

The Chatham Record

LOCAL RECORDS

W. M. Harmon, of Biscoe, sends the Record a dollar for a year's subscription. He is among the many Chathamites dispersed abroad that have made good.

Mrs. C. M. May, of Pittsboro, route 3, has been visiting her brother, Squire R. M. Burns.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Hill, of Kinston, spent the week-end with Mrs. N. M. Hill.

Will and Arthur London, of Chapel Hill, have been home on a short visit.

W. E. Brooks will take charge of the school near the county home next Monday.

Miss Evelyn Alston has been on a short visit to her mother at Littleton.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Eubanks have gone to Winston-Salem. Mrs. Eubanks is a delegate for the U. D. C. Convention, and Mr. Eubanks will go from there to High Point where he will attend the Western North Carolina Conference.

William Tatum and family and Mrs. J. C. Lanus spent Sunday in Durham.

Mrs. Fisher Makepeace, of Sanford, spent the week-end with her mother, Mrs. J. R. Milliken.

Mrs. Henry A. London is attending the State Convention of U. D. C. at Winston-Salem this week.

Mrs. John R. Milliken and Miss Julia Lambeth are attending the U. D. C. Convention in Winston-Salem as delegates.

Attorney W. J. Horton has about recovered a severe injury to a leg, sustained while making speed to a recent fire near the Methodist church when he fell and badly bruised it.

Rev. Jonas Barclay has returned from an interesting session of the Presbyterian Synod held at Tarboro last week.

Remember that you yet have time to take in the Chatham County Fair if you have not already attended. It is your duty to do it.

Yes, you can get the Record, The Progressive Farmer and the Southern Agriculturist one whole year for $1.25.

After November 1st, we will be in our new office on the court house square, in the Lanus building.

If you have not already signed a blank that you expect to take electric lights, please let the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce know at once. The contractors will be here in a short time to begin wiring the town and the houses and if you have the work done at this time it will cost you a great deal less.

Pittsboro will soon have lots of industries and enterprises will be distributed throughout the county. Factories of various kinds and the population will soon be doubled in the town. Already the Manufacturers Record and other folks wanting information for this purpose have begun to solicit the Chamber of Commerce for information. It is a result of the published report that Pittsboro is to have electric current.

The editor of the Record, soon after moving to Pittsboro, established the slogan: "Building and Growing" for the town. It is becoming a reality. All we have to do is to keep our shoulders to the wheel and scotch for all we are worth and we will continue to go forward.

Again we say folks, attend your Fair. It is worth while.

Harry Ihrie, of Carthage, spent Sunday with Mrs. N. M. Hill.

Mrs. H. C. Ferrell, who has been visiting her mother, Mrs. T. W. Hackney and other relatives in this county, has returned to her home at Fayetteville.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Abernathy, of Bynum, and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Livingston, of Hackney's, spent Sunday with Mrs. W. H. Overby.

Misses Wilmer Arnold and Madys Gardner, of Carthage, have been here visiting friends.

Read every ad. in this paper. See the names of those in Pittsboro, Sanford, Raleigh, Apex and Siler City. When they use the Record to talk to you, we guarantee them to be reliable.

Miss Kate Hill Ihrie and friend will spend the week-end with her aunt, Mrs. N. M. Hill.

L. E. Thomas, an old Chathamite, now living in Wilmington, is with his father, J. H. Thomas, on Moncure route No. 2, who has been confined to his room for some days. Mr. Thomas will return to Wilmington as soon as his father is better.

While drawing a truck backwards from the Chatham Motor Co's garage with a tractor last Friday, Jack Ferrell was caught between the body of the truck and the steering wheel of the tractor, having a knee badly bruised. It is but a miracle that he was not more seriously injured.

Recently the Record pleaded for a more decent coach on the railroad from Pittsboro to Moncure. We thank the Seaboard for heeding our call. There is now a splendid, newly painted coach for the patrons to ride in.

Again Chatham Wins.

