HIGH SCHOOL TO DEBATE. Will Discusss The Query on Railway

Labor Boards.

Chapel Hill, Nov. 27 .- The query for the high school debates for the present school year has been deided

"Resolved, that Congress should provide for enforcement of the decisions of the railway labor board."

This is the eleventh year of the high school debating union, which was organized by the Dialectic and Phil-Last winter sixty schools which had their preliminary contests sent teams. numbering 240 debators, to Chapel Hill to enter the final round for the Avcock Memorial cup.

Every secondary and high school in North Carolina is invited to become a member of the Union and participate in the state-wide debate. Every in a triangle with the others, each school putting out two teams, one on of its debates is entitled to send its team to Chapel Hill for the final day

THE CARE OF THE TEETH.

According to the decision of the judges, the following composition on the care of the teeth, was the best submitted by the pupils of the sixth and seventh grades. Mrs Hayes tells us that the judges did not know the names of the authors when judging them, and they were at a loss to decide on the best for a time-all of them were good, but finally selected! the following one, written by Miss Nannie Lanius:

When we are just a few months old, there comes a set of teeth, called temporary teeth. There are twenty in the first set, and the last of them appear about the end of the second year. The first teeth begin to fall out Blair thought that there was sufficient twenty-two, Ore Hill, North Carolina. harm than five good men can build when a child is about six years old, but some remain until it is twelve

The second set is the permanent teeth: there are thirty-two of these permanent teeth-the last of them, the wisdom tooth, may not come until between the ages of seventeen or twenty-fieve We should take good care of these, because after they are gone, we will have no more.

Neglect of the teeth produces many had effects. The odor from an unclean mouth is a most unpleasant thing to other people. A neglected tooth is the gate way through which our worst germ enemies may gain entrance. should be very careful not to bite everything hard. The teeth should be ing and night, if not more. The toothbrush should not be too large, and the bristles should be of a medium hardness and shaped so that they will get between the teeth. Both sides, and the top of the teeth should be thor- on hand and Justice Blair bound him down and up from the gums to the catting edge, instead of crosswise, because the bristles do not get in between the teeth when the brushing is faished; luke-warm water should be taken into the mouth and forced between and around the teeth several times. This is as important as the use of the tooth brush. This tooth toilet should take from three to five minutes. If you have no tooth paste, the plain water and brush will be better than nothing."

The Seeing Eye.

How do you visualize our job? The story of the three stonecutters leaves nothing of wisdom to be said. They were working on a stone. A stranger asked the first what he was doing. "I'm working for $7.50 a day." stone," growled the laborer. When the question was put to the third stone-cutter, he answered, "I'm building a cathedral."-The Christian Register (Boston).

MAGISTRATE'S COURT.

Last Friday was a big day in magstrate court cir les in Pittsboro, when Squire J. R. Blair had before him he case of J. H. Holt, who had inlicted Lossie Wilson, colored, for temporary larceny of a mule. It seems hat Wilson had taken the mule from Mr. Holt's stables and had kept the animal for two nights and nearly two

The case was hard fought by the evidence to bind Wilson over to the January court, which he did, putting City, North Carolina nim under a $200 bond.

Another case that attracted some attention Saturday was that of Ralph Alston, colored, charged with forging hree checks on the Farmers Bank. W. P. Horton and Wade Barber, the negro's attorneys, worked hard for their client, but Squire Blair bound nim over to court under a $300 bond. Another case was tried last Monday when Shed Wilson was up before Mr. Blair, charged with keeping whisky for sale.
