School Now Functioning—Miss Rabey Fully Exonerated-Two New

Teachers Siler City, Feb. 17.—Agitated as perhaps never before in their lives were the scores of citizens of Siler City school district No. 1 who gathered about the streets yesterday afternoon to learn the result of the proposed hearing of the testimony for and against Miss Susie L. Rabey, who, February 1, was asked by the school board to resign as English teacher in the high school department. No charges were at that time preferred against her, though her demand that specific charges be filed resulted in he boards furnishing her with the following together with the notification that the board was asking county superintendent W. R. Thompson to Second: Appealing to the emotions of the pupils, causing them to show a spirit of disrespect and disobediance o the principal and other teachers. Third: Instilling in the minds of the pupils that they do not have enough freedom. Fourth: Attitude towards the pupils suspended in presenting them flowers and giving them social entertainment and undue attention. Fifth: Making derogatory re marks about other teachers in the high school faculty.'

Steadfastly denying these charges, Miss Rabey supported almost to a unit by the high school pupils and a large per cent of the patrons requested a hearing which was set by the county superintendent to be held yesterday at 2 o'clock in the Chatham Bank office before him and the local board. In the meantime all the high school department had been closed down for nearly two weeks due to the fact that there had been a wholesale resignation of all members of cess in this contest. the faculty except that of Miss Rabey following the indefinite suspension of five members of the senior and Mrs. Burns.

It was near sundown when a compromise was reached and announcement was made from the front of the local newspaper office, where the crowd was waiting with Miss Rabey in its midst that the board had withdrawn all charges, exonerated her fully and furnished her proper indorsement of her qualifications as a reputable and first class teacher. At the same time Miss Rabey's resignation was tendered the board and after several days visit here with friends she will return to her home at Suffolk.

We learn that the county commissioners have put on a road superinendent for this county, Mr. Don Ward of Bynum. This we think is wise move of the commissioners as the road man in this end of the couny has so much road that he can't half keep the road up, causing the expense to be a great deal higher, as we almost have to build now roads over the ones we already have. We learn that the commissioners and the superintendent have in mind to divide the roads into sections and appoint a man in each section to keep the roads in shape. HOW TO HELP MAINTAIN

THE PROHIBITION LAW Dear Brother Editor:

For some weeks agents of the liquor interests have been canvassing mostly in the cities and towns of this state securing signers to petitions asking for the weakening of our liquor laws and seeking through a "Wine and Beer" amendment to get an entering wedge by which they can bring back the liquor traffic. religious papers, our pastors and our Mr. R. We cannot afford now, to let these paid agents of the brewery interests and the corrupt politicians delude our people into cutting a hole through the prohibition dyke which, by united effort and hard work, we have built around this state and around our nation. I write to urge pastors, temperance leaders and all friends of prohibition in the churches to at once secure the adoption of a resolution by their churches urging our congressmen and senators to stand by the laws which we have enacted, and, in every possible way seek to strengthen these laws and make them more effective. Send the resolutions to me and I will forward them in bundles to your congressmen. I submit below a simple form which may be followed with any changes that may seem proper. I would suggest further that Chambers of Commerce, Women's Clubs, Civic Clubs, Fraternal Orders and other groups might follow out this suggestion. If our people will heed this simple hint we can give to our representatives some much needed cooperation and encouragement. This is which the Lord's people can combat the efforts of the Devil's friends.