Bonlee High School won the fifth prize at the State Fair in the crop judging contest. This is the first time that a contest of this character has been held and speaks well for the school, inasmuch as one hundred and fourteen vocational pupils, representing thirty-nine schools took part in the contest. Next year Chatham must carry off the first prize that this year went to Wake county, Cary High School. Bonlee school also won the fourth prize on the display from the vocational agricultural high schools.

In commenting editorially upon the Fair, the News & Observer says that the best feature of the entire time was the exhibit by the three hundred and fifty farm boys, students of vocational agriculture in the high schools of the state. The Observer says further:

"It is the farm boys obtaining the benefits of all the good things their fathers have done, and adding to it new and better methods, to whom the State chiefly looks for the prosperity which will lift all the John Smiths of ambition out of ruts and give us more and more skilled land-owners and successful farmers. Keep your eyes on the Farm Boys!"

At The State Fair.

The editor of The Record attended the State Fair at Raleigh Thursday and was well entertained too. It was the best display in every particular that we have witnessed in a like aggregation of products and proves conclusively that North Carolina leads. Many, many people from Chatham attended that Fair and it is impossible to mention all of them. We wish it were possible. A few from Pittsboro and possibly other sections attended the reception held Tuesday night for the president, Mrs. Geo. W. Vanderbilt.

New Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson Seagraves and children, of Raleigh, Misses Jennie and Annie Poole, and Edna Truelove, of Bonsal, spent Sunday afternoon at the home of Mr. J. L. Goodwin.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Beckwith and Lattie Beckwith, and Mr. and Mrs. Clark, spent Sunday with Mr. Benton Goodwin and family, near Apex.

Misses Ollie Mann, Leta Gunter Ruffie and Tula Mims and Mr. Tom Reynolds, of Merry Oaks, called to see the Misses Webster Sunday afternoon.

BRICKHAVEN.

Clinton Seawell spent the week-end in Raleigh.

Mr. and Mrs. Overby, of McCullers, and Henry Brown are visiting relatives here this week.

Quite a number of our people attended the State Fair this week and from all reports it was time and money well spent. The greatest great Fair yet recorded. The unusual amount of dust and the great scarcity of water in no wise seemed to effect the ardent spirits of those who were fortunate enough to attend. The enjoyment was perhaps more keen under conditions which may have seemed to many quite capable of marring pleasure. But after all it is not just the state of mind that decides whether experiences are pleasant or the reverse? Perhaps one would be happier, and better if that thought were made daily use of, and not just applied in times of anticipated joy.

Some one has aptly suggested that it seems that Brickhaven, in addition to being quite interested in the popular sport, opussum hunting, is developing a craze of taking bee trees. Three raids for honey have been made within the week. On last Friday night Messrs. Hanks and Wicker, together with seventeen invited friends, took a tree and secured several pounds of the delicious product. It was an evening crowded with much fun and not a few bites, the bees being in an unusually unfriendly state of mind. Again on Tuesday night Mr. Hanks was host to another merry party, but this time the yield was not so prolific, the pails and other receptacles were brought back empty, but every one had a thorough good time, even enjoying the tramp through jungles in quest of a lost tree. Wednesday night there was a "stag" affair and although little honey was obtained there was much merriment, jesting and teasing being the rule.

We are missing the steady musical hum of Harrington Bros. cotton gin this week. For the past few weeks the gin has run regularly, sometimes night and day. It was interesting to see the long train of wagons waiting their turn. Cotton was brought here from miles away, some from Wake, Harnett and Lee counties, the wagoners camping for the night sometimes when too many local loads went in ahead. This is a system gin, modern in every respect and under the management of those who wish to give a square deal, and we predict that again next season the patronage will be even greater than it has been this fall.

Rev. Jonas Barclay, of Pittsboro, conducted services at the school Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The sermon was interesting as well as instructive, and many have expressed the desire that Mr. Barclay come again.

Frank Thomas, of Raleigh, spent the week-end with his mother here.

Cliff Mims, who holds a position at the State Garage, spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Mims.
