Given Clean Bill; Hotel Burned; Other Items

The state supreme court last week the case against Dr. Albert Anderson, head of the state hospital at Raleigh, and the doctor is given a clean bill of health. He had been convicted on two counts of using patients to work on his private property. The work was beneficial to them and he did not profit at expense of the state, according to court findings, so he stands acquitted on all charges.

Myron T. Herrick, ambassador to France, died Sunday at Paris. Mr. Herrick was greatly beloved by the French people because of the manner in which he "stood by" in 1914 when other embassies were closed in fear of the German invasion. He was named as ambassador by President Taft in 1912 and served for four years. Again in 1921 President Harding asked him to go back to Paris and he accepted.

One hundred and twenty-two new prisoners at the state penitentiary in March brought the total number of inmates up to 2100, a record for all time. A majority of the new inmates are young white men and most of them are there for larceny. Addition to the Silk Factory

Work upon a considerable addition to the silk mill at Pittsboro is beginning. This little factory is apparently very successful. It pays a high wage, as factory wages go, and the addition will be of considerable advantage to Pittsboro, as well as profitable, it is hoped, to the progressive management.

Also a residence is being built on the Lanius hill for Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wirtz. The work upon the remodeling of the Denson old place for Mr. Ferebee is about complete.
