RALEIGH REGISTER.
PUBLISHED BY EDMOND GALES,
AT THREE DOLLARS A YEAR.
RALEIGH, N. C.
Friday Morning, March 24, 1849.
A very general mistake has been going the rounds in the papers, as to the appointment of the late Mr. Gales as Secretary of Legation to the City. The mistake has originated, doubtless, in the fact that Mr. Gales, son of one of the late Galeses, has been appointed to the position of Secretary of Legation to the City of Mexico. It is of but little importance, and it is true—but there are some matters which one cannot be too punctilious in settling.
It would respectfully suggest to the "Wilmington Journal," the propriety of giving some credit to the Historical Sketches copied from the paper, as the transcribing of these sketches is a laborious and expensive task. It is of but little importance, and it is true—but there are some matters which one cannot be too punctilious in settling.
Attention is called to the New York Advertiser in another column. The establishment of this paper, in all respects, the finest for fancy in the City. Their Store, built expressly for the purpose, is immensely spacious—the mercantile business alone having an area of 10,000 square feet. Some idea may be formed of the vastness of the building, by the fact that in one room, devoted to the sale of fine Ivory Combs, there are as many as 10,000.
The establishment of Dietz and Brothers, has been favorably known as a crack one, in its various departments.
We neglect to call attention to the Advertisement of Mr. GEORGE S. APPLETON, of Philadelphia P. STREET, of Petersburg, and of Mr. JAMES P. SMITH, of our own City—as all worthy the consideration of those interested.
Death of a veteran Editor.
It is our sad duty to announce the death of DAVID C. CLAYPOOLE, of Philadelphia, the oldest Editor in the Country, at the age of 92. Mr. C. was the publisher of the "National Intelligencer," and was a distinguished descendant of Oliver Cromwell. He has been a member of the newspapers in this country, and has written many of the most valuable articles in the limited space of his life. Such a man merits honorable mention. He has inscribed his name on the pages of the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries of the editorial profession in the States. He lived to see his number vastly increased, and his respectability acknowledged, its influence and his heart swelled with a paternal pride. He died, at an advanced age, after an illness of several weeks.
Mr. CLAYPOOLE is coupled, in our columns, with associations, to which we trust we are not permitted for momentarily reverting. When the founder of this paper, the Grandfather of the present Editor, first came to this Country, to edit the "National Intelligencer," he was met with persecution and bigoted intolerance, and employment in Mr. C.'s office, and the same persecutions, lasted until the demise of the paper. It was while in the employment of the paper that he reported the Debates of Congress, and was the first to introduce the use of the stenographic reporting known in the present day. It was under the tutelage and assistance of the late Mr. CLAYPOOLE that he perfected himself in his profession, and he has since resided in North Carolina, in 1799, when he first came to the Register. The recollection of the many letters between the two, of reciprocity and affection, has prompted, at the moment of the death of Mr. CLAYPOOLE, this notice to his memory. We feel as though, in this notice, another link was broken in the chain of our past and proudest reminiscences.
The late Mr. CLAYPOOLE was a man of high standing, and was a member of the American Philosophical Society. He was a man of high standing, and was a member of the American Philosophical Society. He was a man of high standing, and was a member of the American Philosophical Society.

AMERICAN LITERATURE.
It is always provoking, to be made the subject of abuse and sarcasm, with or without cause; and it is painful enough, to see the character of the relations between two great countries, vitiated by the paltry comments of prejudiced scribblers; but it is nevertheless curious, as a matter of philosophical study, and at times sufficiently amusing, to mark the influence of National pride and jealousy on the tone of British writers in regard to the United States. We rarely find a Review, Magazine, or Newspaper from the mother country, without observing some new effect of the same cause. The Quarterly reviews us, the Edinburgh speaks at us, Blackwood bullies us, and the hubbub Magazines show us up in imaginary travels and journals. And all for what? "The very head and front of our offending" is this, and nothing more, that we happen by the act of Providence, and the valor and virtue of our fathers, to be placed in such a situation, political, geographical, and statistical, that we are more likely, than any other power, to rival or surpass Great Britain—first in those Commercial and Maritime pursuits, which have, hitherto, constituted the chief element of her greatness, and, at a more remote period, in population, wealth and national importance. The petulant and peevish spirit, which they show in this matter, but ill becomes a great and gallant nation, that still maintains, though in the wane of her fortunes, a lofty standing among the leading powers of the world. It resembles more the petty spite of a faded beauty, who would gladly, if she dared, tear out the eyes of a younger rival, because she feels that their lustre eclipses that of her own.
