MR. PRESIDENT: I ask the attention of the Convention for a moment. I rise to express the hanks of the Delegation from the State of North Carolina, for the compliment which has been paid one of her distinguished sons, by selecting him with so much unanimity, as the Whig candidate for the Vice Presidency of this great Republic, and for the enthusiasm with which that comination has been received by this vast assemblage of his countrymen. In his own State WILLIAM A. GRAHAM, for his private virtues, his public worth, sound judgment, and high abiliies, is respected and honored by men of both political parties. Nor is he less deserving the confidence of all his fellow-citizens of all sections of the Union. He has been often honored his native State, and has always proved him-If worthy of the public trusts confided to him. It is well known to this Convention, that the first choice of the Whigs of his State for the Presidency, was the present able and patriotic Chief Magistrate of the nation. WHIG RATIFICATION MEETING.

In pursuance of a call, a very large and enthusiastic meeting of the Whigs of Raleigh assembled in the Court House, on Thursday night last, to receive our Delegates to the National Convention, and to ratify the nominations of the Whig party.

J. J. Litchford called the meeting to order; and, on his motion, Edmund B. Freeman, Esq., was appointed Chairman, and Seaton Gales and C. C. Raboteau Secretaries.

The Chairman briefly explained the object of the meeting; after which

Mr. Gales addressed the meeting briefly concluded by offering the following resolutions: 1. Resolved, That the Whigs of Raleigh heartily ratify the nomination, by the National Whig Convention, of Gen. WINFIELD SCOTT, for the Presidency, and of WILLIAM A. GRA-HAM, for the Vice Presidency, of the United States, and cordially pledge themselves to their support; and that, in such support, they ask their Whig friends throughout the Union to unite and to co-operate zealously and resolutely. 2. Resolved, That in the nominee of the Convention for the first Office within the gift of the People, we have for our leader one whose briliant exploits and splendid achievements have added lustre to our National character, and whose known and well-tried patriotism has shone forth on many trying occasions; and that, under such a leader, we can go into the contest with the strongest assurance that our efforts will be crowned with triumphant success.

3. Resolved, That the selection of William A. Fraham as the Whig Candidate for the Vice Presidency is not only a just and highly honorable testimonial of the hold which he has acquired upon the confidence and affections of his ountrymen, but is most gratifying to the people of North Carolina, as a companient to one of the especial favorites of the State and to the The conduct of Gen. Neither was he at Greenville on Saturday as he had appointed to be. Various surmises and conjectures and speculations are afloat in regard to this backing out of Old Roan from his appointments. Some think he was told that Stanly, or Miller, or both of them, would be in Washington yesterday, and that it would be unwise in him to speak here when that brace of Whigs were on hand. Others suppose that Old Roan was written to by some one of the wire-pullers here who knows that his presence would not be very acceptable to the "unterrified," not to endanger his health by venturing down this way, as the water continues to be very bad in these diggings. FEMALE EXAMINATION IN OXFORD. Mr. Gales: It is surely a most refreshing thought to know how many successful efforts are being made daily for the extension and will be observed: diffusion of knowledge among all classes of people in our good old State. And there is nothing so beautiful to contemplate as the many Seminaries of Learning which are springing up into a heathful and vigorous maturity over this large State of ours. That man who can gaze unaffected and insensible upon the hundreds of youth- will be allowed to enter the Hall until after the ful female votaries who, every morning, with procession shall have gone in. happy faces, go up to the various Temples of Education, is to be pitied. Better far for him to have never been born, than thus to live uninfluenced by the beautiful and uninstructed and unrefined by the examples of the innocent. Such were the reflections of the writer as he witnessed the recent examination of the young ladies under the tuition of Samuel L. Venable Esq. During the entire two days on which the examination took place, a large and educated audience were in attendance, and if unflagging attention is any indication of gratification and interest, then certainly no audience was ever so well pleased before. Class after class was thoroughly and extensively examined upon their respective studies, and as often acquitted them- join the Procession. selves in a manner highly creditable to the skill of their instructor and to their own mental acquirements. The examination was not conducted, by any means, as is too often the case, in a stereotyped way, by giving stated questions which the pupil knew in advance would be asked. But it was rigid to a fault, and embraced the whole amount gone over during the session. It was this impartial and candid way of examining his pupils that so pleased and gratified the spectators, and gave them additional assurance that in Mr. V. was every requirement and attribute necessary to constitute an excellent teacher. Mr. V. furthermore is remarkably bland and urbane in his manners and amiable ing of the first day of the examination, can tes- will be an address by G. L. Gould, Esq. tify with what success.

> FOR SCOTT, BOYS, HURRAH! BY ONE OF THE BOYS. The Old men all remember-As't were but yesterday-When Britain sought, on Freedom's soil, Again to plant her sway : The old men all remember Who hurled her back again-'Twas Winfield Scott, at Chippewa, 'Twas Scott, at Lundy's Lane! So fling for Scott the banner out.

> > And sing for Scott hurrah;

With him we can the Locos rout, And win for Chippewa. The Young men all remember-'Twas not five years ago-Who led our hosts to victory, And conquered Mexico: The Young men all remember How Churubusco's field. And Vera Cruz, and Contreras, Were made by Scott to yield! So fling for Scott the banner out. And sing for Scott hurrah ; With him we can the Locos rout, And win for Chippewa,

The Old men and the Young men-With Scott to lead the fight-From hill and dale, from shore and wave, Will rally and unite: The Old men and the Young men-With Scott to lead them on-Will make the hero of two wars, . . Their Chief at Washington! So fling for Scott the banner out, And sing for Scott hurrah.

With him we can the Locos rout.

And win for Chippewa.

MARRIED. In Hillsboro' on the 22nd inst., by the Rev. Mr. Frost, Mr. William M. Carrigan of Alamance county, to Miss Ann E. Moore, eldest daughter of Stephen Moore, Esq.

DIED.

On the 24th inst., Alexander S. Hicks, in the 22d year of his age. He was the eldest son of Dr. John R. Hicks, and his wife, Jane, of Granville, Co., N. C. The fatal malady came in the form of Typhoid Fever. Its victim had just began life, as a man, most promisingly. He had not very long since passed through Judge Pearson's Law School with marked consideration from his preceptor-eliciting many high hopes that he would reach a point of eminence and distinction of no ordinary attainment. With talents, virtue, and uprightness of conduct, was conjoined an energy and firmness of character, that would indeed have achieved very much .-But alas! 'the spoiler has come,' and over his remains fall the bitter tears from many stricken hearts. Heavily has the blow fallen upon affectionate parents and brothers and tender sisters. He said, awhile before dying, "he hoped he would be better off"-that they must not weep for him, and calmly told them farewell. HE who gave had a right to take away-and for the consolation of those who mourn, he has said-" they shall be comforted."-Com.

At his residence, in the vicinity of Fayetteville, on Wednesday afternoon, the 23d inst., Harvey Leete, Esq., aged tifty-five years. The deceased was a native of Connecticut, but nearly half his life was spent in Fayetteville, where, until a recent period, he had been engaged in mercantile pursuits.
