

Miss Harmon Dean Millsaps

Chatham Lady Now Off For An Aenean Tour Chosen Dean of Women and Teacher of English in Strong Mississippi College.

Her friends are gratified at the recognition of the scholarship of Miss Olivia Harmon accorded by her election as dean of women and professor of English at Millsaps College, Mississippi. Miss Harmon has been indefatigable in her pursuit of knowledge. She first took the A. B. degree from Meridian College, Miss., and her A. M. from the University of North Carolina. She then studied at Radcliffe, the woman's college associated with Harvard University. She has also a diploma in voice and junior certificates in piano and expression. Last session she was assistant social director of women at the University of North Carolina and still pursued her studies toward the Ph. D. degree in English. Miss Harmon sailed July 24th for Europe, where she will join one of the parties taking the Aenean tour in this year, in which the 2000th anniversary of the birth of Virgil, the great Latin poet, is being celebrated. The ship upon which she will sail will follow the meanderings of Aeneas, as pictured by Virgil in his immortal Aeneid, from Troy to Rome. Some of America's greatest scholars and leaders in the arts and business will be companions of Miss Harmon on this notable tour. Lorado Taft, the eminent sculptor of Chicago, will be one of the lecturers on the City of Paris, the ship upon which Miss Harmon will voyage over the fictive route of Aeneas' seven ships.

Duke Orders Siler City Chairs

Bending and Chair Company Of Chatham Town Supplies Duke With 3,800 Chairs; Has Government Order Also.

The output of the High Point Bending and Chair company at Siler City exceeds the conception of many right here in Chatham county. We were congratulating Mr. C. B. Thomas, manager, on securing an order for $20,000 worth of chairs from Duke University, and thinking that meant employment for the factory for a considerable period. But he informed us that the making of 3,800 chairs of the kind was a matter of only a few days. The chair ordered is the strong round-back chair seen in many offices.

The U. S. government has also begun to give orders for this chair, and $2,000 worth of business is coming from that source already. In addition, various office chairs are becoming popular even as far as the Pacific. Mr. Thomas states that the home furnishing part of the chair business is practically dead.

Final Warning On Boll Weevil

Heavy Boll Infestation Found In Cotton In This County That Has Not Been Dusted.

Expressing himself as being greatly surprised at the large boll weevil infestation found in Chatham county on a visit to this county last Friday, Mr. C. H. Brannon, extension entomologist of State College, declared, however, that those farmers who really desire to save their cotton crop can start applying poison now and expect to get good results. He also warned farmers who have been poisoning not to relent in their fight on the boll weevil. Migration time will soon be here, and at this time, Mr. Brannon stated that we may expect to find a heavier infestation than ever. For the man who has dusted, Mr. Brannon recommended two to three more applications, and for the man who has not dusted, Mr. Brannon recommends four applications made within the next thirty days.

IN MEMORIUM

No lovelier spirit ever enriched the life of Pittsboro than Mrs. Henry Armand London, who passed to her reward on July 2nd, at her home here.

Having been reared in an atmosphere of refinement and culture, she was fully equipped with every endowment to fill the many places of honor given her in her church and in the state. Her keen perception, coupled with loving sympathy, made her equal to all occasions.

The members of the Woman's Auxiliary of St. Bartholomew's Episcopal Church will miss her. She was a loyal and active member of this organization and was Social Service Secretary at the time of her death.

Those of us who knew her best will miss her most, and realize that the community is poorer for her passing.

The winter's frost was on thy brow, But ne'er thy heart had chilled, Eternal spring abiding there Perpetual charms distilled.

So far above the most and fog Thy shining pathway lay, The fading twilight unperceived Merged to eternal day.

Mrs. N. M. Hill, Mrs. Laura Morgan, Mrs. Victor R. Johnson, Committee, St. Bartholomew's Auxiliary.

Brown's Chapel News

The writer challenges anybody to bring a person of any color to his face who will say that he has wrongfully had anything to say about any one, but he is bold enough to stand up for God and right and to hold back anything because it is wrong is not his policy. But he never carries ill feelings toward any one, though he does get his feelings hurt sometimes. However, he forgets it and cares little what one thinks or says of him.

Miss Catherine Durham is spending some time with her grandparents and other relatives in Carrboro.

Our Sunday school opened Sunday with the regular fourth Sunday missionary program, led by Miss Pearl Dark, followed by a good talk by Junius Durham. Following Sunday school, a short session of the League was held, with Miss Allene Dark as leader.

It is said that two young men from another community, a few weeks ago, drove through this community one Sunday night with yelling voices, displaying their personal liberty and were threatened a few days later by one who thought that this matter of liberty is double-barreled—that the people of a community have rights as well as the young bloods who go in what they suppose their.

Thought this letter wishes to carry only the news and the facts that stare us in the face, with the hope of helping some one morally and spiritually, and we have the friendly assurance of older people that nothing out of the way has yet been said, none of us can be too temperate along the line of freedom and liberty.

A number of our people heard Rev. B. L. Gupton in his sermon at the beginning of the revival meeting at Mt. Olive Baptist church.