SUPREME COURT.
The following OPINIONS have been delivered since our last notice:
By RUFFIN, C. J. In Gillespie v. Foy, in Equity from Rockingham; declares plaintiff not entitled to any part of the personal estate, but that it belongs to the defendants in equal parts. Also, in Dargan v. Waddell, from Anson, awarding a venire de novo. Also, in Barnes v. Simms, in Equity from Edgecombe. Also, in Bell v. Clark, from Chatham, affirming the judgment below. Also, in Lea v. Shelton, from Caswell, affirming the judgment below. Also, in Whitfield v. Hurst, from Wayne, affirming the judgment below. Also, in Den ex dem, Powell v. Baughan, from Northampton, reversing the judgment and directing a venire de novo. Also, in Askew v. Daniel, in Equity from Granville, dismissing the bill. Also, in Deans v. Dorch, in Equity from Nash, dismissing the bill with costs.
By PEARSON, J. In Hall v. Harris, in Equity from Montgomery, directing a decree for the plaintiff. Also, in Harris v. Philpot, in Equity from Person. Also, in Ward v. Jones, in Equity from Warren, declaring that testator had a life estate only in the land. Also, in Den ex dem Etheridge, from Currituck, reversing the judgment, and awarding a venire de novo. Also, in Hardy v. Williams, from Bertie, reversing the judgment and awarding a venire de novo. Also, in Henry v. Henry, from New Hanover, reversing the decree. Also, in McCraw v. Davis, in Equity from Surry, directing a decree for an account.
Mr. Hannegan's Appointment.
It has been said in letters from Washington, that Mr. HANNEGAN's appointment as Minister to Berlin, was solicited at the last moment by some leading Whigs of the Senate, and it has been intimated in private circles that Mr. Webster was one of those Whigs. What other Whigs may have done, says the New York Tribune, we do not know, but as to Mr. Webster, we are able to give to our readers the following letter from him:
WASHINGTON, March 12, 1849.
My Dear Sir: I have received your letter of the 10th respecting Mr. Hannegan's appointment as Minister to Prussia. The appointment can have surprised nobody more than it surprised me. The Senate having completed all its business, as I supposed, I left the Senate chamber between six and seven o'clock on Sunday morning, the 4th of March. I had never heard a syllable of any intention of nominating Mr. Hannegan as Minister to Prussia, or for any other office; and supposed it certain that no nomination, of any kind, would be sent to the Senate after that hour.
When I heard, the next day, that Mr. Hannegan had been nominated to a Foreign Mission, and that the nomination had been confirmed, I at once contradicted it, saying that I had been in my seat every moment through the whole of the session of Saturday and Sunday night, and until broad daylight on Sunday morning, when the Senate was about breaking up, and I had heard nothing of any such nomination.
I look upon this nomination, under the circumstances, as one of the most disreputable proceedings recorded in the history of the Government.
I am, with much respect, your obedient serv't.
DANIEL WEBSTER.
YUCATAN PORTS OPEN.—By the last arrival from Yucatan, intelligence has been received that, in consequence of the scarcity of breadstuffs, and particularly corn, Governor Barbachano had issued a decree ordering that description of grain to be admitted free of duty, and of all other government imports, for one year from the date of decree.
THE MINT.—The reason why the bill establishing a branch mint was lost in Congress, the Tribune says, is because the New Yorkers were not satisfied with a branch, but wanted the principal mint removed to that city.
GOLD IN KENTUCKY AND PENNSYLVANIA.—The Mt. Sterling Whig speaks of a gold mine having been discovered in Montgomery county, (Ky.) which promises to yield a quantity of the precious metal.
