WESTON R. GALES,

EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

We are sorry to inform our readers, that in consequence of Mr. CLAY's indisposition at Columbia, he was unable to reach Charleston as early by one day as was expected. This will prevent his reaching Wilmington until Wednesday morning, where he will spend that day, and consequently cannot arrive at Raleigh until Friday the 12th. Saturday, therefore, will be the great day for the people, instead of Friday, as was announced in our last.

CLAY BANNER.

The Ladies of Raleigh, with that patriotic ardour which has ever distinguished them, have had prepared a splendid Bunner for the occasion of Mr. Ciay's contemplated visit to this City. It was executed by that beautiful and tasteful artist. Mr. Charles Doratt, and the design is as follows : On the right of the Picture, a female figure, robed in the National Flag, is endeavoring, altho' weak and exhausted, to raise herself from the ground ; she is surrounded by heavy dark clouds, and near her, in the back ground are representations of Discord, Envy, etc. In the centre of the Picture, a full length figure of Henry Clay, with his left hand assisting the female to rise, and with his right pointing to the right of the Picture, which represents a clear, beautiful sky ; a view of the ocean, crowded with vessels, ships and boats discharging their cargoes on a beach covered with merchandise. In the foreground, a rural scene, with cattle, implements of husbandry, and people dancing, and reposing after the labors of the day. The Landscape represents a sunny day in spring. The motto at the bottom " Le bon lemps reriendra." (The good old times will return.) The picture is in a golden Frame, supported by two large golden Figures, representing on one side Peace and Plenty, on the other Justice-with

DOMESTIC INDUSTRY. We were shown yesterday, some beautiful Silk Pocket Handkerchiefs, manufactured by Mrs. MA-RY H. COLBURN, of this City, a lady who has disdistinguished herself by her ingenious " handywork" in this line. The Handkerchiefs are heavy, and must prove durable. They look, as if they would outlast two or three of the ordinary Bandanna. Of course, Mrs. C. raised the worms, racled the silk, and wove the material, all within

VISIT OF COL. JOHNSON. We learn from an extract of a letter from Gol. R. M. JOHNSON, that he intends visiting our Carolina in person to beg their votes !" If he he will undoubtedly be, will the Standard beg in the address :

the Whigs who belong to our volunteer Companies to stay away, and not stand up there "in uniform," before the Hero of the Great Crossings, "the teaching brought home to us that station, nor to be abused and tongue-lashed by the great talent, nor dignity can shield from him who rideth electioneerer !" We trow not-but an appeal and traupling down all ranks and grades in the to our magnanimity will be made, begging us to dust ! In such instances as this which we now lay aside, at least for a season, all sordid, acrimonious party feeling, that we may ALL unite, as realize his power more, and feel that he is verily bonor to the scarred old veteran warrior and Patriot-received on the blood-stained battle-field ! And but one mourner stands by him. dropping This is all well enough-it is but just and right hot, fast tears, and takes the hand she has long -and we hope such will be the case. But is this the way they act towards Mr. CLAY ! He ing to her heart of hearts, that death is cutting comes to our State at the earnest solicitation of asunder the dearest tie that binds her to earth -a respectable number of North Carolina's most time from their hard toil, will follow him to his favorite sons, and to the gratification of a large last resting place. Only in her withered heart majority of her entire population-and yet these fastidious, self-styled " Democrats" talk of his polluting the soil of our revered old State; calling him a "publico-private visiter"-a "political pedlar"-an "electioneering speech-maker' ! and denominating his thousands of admirets as man-worshippers"- "looking up to him as a God." Out upon such base prostitution of every holy and ennobling quality of the human heart, to the morbid appetite of party malice. So help us Heaven, were we a member of the "Democratic" party, we would refuse to keep our place in its ranks, to be chained, fettered, bound down and dictated to by malicious, implacable, party hatred

THE CATASTROPHE OF THE PRINCETON .-- Our whilom friend and neighbor, Rev'd E. H. Chapin, now of Charlestown, Massachusetts, pseached a State during the next month, in compliance with most eloquent and appropriate discourse on this the invitation of his friends. We wonder if the calamity, the Sunday after its occurrence. We Locofocos will call this an electioneering tour, have received a handsomely printed copy of it in and tell the people that he is coming to "North phamphlet form. The subject is the "Sudderness of Death." We select the following passage should be received with military honors, which rather for its completeness than for being the best

