

THE MOORE SUMMER SCHOOL.

Twenty-Six Teachers Are There From Chatham—Crowded Place.

Miss Clytie Foushee, Record correspondent at Bynum, is attending the teachers summer school in Moore county, near Vass.

In a letter to The Record a few days ago, Miss Foushee has the following to say in regard to the school: "There have been enrolled 98 teachers, and preparations had been made for but 60, so you can imagine the comfort of an overcrowded building during the summer heat."

Chatham should work for a summer school—the location is so much more convenient, near a railway to go in almost any direction and with more comfortable buildings.

The location here is beautiful, but it is six miles from a station, therefore it is very inconvenient to get to and from, as there are no cars for hire nearer than six miles.

There are 26 teachers here from Chatham, with only 5 more than that from Moore. Why couldn't Chatham and Randolph, with one or more counties, combine and have summer school at Bonlee next summer?

I want the people of Chatham to know that we have much more desirable conditions for a summer school than some other counties."

FAMILY REUNION ON FOURTH.

Mills and Upchurch Clans Celebrate at Home of J. B. Mills.

Apex Journal.

The home of J. B. Mills out in the Olive Chapel section, Apex, Rt. 1, was the scene of a sure enough big time on July 4th when two of the largest and best known families in this section came together in a family reunion. All the family connections of J. B. Mills and Mrs. J. B. Mills (nee Miss Cora Upchurch) were present. These good people gathered from Chatham, Wake and Durham counties. J. B. Mills' father, N. M. Mills, has four children, twenty grand children and two great grand children, making a total of twenty-six.

Mrs. J. B. Mills' father, Isham Upchurch, who died a few years ago, had eleven children, ninety-seven grand children, ninety-six great, grand children and six great, great grand children. Making a total of two hundred and twenty-one on the Upchurch side.

The barbecue was prepared by two well known experts, Wilson Womble and Malon Broadwell.

The long table which was set along side a row of large apple trees was loaded with old-fashioned brown barbecue, chicken, cakes and pies. Rev. G. T. Mills, pastor of Green Level Baptist church, returned thanks.

There was plenty for everybody and everyone seemed to enjoy the occasion. An inspiring sight it was to see these children of four generations reunited.

Those present in addition to the families were Rev. and Mrs. G. T. Mills, of Green Level, and Rev. Howard, of Wake Forest, who is supplying at Olive Chapel.

GEORGE O. COLE DEAD.

Durham Morning Herald, July 9th.

George B. Cole, for many years one of Chatham county's most valuable and highly respected citizens died at his home beyond Chapel Hill Tuesday, following an illness of only a few days. The deceased celebrated his 84th birthday less than two months ago, and seemed to be enjoying more than fair health at that time. Interment will be made at the Lystra cemetery on Wednesday. For many years Mr. Cole was a faithful and untiring member of the Lystra Baptist church, and Rev. Hoyt Blackwell, pastor of the church, will officiate at the funeral.

Having spent all of his life in the community near Lystra he was known by almost everyone there. He is survived by a widow, and one son, Fred Cole; two brothers, W. C. Cole, of Orange county, and Thomas Cole, Chatham County, and a large number of cousins and distant relatives in Orange, Durham and Chatham counties.

The deceased was a veteran of the Civil War between the states and was connected with the organization of those veterans who survived the struggle of the early sixties. Very few of the company of valiant fighters remain; their number is decreasing rapidly.

QUERY DEPARTMENT.

Answers by John

What is an optimistic flapper?—Mary, Chapel Hill.

Answer.—An optimistic flapper is a bow legged woman who wears pretty garters.

Does cereals and other things have diseases?—Mollie, Chapel Hill.

Answer.—Certainly, Barley has the smut, corn the dry rot, orchard trees black rot, and some people have been bitten by a political bug.

Should a young lady refuse to have her hair bobbed?—Angelica; Hamlet.

Answer.—Certainly. Don't you know that a hair on the head is worth to in the hair brush.

What is an aroused democracy?—John, Cary.

Answer.—An aroused democracy is 1096 in New York trying to nominate a president.

Don't you think long dresses will still be fashionable?—Marie, Bynum.

Answer.—Yes. Bowlegged women will be happy. And men will be happy because they cannot see the bow legs of women.

What kind of a horse do you think Paul Revere took his midnight ride on?—Bud, Chapel Hill.

Answer.—It might have been a hobby horse, but some people think it was a nightmare.

What talks the most, man or woman?—Archie, Pittsboro.

Answer.—Woman, of course. In one year a man speaks 12,000,000 words, and after wearing out ten adding machines trying to find how many words a woman talked in a year, ten men had to give it up.

BUILDING NEW FAIR GROUND.