A gentleman in Sugar Valley, Clinton county, Pa., while digging a well, came upon a vein of yellow mineral, which is heavier than lead, and has every appearance of being pure gold. A sample has been sent to Philadelphia for the purpose of testing it.
So, so!—If a man may reap "whatsoever he sows," and it seems fair that he should, what a harvest of coats and breeches the tailors will have one of these days!

ITEMS OF NEWS.
MR. CLINGMAN.—Hon. Thomas L. Clingman, Representative in Congress from North Carolina, is confined to his lodgings in Washington by indisposition.
RESIGNATION.—Col. C. F. M. Garnett, has resigned the office of Chief Engineer of the Nashville and Chattanooga Railroad.
ITALIAN TRICOLOR.—By a decree of the Provisional Government of Rome, the Italian colors—green, red and white—are adopted for the army of the Roman Republic. The name of the Pope is suppressed in all public documents and judicial sentences, and the Roman Republic substituted instead.
PLURALITY IN MASSACHUSETTS.—The Massachusetts House has, 115 to 91, made Electors of President and Vice President, and of Representatives to Congress, electors by a plurality on the first trial, and Representatives after the first trial. It is thought it will become a law.
THE RUSSIAN MINISTER.—M. Bodisco, the Russian Minister, paid his respects to President Taylor, on Monday, when the usual complimentary addresses were made. That of President Taylor is in his usual elegant style.
AN OUTRAGEOUS OFFENCE.—At Cincinnati, Norman Brooks, keeper of an Intelligence Office, has been committed to jail for a most outrageous affair. A poor woman applied to him for a situation to do housework. He sent her to a house of ill-fame, for which he pocketed $10. He is said to have boasted of such operations.
THAT NO OTHER MAN HAS DONE.—We have seen it stated that G. W. P. Curtis paid his respects to President Taylor a few days since, and that he is perhaps the only citizen who has taken by the hand the twelve Presidents of the United States. It may be added that Mr. Curtis cast his first vote for Gen. Taylor. Having resided in the District of Columbia, he did not enjoy the right of suffrage until Congress retroceded to Virginia the soil that originally belonged to the State.
THE FREE SOIL PICKAXE, a paper at Linn, Mass., is dead. Pickaxes are more in demand in California, so it had better go there.
MR. WICKLIFFE, late Charge d'Affaires of the U. States, near the court of Turin, and Mrs. Wickliffe, have arrived in Washington.
THE VIRGINIA CONGRESSIONAL ELECTION takes place on the 26th of April. Most of the candidates are already nominated.
OF THE MEMBERS OF THE NEW YORK LEGISLATURE, one is a native of Maryland and another of the District of Columbia.
HON. RUDOLPHUS DICKINSON, a Representative in the late Congress and a Representative elect to the next Congress, from the State of Ohio, died in Washington City, on Monday last.

FOR THE REGISTER.
Important Notice to the Afflicted.
CURE FOR THE POULTS.
Take a double handful of good humour; a thimble full of the milk of human kindness; with as much generosity as will lie on a five cent piece; shake them well together, and add a little of the Sugar of Love. If the fit usually comes on in the morning, take as much of the mixture at night, as will put the child to sleep without fretting. But, if the spasms are too violent to be thrown off by this medicine, then send immediately for Dr. Birch—he is a mighty good Doctor.
REMEDY FOR LONELINESS OF SPIRITS.
Take one ounce of Spirit of resolution and an equal proportion of the oil of good conscience—in fuse into these a tablespoonful of Salts of Patience, and add thereto a few sprigs of a plant called "other's woe," which you will find freely growing in every part of the garden of life, but especially under the broad leaves of a showy herb, called Disguise.—Gather also a handful of the blossoms of hope, which being perennial, may always be obtained; sweeten these with the balm of Providence, and if you can procure a few drops of the genuine Cordial of true friendship, it will greatly add to the value of the medicine.