"But, my friends, in contemplating this event, we must not forget its practical lessons. And, first, how impressively by the fact-last alluded to, is on the pale horse, shooting his arrows among men, fellow-countrymen and citizen-soldiers, to do in our midst. In yonder lowly house there lieth one at the last gasp-his dim eyes straining for the light, and his breath struggling to be free .clung to for weal or wo, and feels it cold and re laxed in her own-realizes the awful truth, pierc will his memory be cherished. The world beeds not death as it is seen in this instance. And vonder lies an infant, like a white bud in June, withered with the first breath of earthly air : and the multitude cares not and knows not about that. And as we ride along by mgh?, up in chamber windows we see dim lights, that flicker out upon the lonely streets, and tell us that within there death is doing his work. And by day, in the noise and movement of the city, curtains are drawn, and muffled feet go about in the darkened rooms, and sols burst from breaking hearts, but the world does not hear nor see these things. These are the common works of death, going on every moment, but they are felt only by a few hearts, and they hardly read us a lesson. But when men who stand out in the broad glare of the world, whose activity has stirred the central soul of a nation, who have climbed up to lustrous honors and laid their hands on the very keys of famewhen these, in their tall stature, are stricken down before us into the dus, then, then we realize that death is mighty; death is busy; death has all seasons for its own ; and that we can weave no charm of circumstance, we can depend upon no peculiarity of position, that shall shut him out. He will knock at the door of our fancied security, and we must let him enter. Nay, he will no stop to knock, but, as now, will sweep, unwarned, upon us with a thunderbolt and a whirlwind, and where are we !"

POST OFFICE BILL.

Mr. Hannegan rose, and opposed the bill in a set speech. He traced the operation of the change adopted in the English system, and inferred from the result there that the calculations upon an increased amount of revenue here from a reduction of postage would equally fail. He endeavored to show that this hill would cause a deficit of at least 100 per cent. in the revenues of the Department.

GALLATIN, Teon. Feb 27th, 1844. Meaning A. B. & D

Gov. MOREHEAD has appointed FREDERICK C. HILL, of Wilmington, one of his Aide, with the rank of Colonel.

BT Dr. FITZGIBBON, of the Norfolk Lyceum, has commenced a short course of Lectures in the Court House, on Electro-Magnetism and Chemistry. The Apparatus made by Mr. S. N. Borsrond, of which we have spoken before, will be introduced there. Dr. F. stands high as a Lecturer in Virginia, and we hope the citizens will avail themselves of this, and perhaps the only opportunity, of witnessing those beautiful experiments.

RIGHT. We are glad to see the Whigs of Congress endeavoring to secure an early adjournment of that body. They find that it is utterly impossible to do any thing of advantage to the Country with the present Loco Fuco majority, and are unwilling that the Country shall be saddled with the expenses of a brawling Congress.

CLEAR THE TRACK !

The Whig ball is gathering velocity. The Whigs are roused, and the Locos must clear the

THAT ROAST BEEF.

The "Standard" is eternally harping about the "two dollars and roast beef" promised by the Whigs, as he says, in 1840. Loco Focoism never pramised even that. Their motto was "Eight cents a day and bean soup"-" Hard money, the Sub Treasury, and low wages." We give a few gems from the Loco Foco Orators:

" I desire that this country may attain the same happy condition of the Island of Cuba, by means of a purely metalic currency."-Senator Walker of Miss.

"Reduce our nominal to the real standard of prices throughout the world, and you cover the country with blessings and benefits."-Buchan an's Speech on the Sub-Treasury.

"Although under a protective Tariff the mechanic may receive higher wages, he will neither be happier, nor richer, as he would only drink the more and work the less."-Senator Woodbury.

Exquisite .- The following, which we cut from the Boston " Bee," is decidedly the very best joke of the seasion :--

A lady entered a dry goods storn in Chapel-street the other Jay, after inquiring for a varie y of articles, she requested the clerk to show her some cambric of "a hay color !" He inquired with some surprise what she meant by that color "Why," said she, " cambric the color of your drawers !" "You are mistaken madam, I don't wear any.". And it was some time before she could make him understand that she alluded to some store fixtures.

The contest in Connecticut on Monday last was conducted with great spirit, and drew out an unsually large vote. The election was for State officers and members of the Legislature, and the choice of the latter is regarded as highly important, there being two United States Senators to be chosen at the next session ; and most gallantly have the glorious Whigs of Connecticut redeemed their pledge of the 22d February last, in sweeping away, " like chaff before the wind," every vestige of Locofocoism. Honor to the Whigs of Connecticut !

Seven counties (being all but one) have been heard from, and Baldwin's majority over Cleveheard from ; but it cannot give Cleveland more than 100. It is probable, therefore, that BALD-WIN, THE WHIG CANDIDATE, is chosen Governor BY THE PEOPLE ! At any rate, he cannot have less than 1.000 over Cleaveland, and will certainly be chosen by the Legislature, if not by the people. In the seven counties heard from, his majority over both Locoloco and Abolition candidates is 431 ! So far as heard from. the Senate stands THIRTEEN Whigs to five Locos ; and the House EIGHTY-NINE Whice to 67 Locos. Windham, the county to be heard from, will not materially change this result. This is glory enough for one day ! Notwithstanding the INTRIGUES and FALSEHOODS of the Locofocos, that ball still rolls on,

" To clear the way for Henry Clay."

