SCHOOL-BOY DAYS.

School-boy days! Who does not feel a tide of joyous, sunny recollections, flow to his heart, as he thinks of them? Who does not love, occasionally, to ferget that he is a grown man? Who does not delight, now and then, to turn away from the stern duties and dark days of mature life, and look back to the bright skies and fresh feelings of boyhood, and mingle again with his earliest companions, as he was, and they were ? To recall, as our neighbor of the "Standard" hath it, "his cross-bow and Bo' narrow?"

It is indeed pleasant, though, when the vision of those days rises full to view, and we see how the world has changed us; when we see how much colder our feelings have grown; what a freshness has passed away from nature, and how much less magic and beauty there is in life itself, one almost wishes that he had not been so happy. We were all of us happy then, for we could not be otherwise. We had just planted our feet on the shores of existence, and every thing was new and wonderful around us .-We had no long, sad past, to look back upon, filled up with folly and indiscretion. There were no dark years behind us, scattered over with wrecks of happiness, beneath which the heart lay crushed and buried. Life was all before us, and it seemed to stretch on without a shadow. The world was full of novelty, beauty and enchantment.

changed; to lose ourselves in the illusion, that we are young and light-hearted; ignorant of the struggling, selfish world; cherishing the gay dreams of boyhood; looking around upon happiness, and forward to bliss; filled with wonder at the present, and sunny anticipations of the future. It is pleasant to bring back, occasionally, the old Academy with its grave and venerable rulers, and its heedless, impatient subjects; to see ourselves struggling to comprehend Baker and Briar; stuck, emphatically stuck. on Cider; following out our progress from Compel to Luminary; and recollecting our wonder at the erudition of those who knew why Store was a noun. and who could parse, "John reads his book."

Then, too, the words-"Boys may go out"-what pany when mustered, will be as follows: thrilling words they were? They were like an electric shock. They quivered through every boy's whole frame from head to heels.

Those were joyous days, but they will never come back. They were the bright hours of a rosy morning—they were the first playful leapings of a stream at its fountain head, flashing in sunlight, and winding its way through grass and flowers, that has flowed on, till it has become wider and deeper-a little turbid, now and then, but, on the whole, clear, mild

A VERITABLE BRUTE.

We have rarely seen any thing equal to the despicable malignity of the following, from the "Ohio

" And then might Henry Clay well exclaim, 'My soul is wearied of life.' Then let him know-let him be assured—that they are no other than the just judgments of God overtaking him for his vices iniquities. His complaint of misery was entitled to no compassion. Nay, they were sinful, because they were from a sinful source-from a mind broken and debauched by luxury and corruption .-He is therefore, the author of all his own misery, by having thrown away upon the vices and follies of the world that power of mind which God had bestowed upon him for nobler purposes."

The "New Orleans Delta," in publishing the above paragraph, remarks:

Had we our will, we should-

Mr. W. H. Polk has resigned his post as Charge to Naples, and received from his brother the appointment of Major of the Third Dragoons in the regular service! Very encouraging to those officers in Mexico who have done the fighting.

He was in Wilmington, on Sunday last, as was also Major Gen. Patterson, of the United States Army, both being on their way to Mexico.

FATAL RENCOUNTER.

We learn verbally, says the Natchitoches Chronicle of the 14th, that Mr. Russell, editor of the Red Leander, was killed a few days ago in San Augustine, Texas, by Mr. Kendall, of the San Augustine Shield. A very bitter newspaper controversy had been going on between the parties for several weeks, and finally led to the shedding of blood. We have not been able to ascertain the particulars. Report says that Mr. Kendall and Mr. Russell fired three shots at each other without effect, and that in a day or two after they met again, when Mr. Russell fell mortally wounded.

AN ARTFUL DODGER.

The Savannah Republican accuses Mr. Towns. the Loco Candidate for Governor of Georgia, of dodging 265 times during the last session of Congress. Among the votes dodged were the River and Harbor Bill, the Sub Treasury Bill, the Oregon notice, the General Appropriation Bill, the Army Appropriation Bill, the Wilmot Proviso, the Bill to increase the pay of Volunteers, &c. &c. He always voted for adjournments when present, though from the 6th March to the 7th May, two months, his name does not once appear on the Journal of the House.

STATE ELECTIONS.

