DEATH OF AGED LADY

Mrs. Lois Womble, Aged 93, Passed to Her Reward—Burial at Pleasant Hill

Mrs. Lois Womble, who has been invalid for the past two years, left this world for her home above yesterday afternoon at 2:45 o'clock. She was born Oct. 23, 1833. She was a native Christian and a good woman. She has lived a long and useful life. She was converted when young and was a faithful and consistent member of the Methodist church until her death.

She leaves four children, Mrs. Mary Marringer, and Mr. J. J. Womble of Haywood, N. C., and Mr. C. Womble of Goldston, N. C.; also two step-children, Mr. S. W. Womble and Mrs. J. J. Ratcliffe of Reidsville, N. C. She was married twice, first to Mr. John Womble, who died during the Civil war and then to Mr. William Womble, who died several years ago. After her husband's death, she made her home with her daughter Mrs. Harringer, who kept constant watch over her night and day during her last years. No daughter could have been more faithful and loyal to her dear mother. Mrs. Womble reared a Christian family.

Her body was laid to rest in the cemetery at Pleasant Hill church Tuesday P. M., in the presence of a large crowd of friends and loved ones, for she was well known all over the county, and now sleeps under a mound covered with beautiful floral tributes from friends and relatives.

Rev. C. M. Lance, her pastor, conducted the funeral services.

Our sympathy goes out to the bereaved ones. Mrs. Womble will be missed, but she has done her duty here. She lived her faith in God and died in the Lord. We all bow in humble submission to His will.

The program given at the school auditorium last Friday evening by the orphans from Methodist Orphanage, Raleigh, was excellently rendered and highly enjoyed by the full auditorium of hearers. Mrs. Rives and Miss Lillian Jordan came with the eight children.

Misses Catherine Thomas, Pauline Ray, and Catherine Hackney left Sunday morning, September 19th, for Fredericksburg, Va., where they will enter the Normal College there for the fall term. These girls will be missed in our community.

An Epworth League party was given at Mrs. Deisy Lambeth's last Saturday evening from 7:30 to 10 o'clock in honor of Misses Catherine Thomas and Pauline Ray, who had been officers of the league, since it was organized, only Miss Catherine was away attending school one year. Miss Catherine, pres., and Miss Pauline, secretary, had made good officers and attended very regularly. They will be missed at the league, but hope them a successful year at school.

The party was a success in every way. Each one present seemed to enjoy the social part. Different games were enjoyed.

A delicious salad course was served and then watermelon slicing was enjoyed on the spacious lawn. The watermelons were extra good. It was a beautiful evening and each one went away thinking they had spent a pleasant evening.

The Epworth League meeting last Sunday evening was interesting and enjoyed. The leader was Miss Amy Womble.

Mr. Rob Thomas left this morning to visit relatives at New York City.

Messrs. John Sprover and William Peters of New York City are visiting friends here for a few weeks.

HUNDREDS DEAD, MILLIONS IN PROPERTY DESTROYED

Tropical Storm Devastates Miami, Ft. Lauderdale, Palm Beach, and Other Florida Cities

From the Caribbean Sea Friday night a tropical storm hurled itself upon the southeastern coast of Florida, devastating Miami, Ft. Lauderdale, Hollywood, and other lower Florida cities. Hundreds are known to be dead, while the missing run the number above a thousand. Thousands were injured and tens of thousands left homeless.

Estimates of the damage to property reached as high as two hundred millions, but a more conservative estimate later stated the loss as $50,000,000. The mushroom-city of Hollywood, with its towering hotels and splendid business blocks, is almost a complete wreck. Miami, with its recent great and costly additions, is terribly stricken. Ft. Lauderdale, another rapidly growing boom city, has suffered a woeful setback.

Martial law was declared in the Miami section. For days hunger and suffering prevailed, the section being cut off from outside relief. Hundreds of dead were being searched out and end prepared for identification and burial. Thousands of wounded had to be rescued and cared for. It was not till Sunday afternoon that a complete conception of what had happened in the storm's path reached the outside world.

Aid has been rushed from as remote points as Chicago, special trains carrying physicians and means of relief for the injured and homeless.

The gale attained more than a 100-mile velocity which, reinforced by torrents of rain, and accompanied by a sweep of water from the sea upon the low-lying cities, wrought an unprecedented destruction for a tropical storm.

Two days after the storm in its fury had struck Miami it had crossed Florida in a northwesterly direction, and reached Pensacola, where the gale blew Monday morning at a 100-mile velocity, as it did at Mobile. Fortunately, however, the wind was not from the direction to press into the harbors the waters from the Gulf, and it was only the brunt of wind and rain that the Gulf cities had to undergo.

