this statue are represented as colossal, and the figure is said to be thrown into a very striking attitude. It differs, says the letter, from other equestram statues in the particular of the horse being self-poised. In that of Peter the Great the horse is supported in his position by fastening the tail to the pedestal. This statue is the first of bronze ever made in this country, and, it is said, will reflect great credit on the artist, who is a

The work was ordered by the Democratic Asso-

THE Exercises will be resumed on the second Monday, which is the 14th day of January, 1850. The present Principal was called to the charge of this institution ten years ago, since which period its patronage has continued uniformly to increase. To his numerous Patrons throughout the Country, he returns his sincere neknowledgments, and he hopes, by untiring seal and fidelity in the discharge of his highly responsible duties, to merit the continued support of a liberal and enlightened public. The ablest Instructors are engaged with him in the various departments of the School, and a discipline, at once mild and firm, is enforced. The strictest attention is paid to the moral as well as intellectual improvement of the Boys entrusted to his care --Boys are fitted for the advanced classes in College, or for the active duties of life. But it seems other great men have cracked their jokes on the dignified subject of clean shirts, as the following anecdotes will show :

The late duke of Norfolk was notorious for the carelessness of his habits, which occasionally degenerated into something worse than slovenliness. He complained, one day, to Dudley North, that he was a martyr to rheumatism, to remove which he had fruitlessly tried every thing.

· Pray, my lord,' asked North, 'did you ever try a clean shirt ?' Anthony Pasquin, as filthy in person as in mind, having received a ticket to a masquerade from Lord Barrymore, asked the donor to help him to an easy disguise.

'Oh !' said his lordship, 'go in a clean shirt, Anthony, and nobody will know you.'

The deaths in St. Louis for the week ending Dec. 24th, were only 31-1 of cholera.

PAPER bearing the above title will be is-sued in the town of Oxford, N. C., on Wednesday the 13th of February next. While the Granville Whig will advocate the measures of that Great Conservative Party, it will pursue a fair and candid course towards the Opposition, bestowing censure on whatever is censurable, and ever battling for truth, regardless of the source whence it emanates. A correct compendium of foreign and domestic news, drawn from a number of well selected exchanges, will be given weekly in its columns, together with statistics and general information on the engrossing subjects of INTERNAL IMPROVEMENT and Southern Manufactures.

A portion of its columns will be devoted to religious intelligence and matters of general interest. and a few choice literary selections will also be found among its contents. In short, it will be the object of its Editor to make it a good Whig Paper, combining amusement with valuable information.

The GRANVILLE WHIG will be published weekly with clear type, on good paper of medium size, at the exceedingly low rates of $2.00 per annum Medal. There will be a public examination at the close of the Session. The entire instruction and care of the Students devolve on the Principals and their Ladies.

Belvoir Classical School.

HIS Institution is situated about two and a half miles from the village of Lenoir, Caldwell Couny, North Carolina. It has been in operation about ive years, and is now in a more flourishing state than at any former period, the number of pupile having gradually increased. The location is very fine, and has proved itself remarkably healthy, not a solitary instance of sickness having occurred among the Rector's own Children, or the pupils boarding in his family, since the commencement of the School. There is probably not another place in the State where bays are more pleasantly situated ; more effectually guarded against the temptations that beset the young ; or where they can be more thoroughly educated at se little expense. They are prepared, if desired, for any College in the United States, or fitted to enter upon any profession. at the exceedingly moderate cost of $135 per annum. This charge covers all necessary School expenses, except books and Stationary For Package full particulars, address the undersigned at Belveir, near Lenoir, Caldwell County, North Carolina.