STEAMBOAT VOTING .--- In the lower trade (says the St. Louis Era,) the captains of steamboats have found it necessary to prohibit votes being taken on the Presidential question among the passengers, by dividing the votes on the two sides of the boat, because the voters on the Clay side of the bost so far outnumber and outweight those on the Van Buren side as to endanger the boat by upsetting.

The Pennsylvania Keystone, in abusing Mr. Clay's personal appearance, says that he has a "large and ugly mouth." This is a feature of Mr. Clay's face, which needs no defence. It speaks for itself.-Low. Journal.

be the credentials of our Seamen. " No portion of your population is more loyal o the Union, than the hardy freemen of the West ; they cling to it as their best, their greateat, their last support." " The glorious Banner of our Country, with its unstained stars and stripes, still proudly floats at its most head-with stout hearts and strong arms, we can surmount all our difficulties. Let us raily around that Banner, and firmly resolve to perpetuate our liberties." " I have no fears for the safety of the Union wh lst our liberties are preserved, it is a tough and strong cord, as all will find, who shall pre sumptuously attempt to break it."

The Whig Prize Banner in Baltimore, is row completed, and is really a magnificent affair -The following description of it is given :

" The principal painting, constituting the front of the banner, exhibits in the centre an excellent portrait of Henry Clay, of the size of hie, supported on the right by a female figure, representing Commerce, seated on a bale of merchandise. with an offing in the rear and two ships, one coming up in full sail, the other more remote, departng : the left is supported by a female figure, representing Agriculture seated upon a sheaf of grain, and in the rear a spinning wheel, and more remote a factory in operation, and a locoundive. with its train of cars ; the picture is sustained in its breadth beneath by two cornucopia, opening outwards, and presenting an abundance of cultivated produce, each various specimen of the fruit being exquisitely painted. The circle embracing the portrait is surmounted by an eagle, in hostile land is 1.676 ! Windham county had not been attitude, forming in itself a feature which, apart from its connection with the whole, bears the stamp of the artist's excellence. Under the picture, appears the following motto, in gold letters. _" In all assaults our surest signal." The reverse side consists of a large circle, formed of a chain of the States, each link of which encircles a painting of the arms of one of the States. New York occupying the base and Pennsylvania the uppermost position, as the key stone of the arch The space in the centre of the circle is filled with the following words, in gold letters-"The Union our strong detence ; impregnable to foes, priceless to friends." The banner, which is about six feet equare, is of the most superb satin, will be bordered with heavy, rich bullion tringe, and ornamented with crimson drapery; the trimming. we believe, by Mr. John Gade. It will be nuepended from an elaborately carved gilt scrolt, and supported from the beak of an eagle at each extremity. The pole will be surmounted with the Roman faces and battle axe, heavily plated with silver-the whole constituting one of the most beautiful and unique specimeus of the art that has ever been exhibited in our City, or perhaps in the United States.

From the Hartford Journal. "YOU CAN'T COMEIT."

Gentlemen-I have just received a letter from my

f ther in Russellville, Ky , who winter to purchase some of your Samanaulla. I have no doubt he can be the means of selling a great deal, as it in- pe formed - wonderful cure in his family. Last December I was sent for to see my noter before the died, the having been in poor health for some two or three years, and at the time I went over to see her she was at the point of death with the scarlet fever and a caucirous affection of the bowels, from which her physician thought she could not possibly recover 1 carried over with mean bottle of your sursapilia and with the con-sent of her physician she commenced taking it that sight I remained with her three days, and left her radally improving. Her heshand sent a boy home with me for more of the Earsanarilla. I sent one dozen bottles which I believe will effect an entire rure. My father writes me to that effect, and wishes through me to procure an agency for selling your valuable medicine in that neighborhood.

L M OWENS. Re-pectfully.

NEW, LONDON, Feb. 13th, 1844. Mesore. Saxus-It is with heartfell gratitude to Gad, and many thanks to you for your valuable Media cine, which has been the means of restoring me to health, and enables me to give you an account of my sickness from my own hands My disense at first seemed light, and I did not think it necessary to call a physician, but it soon grew worse and a physician was called who attended me five months for the loor omplaint. Two large bonebes then made their appearance on b th sides of my neck. The Dector sam had the Scr-fuls and Consumption, and he could italisam of Liverwort, which helped my cough at first, any other place Gold and Silver Pencils, Gold but this failed and I grew worse. Last summer I Chains, Keys, and stering Silver Spoons, for eals was so werk, and the poin in my side so grew that e thought of moving a chair was a builden to me. In this condition, given up by my friends, and looking for relief mysell, only in death I heard of your batsaparilla and the wonderful cures it had performed, and resolved at once to make a trial of its virtues .--When I had taken only one bottle, the pain in my side was much received, and my strength so much mereased that I went out unbeknown to my friends, and walked a mile without much fatigue. I am still using the Sat-aparitle with increasing good effect, and the Scroffula is last disappearing.
