. Stone's object in killing his family, he said, was that he had been spending his time and money on other women and did not think he was treating his family right, and he decided they would be better off dead.

Stone's arrest was due to the story of a woman who told the state's attorney of Champaign county that Stone wanted her to go west with him. According to his story, Stone met the woman the day after the fire.

Postal-Savings Receipts.

The war in Europe is proving a big boon to postal savings in this country. From the very day hostilities opened across the seas postal savings receipts began to increase by leaps and bounds and withdrawals fell off, a result quite contrary to the predictions of many well-informed persons who, in their imagination, saw lines of feverish depositors at postoffice pay windows anxious to again return their savings to the boot-leg and body-belt whence they came before intrusted to Uncle Sam. But the forecasters failed to reckon on the absolute confidence of the American citizen, regardless of the flag that first met his eyes, in the ability and purpose of the government to carry out its obligations, not only among the nations of the earth, but with the humblest citizen of our land.

Two important results have followed; thousands of people, largely of foreign birth, accustomed to send their savings abroad, are now patrons of our postal-savings system; and enormous sums of actual cash have been released for commercial uses among our people at a time when the need for every available dollar is pressing.

The growth of postal savings in the United States has been steady and healthy and the system has filled an important gap between the tin-can depository and the factory paymaster. On July 1, when affairs were running smoothly here and abroad and the transmission of money across the Atlantic was safe and expeditious, there was approximately $43,000,000 of postal savings standing to the credit of about 388,000 depositors. Since then over $10,000,000 of deposits have been added and the number of depositors has increased enormously. This unprecedented gain is the more striking when it is considered that the net gain in the last three months is larger than the gain for the entire fiscal year 1914. Score of offices have done more postal-savings business since the war has been going on than was done by them during the previous existence of the service. The increases are confined to no special localities, but have been felt in every nook and corner of the country. New York City alone made a gain in September of more than a million, while Brooklyn showed a relatively big increase. Chicago reported a larger gain in the past three months than for the previous twelve months. More than 7,600 new accounts were opened during the period, bringing the number of depositors in that city up to over 21,000.

The unexpected increase in postal-savings business has not only added greatly to the general administrative duties of the system, but has brought up many new and interesting problems which have called for the careful personal consideration of Postmaster General Burleson and Governor Dockery, third assistant postmaster general. But their task has been lightened somewhat by the promptness of depository banks in furnishing additional security to meet the abnormal deposits. A number of the very largest banks in the country, which have heretofore declined to qualify as depositories for postal-savings funds, are now among the eager applicants for them.

Montana ranks tenth among the states in the total value of its mineral products, and its chief mineral industry is the mining and smelting of copper ores. As a producer of copper Montana ranks second among the states, Arizona being first.
