About Your Health Things You Should Know

by John Joseph Gaines, M. D

DIABETES

My object in writing this article is to so acquaint my reader with the symptoms of the disease, that he will recognize them, and consult a physician at once; otherwise the diabetes may reach a very difficult stage to handle, without exciting apprehension on the part of the patient.

To begin with, diabetes is not a kidney disease, though its first manifestations appear in that quarter. The patient notices at first very great over-action of the kidneys, with output as clear as water in the majority of cases; it may reach one, two or three gallons in quantity per day. An inordinate craving for sweets may be noticed; severe constipation is the rule; though not constant—many people are constipated without having diabetes. Then, there is a "progressive feebleness"—the growing weaker and weaker, without apparent cause. I once saw a strong man begin to grow weak—"fire" all the time with no exertion to cause it; his limbs ached so much that he fancied he had rheumatism. Asked about his kidneys, he asserted that "they had never in life acted so well, two gallons or more a day!" This man died within three months—of diabetes, the disease having advanced too far to be remediable by any means known at that time, about twenty years ago.

Whenever this feebleness sets in and the patient's muscles begin to grow flabby with loss of flesh, and the kidney discharge is increasing rapidly, with constipation and craving for sweets, and for more and more water than is natural—required, it is best to have the physician make an analysis of the renal evacuation, which in health amounts to about fifty ounces a day in the adult. No delay should be countenanced or indulged. The physician of today knows how to handle diabetes, the treatment of which would be out of place here.

Keep Stomach Young!

Eat What You Want

When the food you eat goes into your acid-soaked stomach, it sours and can't digest, makes foul gas and sour bile. The blood takes poisonous acids and carries them through the body. Naturally it makes you miserable and despondent, because your system is true not nourished—you lose weight. Pape's Diapepsin dissolves the acids and sweetens the stomach. It digests the food; no more sour bile is taken up by the blood. Your appetite is like a youngster's again, and gradually you get back your health, flesh and energy.

Chew a tablet or two of Pape's Diapepsin after meals. It tastes good, and relieves the misery of indigestion in five minutes. It will keep your stomach young and vigorous so you can eat anything you want without being afraid of the consequences.

May Rule Filipinos. Is Popular With all Factions.

Written Specially for the Record By Robert Fuller Through Autocaster Service

Washington, Oct. 27.—There is a birthday gift awaiting Brig-Gen., Frank Ross McCoy, U. S. Army, here if he chooses to accept it. The gift from the hands of no less than President Coolidge, it is reported on good authority, the appointment as Governor-General of the Philippines, to the post vacated through the death of Gen. Leonard Wood.

For 25 years, Frank Ross McCoy has been an understudy to Leonard Wood in the role of guide, philosopher and friend of dependent people under the flag. Now, as his 53rd birthday approaches, Saturday, October 29th, he has the option of accepting or rejecting from the President of an appointment which will be endorsed by all factions—as the man best fitted to handle the delicate task of governing the Philippines.

General McCoy has served three Presidents, with distinct credit to himself—Roosevelt, Taft and Coolidge. As a young cavalry officer he distinguished himself in the Santiago campaign in Cuba and also in the Philippines. He was aide to Gov-Gen. Wood in Cuba; also in the Philippines. In the World War he commanded the 165th Regiment and later the 63rd Infantry Brigade in the Rainbow Division.

Every since the death of Gen. Leonard Wood last August, letters have been pouring into Washington from all parts of the U. S. pressing the hope that McCoy would be drafted to rule over the island possessions.

Brig-Gen. Frank Ross McCoy of Pennsylvania, is the unanimous choice of all factions and can have, if he chooses, the post as Governor-General of the Philippines, held until recently by the late General Leonard Wood.

Philippines—leading Philippines and leading Moros—have been unconditional in recommending that Gen. McCoy succeed his chief. Among these is General Aguinaldo, who holds Gen. McCoy in highest regard.

When the Nicaraguan Government requested President Coolidge to select a personal representative to supervise the next election in that country he chose Gen. McCoy for the delicate task.

General McCoy is scheduled to arrive in Washington this week to consult with the State Department—and report has it that the Governor-Generalship will be offered to him at that time.

Frank Ross McCoy was born at Lewiston, Pa., October 29, 1874.

gins to bore me. I dont know whether it is my fault or his, but the fact remains that there are times when I am frightened to death when I think of marrying him and spending the rest of my life with him. Then if he is away from me any length of time I get so lonely for him I can't wait until he returns. Do you think I love him? Can you tell me of some method by which I might determine my real sentiments for him? I don't know whether to give him up or not. What do you think?

ISABEL

I doubt very much that you love the man—although the statement that he possesses all fine qualities would lead me to think that you do. Only people in love believe that of their chosen mate. I can't see how you can love a man who bores you. Possibly you admire all the splendid qualities he possesses, but there is a world of difference between love and admiration—although admiration and liking are fine substitutes for love.

If he bores you my advice to you is not to marry him, regardless of his fine qualities. Boredom is the curse of matrimony. It is why husbands and wives stray from their fireside—to somebody else's. It's impossible to picture a happy fireside with a man and woman who are so tired of each other that they yawn in each other's faces.

The ideal home is the one in which a husband and wife never talk out—or if they do, they find a congeniality of spirit which enables them to sit quietly without saying a word—content to be in each other's company.

The first thing a girl should ascertain about a prospective husband is just how she reacts to an unlimited amount of his society, and just what sort of a line of conversation THEY are able to carry. He may be able to hold a wonderful line of conversation—with somebody else—and so might she, but if they have nothing of to say to each other, the natural outcome is boredom. If you find yourself bored with his company before marriage, you should be warned in time.

There are many tests you might apply to ascertain whether or not you really love him. To begin with, if you think more tenderly of him when he is away than you do when he is with you, you do not find him really sympathetic and congenial when he is with you.

If, on the other hand, you believe yourself in love with him when he is with you, and doubt your love when you are away from him he has a physical fascination only. You do not love him with a love that will last.

What are your reactions to his conversations? Can you listen forever while he tells you how much he loves you, and how wonderful you are? You aren't bored then,

MOTHER!

Look at Child's Tongue if Sick, Cross, Feverish

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated one's stomach, liver and bowels little one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once. When peevish, cross, listless, pale doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, throat, diarrhea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of the little bowels without griping, and you have a well playful child again.

You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless, "fruity laxative;" they love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid.

Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Fig Syrup," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on
