MR. BRINSON CAMPEN KILLED.

Brother of Mrs. Ernest Farrell Struck by a Log Chain.

Friday morning Mrs. Ernest Farrell received a telegram stating that her brother, Mr. Brinson Campen, of Alliance, Pamlico county, had been seriously hurt in an accident and that he was not expected to live. Mrs. Farrell left immediately to go to his bedside.

Young Campen, who was about 22 years old, was helping haul logs to a saw mill. A log car was loaded and the chain holding them together broke and before he could get out of the way the end of the chain struck him on the head, fracturing his skull and breaking one of his arms. The young man lived about 12 hours after the accident.

Besides leaving a mother and father and several sisters, he leaves a young wife to mourn over his sad ending, he having been married only one month to the day he was hurt.

Mrs. Farrell's friends here sympathize with her in the loss of her brother. It was only a few weeks ago that she was called to the bedside of her father, who was critically ill at the time, but recovered. She returned home Sunday.

One needs some vanity, but he doesn't need to show it.

CLAIRBONE HOLMES DROWNED.

Clairbone Holmes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oren Holmes, of Durham, was drowned in Tar River at Louisburg, Sunday afternoon and was buried Monday in Maplewood cemetery.

Monday's Durham Herald has the following account of the drowning: According to information received here, young Holmes, who was 17 years of age, went in swimming in the river near Louisburg in company with another boy by the name of Williams but whose place of residence is not known and other small boys. While in the water Holmes probably in a spirit of adventure and to deciding to test his ability as a swimmer, concluded to go into deeper water. He swam out into water which is said to be 20 or 25 feet deep where he became frightened. He was not a good swimmer, it was stated, and went under. Young Williams went to his rescue and attempted to save him but in the struggle of the drowning boy for life, Williams found that he would be unable to save him, and seeing that both of them were in danger of drowning the former gave up the attempt in order to save himself, it was stated, Holmes went down the third time while Williams is said to have gone under the water twice in his effort to save the drowned youth.

His many friends will be glad to know that he has improved so much.

THE ADVENTISTS MEETING.

Tented City in Charlotte Composed of Men and Women of Two Carolinas.

The Seventh-Day Adventists are in camp in Charlotte and will continue in annual session until August 31st. The membership, or rather delegates are there from both North and South Carolina. The main tent is pitched on a beautiful hill, surrounded by 84 family tents and tents for the young peoples' meetings, reading tents and a mammoth tent that houses the records of the secretary, having been moved from headquarters for the purpose and convenience of the representatives there.

It was the pleasure of the editor to spend about an hour there on last Sunday in company with Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Pike, who are there from Siler City. To describe the enthusiasm that it gives one to come into contact with these good people is impossible in words. The methodical, reverent manner and attitude that permeates the whole atmosphere; the brotherly love and friendship is wonderful, and on every hand are the strictest evidence that these people love their church and are ardent in their worship.

The camp is laid out with care and the arrangement was perfect even to the smallest detail. Water was piped to the grounds and a reservoir of ice cold water was on hand; the living tents are so arranged that all the comforts of a home can be had, everyone nicely floored and are as correct as a household, many of them being adorned with flowers and the many little pieces of handiwork that beautify and please.

It would entice any church worker to visit these Godly atmosphere and see the true worship that is rendered by the Adventists.

Monday a colored woman by the name of Mamie Williams was up before Squire John R. Blair charged with the theft of a suit of clothes from Claud Tuck, a young white man. Mamie is the cook at Tuck's road camp at Woodard's bridge over Rocky River.

Chief of Police John Burns with one or two other officers went out to the camp to arrest the woman. When found she was in her room in bed with a negro named Henry Williams. Both were brought to town and put under bond. The Williams woman gave a bond of $200 and was released, but Henry, failing to come across, is in jail.

Mamie denied stealing the clothes but when search was made they were found stuck up the chimney wrapped in a newspaper. So ended the first chapter.

TRUCK DERIVED AT FERRY.

News Items of General Interest From Chatham and Community.

Mr. Purvis Gardner, of Coats, who is here conducting a music class at Corinth, was taken suddenly ill at the home of Mr. Reece Cotten with a severe attack of acute indigestion on last Saturday night. His friends were much alarmed for a while for fear he would die before a doctor could be secured, but this morning he is up and out again.

Mr. Ray Cross, of Raleigh, spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Cross.

We had a surprise last Saturday morning down here at Buckhorn, and this morning we are better off by having been relieved of one more "liker factory" and at least one, but likely two of its operators, proprietors and promoters. Deputy Bernard Rosser slipped in all alone from nobody seems to know where, came by the plant, passed on up the road and into the woods and in less than 5 minutes, shooting was heard. Then in 10 minutes more Bernard came marching back down the road in possession of one colored individual, Lester Cofield, from over near Merry Siding. The deputy had made his raid single handed and caught his man with the goods on him. Later in the day Mr. Rosser secured help, came quietly back, cut up the outfit and must have turned out a big batch of beer or liquor, judging only by the high smell of the water that comes down the little branch across the road we have to travel many times a day.

We deplore the uncalled for and uninvited entry of politics into our school problem down here. Let's forget about politics and questionable policies long enough to go to the polls on September 8th and vote for the thing that means the most for the education of our children.