Walter Henderson, Jr., missed entertaining his little cousin, Frank Reid Henderson, by himself being on a visit to his cousin, Harris Clegg, below Pittsboro.

Little Miss Marie Perry was taken seriously ill with diphtheria and was rushed to the McPherson hospital, where a tube had to be inserted to enable her to breathe. She is home now, but not yet out of danger.

Miss Elizabeth Lutterloh has been spending some days with her aunt, Mrs. J. F. Smith, in Raleigh.

Mr. W. C. Henderson is now building dairy equipment with a view to joining the milk-sellers in the fall. Mrs. Henderson has been with Mrs. Eugene Johnson a few days.

Mr. Wilber Perry of Durham is home with his parents for a few days and is helping wait on his little sister, Marie, who is sick.

Some of our people attended the funeral of Miss Dora Daffron and more would have gone if her death had been more generally known. We have known her and her family for almost a life-time and very deeply sympathize with her devoted brother and one sister, Mrs. M. H. Woody.

We have missed Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Dark from church services because of ill health, but we hope they will soon be O.K.

It was gratifying to see Z. L. Dark admitted to church membership, but we need not have been surprised, as Mrs. Dark has been closely associated with the church for several years as pianist and in the Sunday school also. We congratulate her upon the new stand she has taken and the church upon receiving such a member.

Miss Estelle Dark recently entertained the Busy Bee class of boys and girls, serving cake, ice cream and mints. A jolly, good time was reported.

ANOTHER MINER LOSES LIFE AT COAL GLEN

Another miner has lost his life at the Coal Glen mine. Says a dispatch from Sanford, dated July 27: The remains of Palmer Smith, who died at the Central Carolina hospital Thursday night, were sent yesterday to his home near Corinth church, in Catawba county, where funeral services were to be held Sunday. Mr. Smith was fatally injured Wednesday night while working in the Carolina coal mine at Coal Glen, when he was struck by a large boulder.

He was 34 years of age and is survived by his wife, four children, and his parents.

Miss Johnson Honored Sat.

Missionary to China Welcomed Home by Several Score Ladies at Reception Given in Her Honor.

More than fifty ladies of Pittsboro assembled at the home of Mrs. O. J. Peterson Saturday afternoon at a reception given under the auspices of the Ladies' Missionary Society of the Baptist church in honor of Miss Pearl Johnson, for fifteen years a missionary to the Chinese. It had been seven years since her last visit to her native land.

Mrs. Annie Chapin was in charge of the ceremonies of the occasion. First, Mrs. Chapin called upon Mrs. Fred Dooe to make an address of welcome in the name of the missionary society of the Baptist church, which she gracefully did. Following Mr. Moore, Mrs. Jonas Barclay beautifully welcomed the home-comer in the name of the societies of the other churches of the town. Pastor Caudill of the Baptist church also spoke words of welcome and appreciation. These talks were followed by an appropriate response by Miss Johnson. A prayer was offered by Pastor Caudill.

Social intercourse and the serving of cake and ice cream completed a pleasant hour or two.

Miss Johnson spoke briefly at the Baptist Sunday school Sunday morning and was scheduled to speak before other organizations of the town churches the first part of the week.

Miss Johnson is a daughter of the late Prof. R. P. Johnson and a sister of Mr. V. R. Johnson. Her sisters, Mrs. Benton and Miss Ethel Johnson of Apex were over for the reception.

MR. AND MRS. WOLF TO GO BACK TO VIRGINIA

It is with regret that the Record learns that Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Wolf are returning to Virginia the first of August. Mr. and Mrs. Wolf are teachers, and before buying their farm in Chatham Mr. Wolf was teacher of agriculture in a Virginia school and Mrs. Wolf a teacher of Latin.

They bought one of the Clegg places a few miles below Pittsboro two or three years ago and moved down after the close of school in 1929. The wet season last year caused a crop failure. He has a good crop this year, but the call of the school room and regular salaries have drawn them back. He will be principal of a school in Norton, Va., near the Kentucky line, while Mrs. Wolf will teach in a near-by town. Mr. Henry Clegg will supervise the gathering of the crop, as Mr. Wolf leaves early in August to take up his work.

EPISCOPAL ACTIVITIES

Last Saturday the congregation of St. Bartholomew's church met on the rectory lawn about sun-down for their annual picnic supper. Under the spreading oaks the table was spread, from baskets filled and running over. Many were missed of the older members, but of youth and children the number was larger than usual. Also there were home-comers and visitors; among them the three grown-up sons and daughter of the rector and his wife, and their daughter-in-law Mary Sue, and her precious baby son, Royal, Jr., and Mr. Isaac London, with two children, from Rockingham, and Mrs. Fred Jerome's three children from Shreveport, La. Mr. Andrew Douglas from the University, and all the choir members also were invited and added to the pleasure of the occasion.

Next Sunday, August 3d, the usual service may be expected. Hot weather is the time to ride; and also the time to rest, and observe the Sabbath day to keep it holy. The public always invited to attend church at St. Bartholomew's.
