STRANGE AND CURIOUS.

Peculiarities That Will Astonish Almost Anyone.

We publish the following item by request: "A man lost or strayed in Chatham, with auburn hair and grey eyes; has false teeth and half gold crown in upper left; five feet and 3 inches tall; about 33 years of age. Finder rewarded at the junk pile in Burlington, N. C."

J. L. Stahlnecker fainted at the wheel of his auto white driving on a busy street at Pittsburgh. The car ran along the sidewalk but no one was hurt. Traffic was tied up for an hour.

J. Z. Gross, former mayor of Harrisburg, Pa., caught an unusually large fish while angling at North Bay, Ontario, Canada. The excitement was too much. Heart disease caused him to topple from the boat into the water. He was dead when picked up.

The 14-months old daughter of John Nicholson, of Connellsville, Pa., fell off the porch into a 50-pound lard can partly filled with water. She was drowned. The baby had tried to recover a rubber ball found in the water with her.

Lee Beals, of Blaine, Me., was dressing a lamb for the market. He slashed at the animal's tail with such force that the knife kept on going—he was pulling toward himself at the time—and it made a deep cut over his right eye. He may lose the sight of the optic.

George Oakley, of Pasadena, Cal., tried the "human fly" stunt once too often. While climbing the outside of a bank building at Chambersburg, Pa., he fell from a height of four stories to the pavement. He died from his injuries. On the same day H. F. Pigman, "human fly" of Los Angeles, fell from the tower of the courthouse at Albert Lea, Minn. He was seriously injured.

An airplane piloted by Lieut. Jas. Doolittle lost its propeller while flying 12,000 feet above Dayton, Ohio. A section dropped to a sidewalk, narrowly missing a group of children at play. Another piece struck a house. The aviator was able to glide to safety.

Left to his own resources, three-year old John Young of Pottsville, Pa., wandered to the barn in search of entertainment. Under the barn in the flooring he found a new plaything. He crawled to the object and poked it with a stick. The copperhead snake sank its fangs into the child's cheek. Prompt medical attention saved the youngster.

Two persons were killed and six were injured when a bee stung J. Edmund Perry, of Towanda, N. Y., as he was driving an auto near Delevan. He lost control of his machine and it hit another car driven by John Czernewski. Two children in the latter's car were killed. The sting of a bee caused Miss Elizabeth Weidner of Youngstown, Ohio, to lose control of her machine at Whiteland, Pa. It upset and the young lady was painfully hurt. Another bee stung Stephen Poradzinski, an attache of the Polish legation at Washington, and caused his car to crash into a tree, injuring Mrs. Poradzinski.

Chatham Negro Injures Sanford Man.

Louis Medlin, colored, of Brickhaven, seriously injured Mr. Frank Bridges of Sanford ten days ago. Bridges stepped out from behind another car in front of Medlin's car. Medlin sheered the car instantly but hit Bridges. Medlin was put under a $200 bond and the matter was set for investigation Saturday, May 23rd, if Bridges shall be able to be present. Bridges had a leg and three ribs broken, according to the Sanford Express.

ANNUAL MEMORIAL AT THE NEW ELAM CHURCH

Splendid Program and a Large Crowd Present—Local News From Upper Cape Fear.

New Hill, Rt. 2, May 18.—The annual Memorial service was conducted at the New Elam Christian Church Saturday. During the morning service the Sunday school children rendered the program, using recitations and songs. They did exceptionally well for children of their age, and much credit is due the program committee. Miss Dora Holt sang a beautiful solo. Misses Flonnie Saps and Ruth Mann in a graceful manner rendered a duet. Eithleen Carr, member of the primary class at Sunday school, sang a pretty song. Mr. B. A. Mann was master of ceremonies. He also made a snort address, but it was to the point and very much enjoyed. Rev. J. Fuller Johnson, pastor of the church, made an interesting address, which was enjoyed immensely. His subject was "Memorial." He used the subject in a most able manner. Mr. T. B. Beal, of Bear Creek made a good address, using the words, "Early Training."

The talk was very good, indeed. The church choir sang quite a number of selections. The children marched to the cemetery, carrying the flowers which they placed upon the graves. The choir led the procession, singing, "Sweet Bye and Bye," and "We Shall Rise." Misses Janice Carr, Lola Jones, Dora Holt and Blanche Holt read memorials of Hazel Holt, little athen Hearne, Mr. Jake Hudson and an infant of Mr. and Mrs. Georgia Hearne, these being the ones who have been buried at New Elam since our last memorial service. There was plenty of dinner for everyone present, and a large crowd was in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Goodwin and family have an invitation to attend the graduating exercises of eight young ladies who have been in training at Watts hospital, Durham. Among the nurses is Miss Jennie Poole of this route, and a cousin of Mr. Goodwin. The exercises will be held at Duke University. Miss Poole, no doubt, will make a good nurse, and we are proud of her success.

Mr. W. A. Drake and family are recovering from a siege of smallpox. Mr. and Mrs. Drake, Mr. and Mrs. Lacy Trotten, Mrs. P. F. Litten and son, Drake, have all had the smallpox. We are glad to know, however, that they are improving.

There was quite a number of people from this section who attended the annual memorial service at Hanes Chapel Christian church Sunday. Rev. J. F. Johnson is pastor of this church, also. Everyone enjoyed the day very much, especially the singing.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Jones and children spent Sunday with relatives at Jonesboro.

A. M. and Douglass Puryear, of Raleigh, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Puryear.

Auto Plates Ready For Distribution.

New State automobile license plates will be put on sale June 15, the department of revenue has announced. Fifty-four branch offices in most of the principal towns are making ready now for the distribution of around 300,000 tags which the state will exchange for about four million dollars in currency.

The tags for the next fiscal year will have black figures on a yellow background. The department received its supply from the manufacturers some time ago, and allotments are now going out to the branch stations.

Gravity is just one of many odds that good motor oils must face and overcome. They must stick to the smooth walls of a cylinder for hours or days or weeks, ready to lubricate at the first move of the motor. "Standard" Motor Oils laugh at gravity. They cling till the call comes. Hundreds of thousands of motorists have proved this by long years of use.