Maine voted on the 6th, Vermont on the 7th, the only elections this month. In October, Georgia, Arkansas, and Florida, vote on the 4th. Maryland on the 6th, South Carolina on the 11th, and Pennsylvania and Ohio on the 12th. In November, Mississippi, Michigan, and Louisians, on the 1st, New York, Texas, and New Jersey, on the 2d, Massachusetts on the 8th and Delaware on the 9th.

PLOUGHING WITH ELEPHANTS. It is stated that in Ceylon elephants are employed in ploughing rice fields, and in preparing new rounds for the cultivation of coffee, pepper, &c .-One of these animals, well trained, it is said, will do the work of twenty oxen; consequently more labor is performed in a given time, and the period is hastened for putting in the crops. The price of an elephant in Ceylon varies from $50 to $75.

CALL FOR VOLUNTEERS.

John Cameron, of Orange, if the same can be completed and Officered for Musthe President of the United States has agreed to acter, by the 10th of October. The time allowed is hardly sufficient, but we hope that Capt. C., by the aid of other energetic young men, may be ready to march by the period prescribed :

The Philadelphia Bulletia notices the death or remarkably sagacious dog named Cassius, which for several years had been a constant attendant upon the Good Intent Hose Fire Company, and was always the first to give the alarm in case of fire.-From among a number of interesting anecdotes of poor Cash, we take the following:

On one occasion Cash had a very tough and long contested fight with a dog that appeared to be his match in every respect. In the midst of the contest, and when it was doubtful which would prove the better dog, a good-for-nothing little cur ran up and bit Cash severely in one of his hind legs. Satisfied with his valorous behavior, the little sneak went back to his quarters in his master's door, leaving the two combatants to fight it out. Cash had taken no notice of the bite, but went on with the fight until he whipped his opponent to his satisfaction and compelled him to run off, he then walked deliberately over to the door where the little cur was lying, and picking him up by the back of the neck, carried him leisurely to the gutter, where he gave him half-a dozen good shakes, and tossed him indignantly into the middle of the street, as much as to say, "Take that, you cowardly rascal." Once when there were but few men at the rope and it was found impossible to urge the carriage along with anything like speed, Cash ran on to the side-walk, and taking a gentleman by the cont actually pulled him into the street, at which the terrified man took hold of the rope and worked like a Hercules for fear of another attack.

Several weeks since, four or five of the members of the Good Intent Hose, went over to Gloucester Point, taking Cash with them. One of the men, for pastime, ascended a ladder to the top of a two story house. On looking around, he was surprised to find that the dog had gone with him. After taking a good survey of the surrounding country, and becoming satisfied that every thing was going on right, Cash walked quietly down again.

Only a few days before his death, two of the firemen were endeavoring to turn the cylinder, in order o put on the hose. Cash saw that they were unequal to the task, so he ran around the corner, and began to bark to two other members, thus to attract their attention and procure assistance. Knowing the dog, they went around and helped to finish the job.

MISSISSIPPI U. S. SENATOR. The Natchez Free Trader, a Locofoco print, speaking of the appointment of Col. JEFF. DAVIS as U. S. Senator from Mississippi, says:

Colonel Davis, as the world knows, is a brave and meritorious officer and a worthy man. He is a Calhoun Democrat, and a very strong Taylor man, we understand, so that his position in Congress will be very interesting, and may disappoint some of his constituents.

Upon this, the Natchez Courier, (Whig.) says: If Col. Davis is a "very strong Taylor man," of which no doubt can be entertained, but few of his constituents will be disappointed. The people of Mississippi want the strongest sort of a Taylor man Mississippi want the strongest sort of a Taylor man for their Senator, and if they can get one in the per-son of the distinguished Colonel of the first regiment of Mississippi riflemen, it will be doubly gratifying. Those few who may be disappointed, will be left to digest such disappointment in the best way they can.

