PITTSBORO MILLINERY OPENING

There was a big surprise in store for the ladies of Pittsboro and surrounding country last Friday and Saturday morning when they paid a visit to inspect the new millinery and ready-to-wear opening of the Misses Caviness and Harmon, located over the postoffice.

This is a new enterprise for Pittsboro, a thing that has long been needed, and those who visited the opening were charmed at the success of the enterprise, and the elaborate provision that had been made for the new store.

Miss Bessye Caviness has had long experience in the millinery and readyto-wear business and she has fine taste and splendid ideas. Miss Cordie Harmon is no novice in this kind of work and her many friends here and elsewhere are glad to see her in a position where her good judgment is needed.

The opening was a great success, patrons coming here from a long distance to see the prety hats and dresses and many purchases were Hardest Task Yet to Decide Among The Contestants.

Our puzzle in the issue of February 21st, was answered by seventyseven people, not near so many as the week previous, but all had compiled good answers and only a few failing altogether. One young lady from Chapel Hill sent in a good one without giving her age; two were correct but asked that their names be not published, a few neglected to or magazine publications, at from 20 to 40 per cent below the listed price.
Since The Chatham Record began to going into more than twenty-five hundred homes, it gave us privileged to published, a few neglected to state the department of the paper they liked the best. Most everyone of them seemed to like the letters the best, a few liked the editorials best of all, some said they liked Ice Spuday's all, some said they liked Joe Snyder's letters and several said they were very much interested in Phil's letters every week.

Altogether there were about fifty-six who had an absolutely correct answer and Mr. Snyder had to judge on merit alone. He states that he had the worst time in his life in deciding on this proposition and he finally narrowed the contest down to six letters, so we have decided to let it go at that and give each a free sub-scription. Miss Lula Emily Beal, of only for new subscriptions.
Our first list has reached us and we publish them below. If you want any of these listed, select them, and deduct 20 per cent from the regular subscription price and send them to us and we will have them mailed to are giving four months each, in reg-

The foregoing six people will please notify us at once to whom they want the paper sent. If we do not hear from them by Saturday, March 9th, we shall enter the name of the winner as a subscriber.

Among those deserving creditable mention are: Elizabeth Mann, Emma K. Sanders, Ormsby Smith, Royse B. Dickens, Mary Mattie McIver.

Others having the answer correct, so far as the sentence was concerned, were as follows: Mrs. Clyde Bland, Minnie Johnson, John Lester John-son, Mrs. H. W. Mims, Billie Chapin, Elizabeth Hester, Gladys Hough, Effie Phillips, Willie Dismukes, Louise Elizabeth Nash, Emily Ruth Bland, Kiah Henderson, Mrs. Florence Burke, Orlinda Mendenhall, Mrs. Mathus Self, Lucile Teague, Clyde Bryant, Mary L. Poe, Mrs. Mary Bryant, Isaac W. Durham, Jr., Mozelle Elkins, Louise R. Sturdivant, Mary Lee son, Wilma Buchanan Erma Elkins, Mrs. E. B. Beal, Kathryne L. Knight, Mrs. Grady Oldham, Richard Lane, Clara Lee Hammer, Mary P. Horton, Edna Marley, Alice F. Edwards, F. Siler Brady, Mrs. W. C. Pickard, Ramond Phillips, Wm. B. Byram, Lillian Olinger, Ana Gilliland, Joe Morgan, Rosa R. Ihrie. Answers and awards to last week's puzzle will be published in our next paper, March 13th. Also another puzzle will be published.

In the list above are several answers from previous winners and a duct 20 per cent from the regular great many that have answered almost every one that we have had. We admire the determination of the young folks. Don't give up because you missed one or two or several, because sooner or later you will win. It is the boy or girl that sticks to the last that becomes victor in the the final effort, not only with our puzzles, but in every undertaking in life.

In other parts of this paper the answers of the winners are published and we ask you to look them up and read them. It is a source of much pleasure to note that so many of our young friends are becoming inbued with the spirit of "trading with home people." Our advertisers will surely appreciate this determination and they will keep you advised as to what they have at all times.

Several of our friends suggested that the puzzle should have read: "Do all your trading with Record advertisers." This is a good suggestion and one that you will be safe in following, because all our advertisers are reliable folks and will treat you right. NEWS FROM SILER CITY ONE.

PITTSBORO MASONS BANQUET.

Not a Full Attendance But Occasion Was One Long to be Remembered.

Wednesday night of last week the Masonic loage of Pittsboro held their annual banquet at the Hotel Blair. The occasion was attended by forty members of the lodge, there being usually around seventy to be present.

