

There are the plans of fair, delightful peace; triumphed by party rage, to live like brothers.

RALEIGH, N. C.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, OCT. 26, 1853.

THE STATE FAIR.

We heretofore noticed the progress of this great exhibition in our last. It is over now—the grounds are deserted—and our city has resumed its accustomed quiet.

When the Fair was first projected, it was opposed by some upon the ground that North Carolina had nothing to show, and that she would only expose herself to ridicule, by an attempt to compete with other States.

But gloriously was that feeling dissipated by the result. There have been other exhibitions of a similar character among us; the completion of railroads, the union of distant communities, have often been the occasion of joyous gatherings, and justly so; but there has been nothing to compare in moral grandeur and effect with this glorious gathering.

But we do not by any means say that the late Fair is in splendor or completeness with its rivals of long standing, but it gladdened the heart to see what were the sources of North Carolina wealth, and how rapidly they could be developed.

In the variety and excellence of her products, the State is not surpassed, while an improved system of culture is rapidly extending under the fostering care of local societies.

In stock, there was a better show than any we anticipated. We were not prepared for the advance in the improvement of breeds which was presented. The business has but just begun, and will not cease until the present year's races are entirely displaced.

In mechanics, there was a handsome show, evincing much ingenuity of invention and skill in execution. Agricultural implements of home manufacture attracted attention every where, while in the department of husbandry, carriages were seen which might fear a rivalry with the best work of the North, and in the variety of domestic manufactures.

But we will be the last to attempt to review in detail each department. It is enough to know that the developments of the Fair have raised North Carolina a hundred per cent. in her own products, and that she is now no longer dependent on the rest of the world for her necessities.

THE NEW YORK DEMOCRACY.

The politics of New York are every year acquiring more and more importance, and influence upon the destinies of the country.

This influence is far beyond the proportion of its numerical strength, and arises from the fact that its chief city is the great commercial emporium of the United States.

The pervading influence of commerce confers an importance and influence upon its Newspapers, and gives them an extent of circulation, far beyond what can ever be obtained by the journals of other cities.

The same circumstances draw to New York an amount of talent which Newspapers less favorably situated can never hope to command; and it is to these circumstances that we attribute the importance attached by general consent, and by the Administration at Washington, to the movements of politicians and parties in that State.

Without a word of unprincipled, mercenary and shuffling as her politicians and parties are, their influence cannot be denied. It is a fact, which continually makes itself felt. It is the only State whose politics attract the general attention of the country.

Formerly Virginia divided with the "Empire State" this pre-eminence, but the influence of the Old Dominion is passing away; and a man can afford to be ignorant of her local parties and sub-divisions of party without having his general intelligence impeached.

Not so of New York. Her politics, local and federal, have acquired a metropolitan character and importance which the intelligent citizen in the remotest corner of the Union cannot afford to ignore.

The Barnburners seem to be much the strongest wing of the Democratic party in that State, in a circumstance which may account for the favor they receive at the hands of Gen. Pierce.

The following extracts from the Evening Post, a warm abolitionist friend of the Administration, and the Albany Atlas, a free soil organ at the State Capital, equally devoted to the "powers that be," will evince the contentions into which the "Hards" or Dickinson party has fallen, on account of its numerical insignificance.

With the patronage of the Government to back them, the free-soilers are doubtless rapidly on the increase, while the Union and Compromise Democracy is decaying by desertion and treachery.

From the Evening Post. The present opponents of the democratic party in this State may be divided into five distinct predatory tribes, within one or the other of which, we engage, that every man who votes against the regular democratic ticket, this fall, will be found.

HOTEL ACCOMMODATION.

Mr. Loring goes up to Raleigh, and complains of the want of hotel accommodation here.

Now Mr. Loring might have remained at home, and with more reason have complained of the want of Hotel accommodation here.

So it appears that Raleigh is not alone in its scarcity of accommodations. It is well enough off in ordinary times; but our friends who suffered during the late Fair must remember that our Hotels are not of India-rubber fabric, to be stretched to fabulous capacity.

