THE LAST PROP REMOVED!
It may be a source of heart felt gratification to every lover of his Country in our midst, when he contemplates the great and powerful re-action that has taken place at the South, in favor of the Union, within the short space of eighteen months.
It is beyond doubt, that previous to the adoption of the Compromise, the popular mind was stirred to its deepest depths with apprehensions of some immediate impending calamity to the Union—how the spectre of Disunion stalked unbroken in public places, and men had familiarized themselves to its presence—how the hearts of the boldest of the friends of Republican liberty wavered and the hopes of the most sanguine grew faint. The passage of the Adjustment measures, however, by their approval by our patriotic and truly national Executive; the influence which the Administration threw into their scale; and the efforts in their behalf of those distinguished men, who, for the sake of the Union, for the sake of the Constitution, and for the sake of the Republic, have nobly stepped forward—these it was, that gave fresh courage to the soldiers of the Constitution, and imparted to the cause of our glorious Union, that impetus, which has thus far borne it forward over all opposition, and is destined still to bear it onward, until it is placed beyond the farther assaults of madness and treason—like of Secessionists and Abolitionists.

Tennessee has proclaimed, in terms that admit of no misconstruction, her devotion to the Compromise and the Union. After a hotly contested canvass, in which all other considerations were disregarded, she has come out in their favor with the most decided and unequivocal demonstration.
North Carolina, (as all who knew her best, felt sure that she would do,) has responded to her glorious sister, with an equally unmistakeable expression of loyalty to the Constitution and the Union. She has thundered her rebuke—her rebuke, indignant rebuke—at the traitors who have been conspiring against the peace and happiness of all.

Florida—small in numbers but stout and true at heart—has taken her stand in the same ranks, under circumstances that added additional importance to the movement.
Kentucky and Maryland, in like manner, have declared for the Compromise, as a "final and complete settlement of the vexed questions which they embraced," and have not been springing in their condemnation at the polls, of those who have chosen to re-open and renew them.

In Virginia and Louisiana, though no elections have taken place, since the passage of the Compromise, the indications of public sentiment amply warrant us in the assertion, that the love of the Union and the determination to maintain it against all assaults, "on account of what has been done," are not less deeply rooted than in their sister States.
But it was upon Alabama and Mississippi that the Disunionists of the South relied as upon a strong arm. There all their hopes of future mis-chiefs were centered—there tended all their aspirations—there was the theatre of their most extravagant pretensions and their loudest boasts—"How stands it there?" There has been a Warrenton defeat in Alabama, and Mississippi, that gallant, high-spirited and fiery young Southern State, has routed Secession, throughout her length and breadth, horse, foot and dragons—"Three cheers, and three times three cheers thrice repeated" for Mississippi!

And now Georgia speaks—and in what a voice?
What terror does it not strike to the heart of treason—what hope and comfort does it whisper into the ear of patriotism? The last prop is immediately removed, and all immediate danger to the peace of the Country from Disunionism at the South falls to the ground! Is not this consummation an event over which we may well rejoice?
Does it not entitle us to demand of our brethren at the North that they free their own skins from the taint, and that no cause shall hereafter be furnished, for their parts, calculated to excite any feeling for the course we have pursued?

The whole South is now united, with the exception of South Carolina, and the indications are daily becoming more flattering that she will soon be. But at present, she stands solitary and alone.
She sees that no other Southern State sees, believes what no other Southern State believes, and proposes to act as the other Southern States, and refuses to act. She thinks the Union a curse to the Southern States, and they think it a blessing.
She is encouraged by a few ambitious and reckless men in our own midst, and we owe it to ourselves and to our Country, to abate not in our excesses, so long as there remains an enemy of the Government to be met or the suspicion of one to be encountered!
These questions rise far above all mere party considerations; and if we know ourselves, it is with a feeling of exclusive party bias that we say—"that next to that deep-seated and ineradicable love of our time and blood-hounded Union, which pervades the great mass of our people, it is to the patriotic, faithful and intrepid stand which the Administration has assumed with reference to these questions, that we attribute the present repose and tranquility of the land. It has done its whole duty, and deserves all the honor that can be bestowed upon it.

EFFECTS OF ABOLITIONISM UPON THE COLORED RACE.—The following article from the "New York Express" clearly forebodes what is destined to be the ultimate policy of the Free States, with reference to the immigration of free blacks into their borders. It is well known that Indiana has already passed an edict of exclusion upon them, cutting them off by one indiscriminate sentence from all the rights of citizenship and residence, and every such example, even in the absence of those scenes that are being daily enacted in the Free States, carries with it a constraining influence.— By circumscribing the area into which this generally worthless race can carry its vices and its helplessness, it will array more strongly against it the prejudices of those with whom it is thus brought into closer neighborhood or more immediate contact. Their certain expulsion from State to State will make the policy of the other States a defensive one, to interpose barriers against their ingress. It will be no less the policy of the Slave States to drive them from their own borders, where they are, in the main, but a festering sore upon the body politic. If the Abolitionists be, what they represent themselves, the friends of the black, and not their worst enemies, here is a problem that should engage all their philanthropy.— By their wicked and mischievous agitation, they are not only laying up for themselves a day of retribution, but for the objects of their false and hollow zeal, a fate of utter wretchedness and final extermination.

From the N. Y. Express.
"It continues to be stated in several of our city journals, with decided emphasis in the Abolition cause, that the negro is to be expelled from the country, and that the negro is to be expelled from the country, and that the negro is to be expelled from the country, and that the negro is to be