In addition to the loss of lives and city property, the orange and grape fruit groves have been stripped of their fruit to the extent of 75 per cent, it has been estimated.

This is the second tropical storm to play havoc with the Florida coast cities the past two months, and doubtless the actual effect has been as costly as the actual destruction. Millions from every part of the country have been invested in that section the past two or three years, and the loss falls not altogether upon residents, but upon many a man or woman a thousand miles away. Also, the fact that scarcely a community in the whole country has not a representative in the former boom area of Florida has cast uneasiness for loved ones far and wide. For instance, it was only last week that this paper reported the return of Mr. and Mrs. Belton Griffin to West Palm Beach.

A call for help has gone out to all Red Cross chapters, and Mrs. N. M. Hill of the local chapter announces that she will be glad to receive contributions for the relief of the storm sufferers.

Mr. and Mrs. Allred will reside here where Mr. Allred is connected with Elder Motor company.

Another surprise wedding occurred in Greensboro yesterday when Miss Sadie Dixon, the adopted daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. SETTLE SUIT AGAINST A. AND Y. RECEIVERS

Agree on Payment of $5,500 to Oval Oak Company, of Siler City—Result of Fire

Greensboro News, 21st

Suit of the Oval Oak Manufacturing company against the Atlantic and Yadkin railroad's receiver, A. E. Smith, of Mount Airy, and Capt. J. W. Fry, of this city, is compromised according to the terms of an agreement that was ordered final by Judge S. Yates Webb, of Shelby, of United States court, western North Carolina district, in a document filed yesterday in the office here of the clerk of the court.

According to the terms of the compromise, the railroad company pays $5,500 to the Oval Oak concern, who operated a broom manufacturing plant at Siler City and which was burned. The plaintiff alleged that the fire was the result of sparks from a locomotive of the railroad.

The loss, according to the plaintiff, was $19,193. The company collected for $3,000 insurance and sued the Atlantic and Yadkin receivers for the remainder. A judgment for $6,000 was obtained in the Chatham Superior court and affirmed by the state Supreme court. The receivers recommended that a compromise of $5,500, for which the Oval Oak company had offered to settle, be effected.

The fire occurred on October 8, 1924.

MISS MILDRED JENKINS WEDS

Friends of the bride will read with interest the following excerpts from an interesting account of the marriage of Miss Mildred Jenkins as appearing in one of the Winston papers Saturday.

The East Fourth Street Baptist church was the scene of a beautiful wedding yesterday evening when Miss Mildred Elizabeth Jenkins became the bride of Mr. Percy Blalock, Rev. J. F. Smith, pastor of the church, officiating. The dignity and solemnity of the stately edifice was enhanced by lovely decorations for its first wedding.

The altar, baptistry, and choir loft were banked with ferns, palms and yellow tulle covered baskets filled with golden rod, back of which a trailing vine of Kniwhort ivy was effectively used. A large white arch, twined with ivy, in the center of which hung a huge wedding bell, adorned the front of the altar and tall candelabra, joined together with white satin ribbon and filled with cathedral candles, sloping down the center, added beauty to the scene.

Miss Ruth Jenkins acted as maid-of-honor to her sister. She was lovely in a dress of pink crepe trimmed with hand-made rose buds and carried an arm bouquet of pink roses. The diminutive ring bearer, little Alton Knight, Jr., carried the ring in the heart of a white rose. He wore a white satin suit.

The groom with his best man Dr. John A. Knight, of Atlanta, Ga., entered and took their places at the altar. The bride entered on the arm of her brother-in-law, G. A. Knight who gave her in marriage. She wore an attractive gown of white duchess satin with rhinestone trimmings. Her veil was of richly embroidered tulle, worn sash-shaped and caught at the shoulder with orange blossoms. She carried an arm bouquet of Bridal roses showered with lilies of the valley.

MacDowell's "To a Wild Rose" was softly rendered during the impressive ceremony and the soft glow of the candles shed a golden light over the beautiful scene while the happy couple spoke the sacred vows.

Mrs. Blalock is the accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Jenkins of Goldston. She has made her home in Winston-Salem since she finished her high school education at Goldston. She was a student of Salem College and has been connected with the Hanes Rubber Company for some time. Her charming personality wins friends for her wherever she goes.

Mr. Blalock is the second son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Q. Blalock. He is a native of Winston-Salem, having been connected with the Southern Railway for a number of years. He is a splendid young man who has many friends.

The bride's traveling suit was a lovely Tiffin dress of crepe back satin, with blue