N. B. There is a spurious compound, vended by one Mr. Self Interest, which is obtained easily enough, and by which thousands are imposed upon. The least admixture of it with the above ingredients will infallibly spoil the composition. Reduce the whole to an electuary by a proper portion of condensation of contentment, flavoured with essence of good judgment, and regulate the quantity taken according to the virulence of the disease. A tried recipe, and never known to fail.

CAPE FEAR & DEEP RIVERS.
The movements in favor of this scheme, under all the circumstances of the case, are quite animated in this section. Indeed, the great importance of the work, in its effects on trade and commerce, is becoming more and more apparent, as the resources of the country connected with the improvement, are examined. We have at no time considered this as a scheme of secondary importance. With this, and the Manchester Road, now progressing, and the Central Rail Road, we have all we ought to desire—all that the friends of Internal Improvements throughout the State ought to ask for—the present, at least.
The most interesting item connected with this subject, is the subscription to the Cape Fear and Deep River Company, made in this town. It is not probably less than 13 thousand dollars, and will not fall short of $15,000. Considering the pressure under which our community is laboring, and the efforts heretofore made upon us and met by our citizens, this is a very liberal subscription, and speaks well for the unaltered ardor of the citizens of Wilmington in the first and best of causes, of a temporal nature.
Wilmington Commercial.
A Washington correspondent of the New York Herald, in a letter dated 16th inst., relates the following anecdote, which exhibits the kind feelings the President entertains for the "old defenders":
A venerable white-headed man, 105 years old, having tottered up to the white house, early in the morning, had the good fortune to meet the senior President almost at the threshold. The centenarian introduced himself; told Gen Taylor that he was feeble, and that his blood was almost dried up in his veins, for the snows of one hundred and five winters and the effects of hard service in the wars of our country had left him but a short remnant of the evening of his long and eventful life. General Taylor moved by the patriarchal years, and voice, and simplicity of the old man, shook him warmly by the hand and said, "Well, grandfather, I am glad to see you. Have you been to breakfast?"—the old man replied that he had not. "Well, then, you must come and take some breakfast with me." "No, your time is too precious. I desired only to see you, to pay you my respects; and I shall get a breakfast at the market-house, for I am a stranger among these people, and an old man must be satisfied to do the best he can." "Well, then, you must come and breakfast with me. No; your time is too valuable, and I will not trespass upon it; good morning, General, and may Providence guide you." "Well, if you will go," said Gen. Taylor, extending his hand, and slipping into that of the old man three half eagles—"if you will go, God bless you; and see that you have a good cup of coffee for breakfast, and come up and dine with me before you leave the city." And, leaning upon his staff, the old man, older than this republic of twenty millions of people, by thirty years, went, with a grateful heart, along his way.
DEED.
At his residence, in Brunswick County, on Friday night last, Mr. John Holmes, aged 82 years, a soldier of the Revolution, who served faithfully during the war. He was a consistent member of the Baptist Church, and highly esteemed and respected by all who knew him.

Geo. S. Appleton,
Bookseller, Publisher and Importer!
No. 164 Chestnut St., corner of 7th, Swan's Buildings, PHILADELPHIA, PA.
THE Proprietor of the above establishment would beg leave to call the attention of the Public to his large stock of Books, in every Department of Literature. The most particular attention is paid to the execution of orders from gentlemen desirous of increasing their Libraries, and Committees in every town and village for the founding of Libraries. His motto is "large sales and small profits," which can be proved by referring to his Catalogue, published every quarter, which will be sent gratis to all parts of the Union, on application post paid. His store is so arranged that visitors can find the Books for themselves, they being classified according to Subjects; so that the Lawyer, Clergyman, Physician, Merchant, Farmer, or Mechanic, can find the Books they are in search of, without the aid of a guide. Every attention is shown to visitors, and it is hoped that strangers will make it a convenient lounge during their stay in the City.
All orders for Books published in any part of Europe or America punctually attended to, and furnished at the lowest prices. Information in regard to any matters pertaining to his business cheerfully given, on application to the Proprietor. Booksellers and Country Merchants supplied on liberal terms.