Active Work at New Location on the Pittsboro Highway—Well Located.

Siler City, July 12.—Active work has been in progress during this week on the new location of the Chatham County Fair, one mile east of this place on the Pittsboro highway. This property which consists of ten acres is most admirably situated for a fair ground and the stockholders are being congratulated on their choice, the land being practically level and a sufficient number of trees are being left standing to afford not only shade but will present an attractive park like appearance.

The five buildings are being erected on the southern part of the tract, leaving clear the central part of the grounds for the placing of the amusement company, which space will next season be used as a ball ground.

The entire grounds will be equipped with lights and running water and be ready for the opening of the fair which will be held October 7 to 10.

Cold Conquers Plague

Prevalence of plague diminishes in cold weather, probably because the lower temperatures reduce the fleas to such small numbers that they are unable to keep up the transfer of virus. The existence of plague is roughly limited to a zone girdling the globe between the thirty-fifth parallels of north and south latitude. In the last 25 years 99.8 per cent of plague cases have been from areas with mean mid-winter temperatures of 56 degrees F.—Nation's Health Magazine.

ANSWER HER MOTHER'S CALL.

Des Moines, Iowa, July 11.—Mrs. Edith Maloney, telegraph operator here last night as a commercial telegraph wire sounder clicked off repeatedly "D.S." the newspaper office call. The regular operator was not about so Mrs. Maloney answered the call. The message she received was a news story from McGregor, Iowa, saying that her 12 year old son, James Maloney, aged 12, had been drowned in the Mississippi river there. She fainted. Hospital physicians said her condition was serious.

The Car for the Woman on the Farm

The country woman needs her own car.

When the farm has only one car it is usually in use on the business of the farm, just when the wife or daughter needs to go to town or to a meeting or church or to make calls.

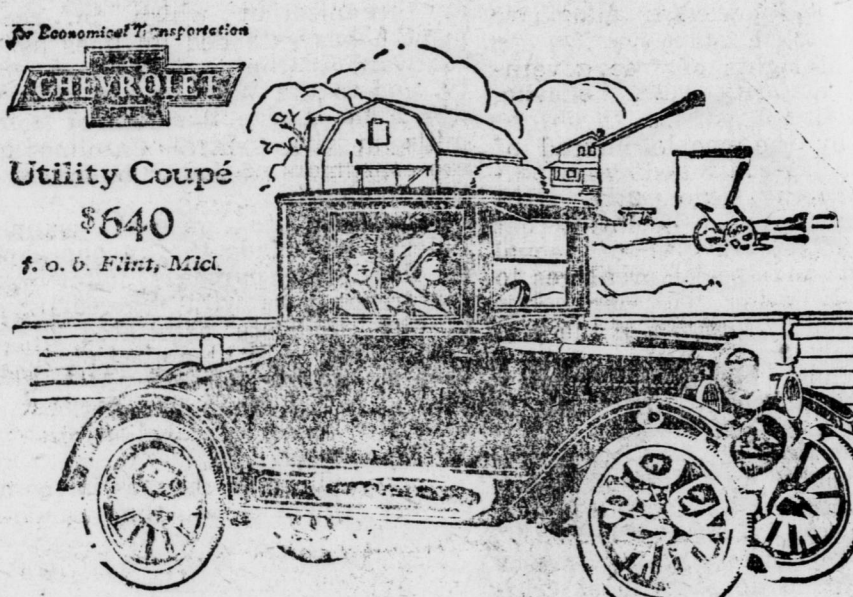

Chevrolet Utility Coupe is an ideal car for the purpose, as it has full weather protection, a high-grade body, comfortably upholstered, plate glass windows, which can be instantly lowered or raised to any desired position, a man-moth rear compartment for luggage, bundles, a jar of butter, a crate of eggs, or even a trunk.

The inside of the car can always be kept clean, because all packages can be carried in this rear compartment.

The Utility Coupe is comfortable, easy to operate, and has ample power to handle bad roads.

"Cut her down lean!"

"NINETY per cent of cars run right along on too fat a mixture," says the Fleet Boss. "Adjust your carburetor to a leaner mixture and you'll get more pick-up and power. You'll get less dilution of crank case oil, less carbon and more mileage. Your motor will stay in better condition. Sure, a rich mixture will start you quicker, but you pay too much all day long for the seconds you save, and your rich mixture leaves a stinking exhaust that makes folks hate to see you coming. Cut her down lean!"

At least ninety per cent of motorists are careless also about buying motor oil by brand. But not experienced fleet superintendents. Most of them pick one brand by practical operating test and stick to it. It may surprise the average motorist to know that the percentage of commercial fleets using "Standard" Polarine exclusively is much higher than that of private cars.