"Let your conscience be your guide."

We witnessed a good, spicy game of baseball at Brickhaven last Saturday between New Elam and the home team, the latter winning by a score of 8 to 5.

The Brickhaven team plays at Gulf next Saturday.

Sunday morning when Lacy Partridge went down to operate the flat at Avents Ferry he found the flat on the Lee county side, tipped up, one end of a truck in it, and the other end of the truck under water. It was learned that about 11 o'clock p. m., Saturday four parties (two men and two women) some of them at least under the influence of liquor, had run their car into the river but in some way got out alive, leaving a partly filled jug of liquor and a letter containing a protested check signed by M. B. McKay drawn on the Page Trust Company, but paid by the Bank of Goldston. The truck was from a piano firm in Goldston and bore license number 90902.

Mr. J. D. Melver and his brother Marvin, went down Sunday morning to investigate the wreck. Two men could be seen from a distance but when Mr. Melver crossed over to the wreck the men disappeared and could not be identified. A wrecking car from Sanford came down to clear up the mess but this did not in any way reveal the identity of the four individuals.

This midnight prowling around by both men and women at and near the ferry is not an uncommon thing by any means. Our good people who live near there and have their homes at this place, and who are trying to rear their families in a decent atmosphere, say they are tired of such rot and will find some way to stop it. In the past anything our people have set about to do they have found some way to gain their end.

The silent man is more to be feared than the garrulous chap.

MOTOR TRIP TO WRIGHTSVILLE.

News Notes of Interest About People You Know Around Brickhaven.

Brickhaven, August 25.—Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Kennedy and Miss Ruth Kennedy will return home tomorrow from a two weeks stay at Washington, Atlantic City, and other northern points.

Mr. W. A. Griffin, accompanied by Mr. S. W. Womble, of Lockville, Mr. Stroud, of Sanford, and several other sportsmen, will go to Columbus county tomorrow for a week of fox hunting. We wish for them a successful, happy time on the chase, even if there is a tinge of envy, mingled with the wish, for what could be more pleasant than being on a chase. Just to think of such takes one back to the memory of the thrilling tales of life in the old south when the colonies were young and fox hunting a chief diversion.

Messrs Grady Truelove, Salter Utley, W. A. Griffin and Miss Annie Utley returned Tuesday from a short motor trip to Wrightsville Beach. They were accompanied on the return trip by Miss Mary Lee Utley, who has been visiting her uncle, Mr. A. H. Marks, of Acme. To one who has never visited that section of the state, we may say that such a trip will be worth while. Perhaps a most surprising thing will be the wide stretches of waste land along the route. Sometimes it would seem we would go miles and miles without seeing a home—just white sand and a few scattering scrubby trees and low undergrowth. It seemed a veritable no man's land—lonely and desolate. As a general thing, too, with the exception of those between Fayetteville and Broadway, the crops were very poor, almost a complete failure, due to the heavy rains. There were acres of both cotton and corn that had no cultivation whatever.

Another thing, too, that strikes one as being quite a handicap to the city of Wilmington is the fact that one has to pay to cross the ferry into the city. There are two up-to-date, comfortable "ferry boats" that render the crossing absolutely safe. The new "Menantic" can accommodate eighteen cars, but it does seem that the county and city could devise a plan by which the toll gate could be abolished. Wilmington is a beautiful city, and is destined to become the largest in the state—an honor it held until a few years ago, when Charlotte with its thousands of boosters, carried off the palm, and which is now held by Winston-Salem. Wilmington is proud of its historical back ground and well it may be, but perhaps its greatest pride is that it was one time the home of Woodrow Wilson—that matchless patriot and friend of humanity.

Mrs. Cora Boovey and daughters, Misses Alice, Helen and Cora, of Charlotte, who have been on a motor trip to Chimney Rock, were the guests here Friday and Saturday of Mrs. Boovey's sister, Mrs. J. H. Overby.

Zeb Harrington, the catcher for the Brickhaven baseball team, has been enjoying a week in company with a professional ball squad, somewhere in South Carolina. Zeb's friends are wishing him a successful try out.

We have another new car in our midst. Mr. C. S. Harrington has purchased a new Ford touring car.

Little Eileen Harrington has returned from an extended visit with her aunt, Mrs. W. B. Greene at Graham.

Miss Hilda Utley is spending a few days this week with Misses Wilma Buchanan and Louise Luther at Bonsal.

Mrs. H. T. Johnson, of Morrisville, is visiting relatives here.

Do not forget the Christian Endeavor meeting at the school every Sunday evening from 7:30 to 8:30. Mrs. T. J. Harrington is the leader for next Sunday—the program the following Sunday will be conducted by Mr. W. J. Hannon, president of the Society.

THE ELECTION CARRIES.

An election was held in Pittsboro Monday to approve of the action of the Town Commissioners in disposing of the electric light system here to the Carolina Power and Light Co. There were 74 voters registered and not a single vote was cast against the proposition.

As soon as the necessary transfer can be made, the Carolina Power & Light Company will connect up with the lines, and our electric troubles will be at an end.

Master Frank Barclay has returned home after a visit at Mebane and Hawfield. The young man made the trip on his bicycle.