known, positively, to have begun on the 15th. The re-appearance of the exiled and proscribed Paredes upon the stage of action, there, will give additional interest to the already all-absorbing drama we are now enacting in Mexico. There is something so Napoleon-like in this individual's banishment and return, that should the Mexicans adhere to his fortunes as firmly as did the French to the Emperor, when similarly circumstanced, we'll may we prepare ourselves for startling results. At all events, it bodes no good to the cause of peace, and it should not surprise us if, discarding their unfortunate and luckless Santa Anna, "the magnanimous Mexican nation" may be induced, once more, to measure arms in battle with us "barbarians of the North," under the feedership of their old favorite. It does not appear whether Mr. Polk furnished Paredes, as he did Santa Anna, with a free pass into Mexico, but from the unimpeded and remarkable manner with which the gentlemen effected his entrance into and through Vera Cruz, in the midst of our soldiery, one is almost tempted to believe that he was the recipient of the same special mark of Executive favor, that was so kindly extended to "his illustrious predecessor." But in the present extraordinary situation of affairs in Mexico, it is worse than idle to speculate upon what yet is in the womb of the future. The uncertain state of things there, at present, admits of no safe calculation, in advance, as to eventual results. The wisest among us know not what a d y may bring forth in that wide-extended field of strifethat theatre which, the twelvemonth past, has beheld so many tragic scenes, and which, alas! there is every reason to believe, is to witness many more, ere we behold the denouement of the bloody and desperate drama, which corrupt counsels, and a lawless and unjustifiable ambition, have led our country to

The English news, in a commercial and monetary light, has been the most important received here for a long time past, and has had a marked influence in Wall street. It will require the greatest caution on the part of our own people, to escape the sweeping monetary crisis just now prevalent in England. Breadstuffs have not, however, been materially affected by the yet declining state of prices in the English and Continental markets-which may be only ascribed to the very small stock of Flour and Grain on hand here.

From the New Orleans Picayune of September 3d AMERICAN ARMS AGAIN VICTORIOUS! THE MEXICANS DEFEATED BY GENERAL SCOTT, IN Two DISTINCT ENGAGEMENTS.

The City of Mexico at our Mercy.

The News of Gen. Scott's Advance Confirmed-The Position of El Penon Turned-Gen. Valencia Defeated-Gen. Santa Annu Defeated-A Suspension of Hostilities Solicited and Granted-Congress Summoned and Negotiations to be resumed-Safety of Maj. Lally's Train, &c. &c. &c.

The Steamship Fashion, Capt. O'Brady, arrived esterday evening from Vera Cruz. The news by this arrival is the most important we have received in many months from Mexico. Our army had not only advanced to the City of Mexico, but it has had two engagements with the enemy close under the walls of the City, and defeated them. The Mexiof sees, and Gen. Scott bee granted it. The Mexican Congress has been convoked to take into consideration Mr. Trist's propositions.

The news was received in Vera Cruz on the evening of the 26th ult. by an express Courier from Orizaha, who brought down the following letter to Mr. Dimond, the Collector at Vera Cruz:

"ORIZABA, August 25, 1947. My dear friend-The Mexican Mail which has just come in, brings the following intelligence. Being of so great importance, I send you this express courier, who will be with you to-morrow about 12. On the 20th two brigades commanded by Gen. Valencia and Santa Anna, went out to attack the Americans near *San Angel. Valencia's division has been completely defeated, and Santa Anna, after the first rencontre, fell back in dirorder to the City.

They immediately after this asked for a suspenion of hostilities, and offered to hear the propositions of peace from Mr. Trist. The next day the Minister of Foreign Relations invited the Congress, through the newspapers, to meet for that purpose. These are the great facts which no doubt will Yours truly. bring after them peace.

F. M. DIMOND, Esq. ____Another letter says Los Llalos de San Angel. Another express arrived in Vera Cruz on the 29th, with letters containing the same news in substance, and the following translation of the announcement of it in the Diario Oficial del Go-

Translated from Diario Official del Gobierno.] On the 29th August Scott's troops, who intended marching on Penon, turned it and arrived near Tacubaya. As soon as the news was known at Mexico, Valencia's division went out to attack the Americans at Los Llanos de San Angel, and was completely routed. Next came Santa Anna, with another division, which shared the same fate after some fighting. The Mexicans retreated to the capital in great disorder, and such was the panic created by their defeat that the Minister of Foreign Relations immediately convoked the Congress to take into consideration Mr. Trist's proposition. A suspension of arms was demanded by the Mexicans and granted. The Americans are around Mexico, but had not entered the city on the 21st. Such are the meagre details which we have of these important events. No couriers from Gen. Scott's army direct have been able to get through, so far as we can learn. But from the foregoing statements, it is manifest that Gen. Scott holds the city of Mexico at his command.

In regard to the train under Maj. Lally, the intelligence is favorable. We are informed from very responsible source, that he is known to have passed Perote and been on his way in safety to Puela. He made some delay in Jalapa.