The influx of visitors was no extraordinary, far beyond previous calculation, that we are free to confess, the preparations were not on a scale commensurate with the demands.

We will do better next time,—for we have a guide mark now.

THE WAR QUESTION.

There is no open war as yet between the Turk and the Muscovite; but peace now hangs on, seemingly, so slender a hair, that we presume not even an honorary member of the Peace Society will be disappointed, should we be advised, at any moment, that hostilities have actually begun.

War, it seems, by the last arrival, has been only half declared by Turkey, that is to say, it has been declared by the Grand Council, but the consent of the Sultan himself is still wanting, to make it a declaration complete.

If there is any truth in the multiplicity of rumors coming to us from Constantinople, by telegraph and mail, it will not be long before the issue is made up; for it is difficult to suppose the Sultan can resist the enormous war pressure at home. The declaration of war by the Divan is said to be an effect of this pressure, rather than the result of a deliberate conviction of its actual necessity.

The Russian Bazar is now held as quiet as a lamb. His voice, lately so loud for a man, is now as low as the grass. He is now, in fact, a good deal of a man, but whether he is sincere or not, is another question. England and France are not, it is believed, to have renounced their assurances to the Russian Minister at Paris, that it must not be expected of them to remain neutral.

It is not, it is believed, to have renounced their assurances to the Russian Minister at Paris, that it must not be expected of them to remain neutral. It is not, it is believed, to have renounced their assurances to the Russian Minister at Paris, that it must not be expected of them to remain neutral.

What they say.—The "Richmond Enquirer," alluding to the Galtier letter, has the independence to say: "Just one month ago, we foretold the perplexity in which the Administration would involve itself by interfering in the affairs of New York politicians. It could make no reference to which faction the Administration might incline in any event, the impolicy of intervention was equally apparent to all eyes, and it remains equally undeniable. How has the dignity and beyond the duty of the National Administration to keep its hands off, and ward over local factions and to undertake to canvass the claims of men regarding to the appointment of door-keepers and messengers?"

The "New York Herald," which had more to do with making Gen. Pierce President than any three journals in the country, is now the most bitter and malignant enemy which the Administration has. Bennett, the editor, is the most unprincipled of knaves; it is true, but it takes a man to catch a rogue. Whatever may be his pecuniary motive, he is waging a language war upon the Administration. His paper is said to have a daily circulation of forty or fifty thousand, and a weekly issue equally large or larger. The "Herald" is edited with a spirit, vivacity and talent which are rarely equalled, and its influence all through the South and West, where it is universally read, must be very great, to say nothing of its effects at home.

It has been surmised that the hostility of the Herald proceeds from the disappointment of its editor's hopes in regard to the French mission. This we regard as utterly improbable. Bennett is aware that he is to utterly destitute of character to expect such an appointment from an honest administration; and we have no belief that he ever applied for it. Bennett is a shrewd fellow, and finds his account in writing down an administration which he had the sagacity to foresee was about to fall of its own weight. As to patronage, he is independent of it. When a newspaper reaches the immense circulation which has been attained by the Herald, Tribune, and some other New York papers, it cannot afford to print government advertisements at the prices fixed by Congress, high though they be. We regard this as one of the most hopeful circumstances of the times, from its tendency to render the press independent.

The present administration is a rope of sand. It is composed of discordant elements, which must at no distant day produce its dissolution. Bennett, though one of the principal instruments in bringing them together, foresees that a rapid decomposition would take place, and from an irreversible law of nature, and he wishes to vindicate his sagacity, by assisting in the natural process. It is not the man to remain in a sinking ship.

OUR NEW YORK CORRESPONDENCE.

Retiring and Building—Three fortunes to lose—A gold Clock and a gold Carriage—American and European Jewels—A man with two hats on—The hat trick.

New York, Oct. 21, 1853. Until recently it was usually thought to be more economical to rent a dwelling than to build one, but house rent and store rent have attained such exorbitant rates here, that the reverse of this rule obtains now.

