MAN WHO DESTROYS.

The placing a fine of $50 on a convicted blockader, giving it to the man who caused his conviction or captured him, has been repealed by Legislative enactment at the special session just ended by a bill introduced by the Representative, ex-sheriff Leon T. Lane, thereby destroying to a great extent the possibility of coping with the blockade traffic in Chatham county.

Some think that the principle of the law was wrong. That may be and it may not be. It may cause some officer or special deputy to put forth more zeal than they otherwise would, but when it becomes necessary to capture a criminal, jeopardize your life and property, it is worth the price. The $50 fine came from the blockader and there is no reasonable excuse for abolishing it. It is said by some that it was about to break the county, paying these fines. When it became necessary for the county to pay it, the amount was worked out on Chatham county roads, and if 50 to 60 cents a day is not value received from a convict's time on the roads, then the Commissioners should hire him out to some other county at $1.50 a day and make a profit on his time, thereby eliminating this excuse.

Deputy Sheriff in his argument last week looked only on the side of possibility of corruption in office. The editor views it with apprehension as to whether as many blockaders can be apprehended now as before. They must be taken in charge by some means and the people of Chatham county are determined as they are in other places to get them, therefore the new law may not hurt us, so let us hope not.

The blockaders have begun to get just a little more nerve and after tanking up on the infernal stuff will do many things that are terrible to contemplate. Deputy Sheriff H. A. Harrington lost his barn only last week by fire that can easily be imagined that it was the work of illicit liquor makers.

It is impossible for the Record to describe a man who will wilfully and deliberately destroy or injure property in the night time any more accurately than has the Monroe Enquirer when it says he is a "miserable, worthless thing, made in the outward shape of a man, but with the mental and moral instincts of a hyena; a vile, odious, abominable, loathsome, villainous, execrable, pusillanimous, dad-dinged reptile not fit to be mentioned in the same year with a respectable skunk."

The manner of inflicting a fine on a blockader is not a safe one any way, further than to reimburse the man who takes the chances of his life to catch him but it must and will come to pass when no judge will discharge a man found guilty of trafficking in blockade whiskey in any capacity, but will send him to the roads or penitentiary where he belongs.

This is the way and the only possible way, to discourage the bootlegger and break up the miserable traffic in blind tiger whiskey that is polluting the country and making a mockery of our laws and to proportionate extent lowering the respect for all laws. So long as a whiskey dealer can buy his way to sunlight and liberty by the payment of a fine that represents but a minor portion of a week's profits, it is useless to try to stop the flow of liquor through the State.

Beginning this New Year let every Christian man and woman determine to put there shoulder to the wheel and be among the class that will lend every assistance to the destruction of the liquor traffic at home.

The rear part of the car was completely filled with dainties contributed by the people of lower Cape Fear. Mr. Nash is always found at the head of worth-while organizations, those that tend to the up-building of the community and for the betterment of the people, not only in his home section but everywhere. No more public-spirited man can be found in this good old county of ours, and while we are not trying to delve into politics, we wish to suggest to the voters of the county that it is just such a man that we need to help develop civic pride and to aid in the upbuilding of this, in many respects the grandest county in the state.

WHAT DO YOU WEIGH?

A little boy watching the people get on and off a weighing machine saw each one drop a penny in the slot and the needle spin round telling each what he weighed.

The boy saw his chance and jumped on the scale. He felt in his pocket, but found no penny. The needle did not move. "I haven't a penny and so I don't weigh anything," said the little boy.

That's the way it goes, all through life. If you want to weigh anything in the estimation of those around you, ACCUMULATE SOME MONEY.

There's no better way than to become enthusiastic about your bank account. If you would accumulate, SAVE AND BANK.
