NUMBER 5.

CONVENTION HERE SATURDAY. Independent Democrats Will Meet in Courthouse at 12 O'Clock.

In The Chatham Record last week we had an advertisement about a mass meeting called to meet in Pittsboro on next Saturday in the court house at 12 o'clock. The same advertisement is being carried in this paper. We told our readers that as soon as we learned the true nature of the meeting we would publish the facts. While we have not had opportunity to talk to Mr. Utley or Mr. Thomas, we have talked to many other people who appear to be vitally interested and in sympathy with the undertaking and state that they will be here for the Convention. If what they all say can be relied upon, and we believe it can, there will be a tremendous crowd here for the purpose of lending influence to the gathering.

It appears that the prime motive of the Convention or mass meeting is to nominate a full independent ticket to he voted on in the November election. And that it will represent the independent element of citizenship that is not satisfied with the administration of affairs in Chatham county, and want to get new officers, especially for the legislature and county commissioners.

There seems to be a great dissatisfaction as to the manner in which the recent primary election was conducted, and many go so far as to say that improper methods were used by some on the day of voting.

It is generally known in the county that there is a great dissatisfaction, and while a third party or an independent party is not for the best interest of any party, this meeting next Saturday is going to have a great influence on the political situation in Chatham.

The ticket nominated next Saturgardless of party affiliation, will no doubt be elected. It is now up to the leaders and factions of both parties to brush up and put on Sunday clothes if they would command the attention and respect of the average voter in Chatham.