The banquet was engineered by Ernest Williams and Rufus Farrell, the arrangement committee, and they en-listed the services of Frank May, proprietor of the Hotel Blair. Mr. May proved himself an artist at pre-paring a feast for the lodge and it is said by those in attendance that the banquet was one of the best that has ever been held. Messrs Williams and Farrell left nothing undone that would contribute to the entertainment.

Mr. Louis Nooe, was selected as toastmaster, and his witticisms and unique manner prompted approval from every source.

Dr. A. M. Proctor, of Trinity College, Durham, was an honorary guest, and his address to the body of men on the educational advantages and the part that Masonry played in it, was well received and acknowledged to be a gem in every detail. Responding for short addresses, and each acquitting himself admirably, were Messrs W. M. Eubanks, D. L. Bell, Jas. L. Griffin, W. P. Horton, Harry B. Norwood, W. R. Thoppson, J. Dewey Dorsett and Ed. A. Hatch. Columbus Lodge No. 102 is one of the oldest in the state and its annual banquets are looked forward to with great pleasure and is always enjoyed. It goes without saying that Mr. May made an impression on the membership that will be lasting and he will no doubt be enlisted again.

DAILY SERVICE ROUTE ONE

V. Oldham Wrecks Car-Locals and Personals From Goldston.

Goldston, March 3.—Another sign of increasing prosperity in Goldston is two new warehouses being built one by the Lee County Cotton Oil Company and the other by Mr. A. B. Womble.

Beginning April first rural route No. 1 from Goldston will be given daily service. Route No. 2 will remain as a tri-weekly for the present. Heretofore both routes have had service but three times a week. This improvement in the service is largely due to the untiring efforts of the postmistress, Mrs. M. C. Olive, with some assistance from Mr. Colin G. Shaw who enlisted the interest of Senator Simmons, he being interested as a publisher, so that The Chatham Record would receive more prompt delivery to his subscribers. This is a great improvement, not only to the patrons of the route themselves. It gives the public and the patrons daily access to the news and puts them on equal advantage with other communities. Route No. 2 will be advanced as soon as the business of the route demands a change, but at the present there is an insufficient number of pieces of mail handled.

The examination for an eligible list for 'postmaster at Goldston, will be held at Sanford on Saturday, March

LOOK FOR PUZZLE NEXT WEEK

Cannot Offer Contest This Week on Account of Sickness of Snyder.

This week Mr. Joe Snyder is sick in bed and he has declined to get up a puzzle for this paper until next week, therefore we want all our young friends and older ones too, for that matter, to begin to sharpen their wits for next week. The answer to our puzzle in the issue of February 21st, was as follows:

> DO ALL YOUR TRADING WITH HOME PEOPLE

The award to last week's puzzle will be found in another column. We highly appreciate the interest that is being shown in our puzzles and we are proud of our army of young readers. In almost every letter received there was a high compliment to The Chatham Record from old and young. Many of them were personal compliments to the editor and we sincerely hope that these young folks will cortinue to have the same confidence in us as they now have.

The answer to the puzzle in our last paper, February 28th, will be announced next week. Don't forget to watch for the puzzle next week. THE DISTRICT CONFERENCE

To be Held in Fayetteville on Wednesday, March 2th, 1924.

The Fayetteville District Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, will convene in Hay street church, Fayetteville, N. C., on Wednesday morning, March 12th, at ten o'clock and will remain in session for two days. This Conference embraces 105 churches, served by 25 pastors in the following counties: Cumberland, Bladen, Sampson, Harnett, Lee, Moore and Chatham. Each pastoral charge is represented in the District Conference by the pastor, the charge leader, and four delegates elected by the Quarterly Conference. The District lay leader, the district secretary, of the Woman's Missionary Society, and all the preachers residing within the bounds of the District , are also members of the Conference. The total membership is about 150. At each of the last two Conferences held in the District there were present more than one hundred members of the Conference. Fayetteville being centrally located and easy of access, it is thought that even a larger number will answer to the roll call this year. Those who attend will be entertained by the Methodists of ayetteville. Bishop Collins Denny, of Richmond, Va., now in charge of the four annual Conferences in North and South Carolina expects to attend this session of the District Conference and will preside while he is present. This will be the first time in a number of years that one of the Bishops of the church has attended this District Conference, and the coming of Bishop Denny for this session is looked forward to with great interest by those who expect to attend. He presided over the session of the Annual Conference held in Fayeteville some years ago and those who heard his great sermons on that occasion will be glad to hear him again. He will preach on Wednesday night and possibly at other hours.
