Hot Weather Dries Out Your Kidneys, Liver and Bowels

Perspiration carries off body moisture and the liver and bowels become dry and constipated. Then—biliousness, headaches, sour stomach; the heat makes you drowsy and lazy, and your skin breaks out with pimples and boils.

Don't take calomel. That's wrong—calomel is mercury—a dangerous drug. It jars the liver and cleans the bowels, that's true. But the damage it does to them, ough! It crashes into your system like a charge of dynamite and makes it numb. It stifles the muscles of the stomach and bowels, takes YOU a day to recuperate and no telling how long for your bowels.

All you need is Dodson's Liver Tone. Take a spoonful at night and you wake up feeling great. It doesn't upset you, but cleans you out good. You don't lose a day from your work and you can eat anything you want.

Get the big bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone from your nearest store. They all have it. Keep it in the house so you will have it handy to take nights before going to bed.

Cooperative Crop Report Given

Raleigh, July 2—It was hoped that the acreage in cotton in North Carolina would be cut heavily this season, but it now seems doubtful that the actual reduction is as heavy as it was at first reported to be.

The stand of cotton is reported as generally good. The seed were slow in sprouting, due to the early drought but this has evidently been advantageous to the crop as the plants are deep rooted, strong and vigorous. Since the rains early in June, crops are growing fine. It has been most too cool during the past two weeks for the best development of cotton, but it is generally recognized that the crop is in better shape and further advanced than last year at this time.

The principal need of the crop just now is a period of hot, dry weather for intensive cultivation, as the rainy spell has left the fields very grassy. Little cultivation has been permitted during the past ten days, especially in the Piedmont counties.

Several farmers state that the cotton crop is the best it has been in the past three years. It has been good boll weevil weather, too. Watch out for these.

While the price of cotton is now better than it was last fall and winter, the large acreage rather shakes the stability of these prices. It need not be forgotten that we are competing with 6 to 9 cents production in Texas and Oklahoma where the crop is handled by tractors. No fertilizers, chopping or hand labor at all is used. The crop is picked by a sled pulling the bolls off. The gins are made to take care of this dirty mixture.

The tobacco outlook during the middle of June promised one of the best production seasons in recent years. The crop was growing nicely, had good color and good cultivation. The rains during the early part of the month have resulted in plenty of young grass which necessitates speedy cultivation. The stands are fairly good, after considerable resetting although unevenness in size has naturally resulted.

The good prices received for the crop last year, together with the poor returns from cotton, resulted in a considerable increase in acreage this year. Where stands were obtained prior to June 1st, the roots went deeply into the soil on account of the dry weather. This insured good plant development which will overcome both dry and wet conditions better than otherwise.

From many sections of the state come reports that the crop is fair to extra good. This is particularly true in the northern piedmont counties. Central Coastal counties also seem to have good prospects. From northern counties there is a slight indication that the cool weather has encouraged the worms.