According to the present system of expenditure, it takes three fortunes to pay one's way, and to meet the demands of the times, it is necessary to have a large amount of ready money, and a fortune to keep up an establishment. The difficulties of Northern life are greatly increased, also, by the insubordination and inconstancy of the Irish and German servants, but particularly the former.

Many Southerners are deterred from settling in the North, and others who would like to reside here, to participate in the advantages of city life, compromise the matter, by given preference to Baltimore, where they can at least enjoy the privilege of taking their own money with them.

All the necessary articles of life are more expensive here than in any other city, and the price of labor is so high, that it is difficult to get on. The price of bread and water, still, the propensity for luxuries and fine apparel, knows no abatement. If not the best dressed, the Americans are the most dressy people in the world.

The competition in this respect is so great, that it is not only necessary for a man to be well dressed, but to be well dressed in a particular style. The price of a pair of respectable boots is now $10, and a pair of fine boots $20. The price of a pair of respectable shoes is now $5, and a pair of fine shoes $10.

WORMS! WORMS!

A great many learned treatises have been written, explaining the origin and classifying the worms generated in the human system. Scarcely any topic of medical science has elicited more observation and profound research; and yet physicians are very much divided in opinion on the subject.

It must be admitted, however, that, after all, a mode of expelling these worms, and purifying the body from their presence, is of more value than the wisest dispositions as to the origin. The expelling agent has at length been found—Dr. M'LANE'S Vermifuge is the much sought after medicine, and has already superseded all other worm medicines, its efficacy being universally acknowledged by medical practitioners.

Purchasers will please be careful to ask for Dr. M'LANE'S Celebrated Liver Pills, and take none else. There are other Pills, purporting to be Liver Pills, now before the public. Dr. M'LANE'S Liver Pills, also his Celebrated Vermifuge, can now be had at all respectable Drug Stores in the United States and Canada, and at PESCUD'S.

REPORT OF THE NORFOLK MARKET.

FORWARDED TO THE REGISTER, BY A. M. McPHEETERS & CO., Wholesale Grocers, Forwarding and Commission Merchants, 6 Rankin Square.

The market for Corn is very unsteady; we hear of no sales to-day. The steamer's news has caused a decline in the ideas of buyers. B. E. Peas—We quote at $1.08—arriving more by sea.

No change in the market for Groceries since our last report, except in Molasses, which has advanced 27 cents for sweet Cuba. Lino—Tannan $14; W. C. $11. Guano—None in market. Dried Fruit—Nutmeg, at $1.20 for Apple, $2.00 for Peaches. N. C. $1.00. Norfolk, 25th Oct., 1853.

WILMINGTON MARKETS.

Sales of country produce have been extremely light for two days passed; consequently our market for pork is very meagre. Turpentine and Spirits have declined considerably since our last report.

TURPENTINE.—Sales of Turpentine have been made as follows, viz: 217 bbls. (Virgin and Yellow Dip) at $3.70 per bbl., and 128 do. at $3.80 per bbl., and Hard Turpentine, $2 a $2.50 per bbl.

SPRITS.—TURPENTINE—114 bbls. changed hands at 60 cents per gallon, barrels included, and about 1,000 bbls. at 55 cents per gallon, barrels charged.

ROSKIN AND TAR.—No sales of either that we heard of. LUMBER AND TIMBER.—No sales reported of either.

CORN.—No late arrivals of Corn, the supply in store is yet fully equal to the demand. Commercial, Oct. 22.

FAYETTEVILLE MARKET.

There has been but little change the past week in any article of produce. Cotton has a downward tendency, and sales have been made at about quotations.

Sales of Corn have been made at 75 cents. Flour is in good demand at quotations, say $5.50, $5.75 and $6. Wheat—Turpentine $4 to 50 cents per gallon. Raw Turpentine $2.25 to $3.50 per bbl. (Carolinian, 22nd).

PETERSBURG MARKETS.

October 22, 1853. Flour.—The mills are doing very little, and light receipts from the country, (both on account of the low state of the river,) keeps the stock of flour very small. We continue to quote country brands at $6.75, City brands $7.25, $7.50, and Family at $8.88 50.

Wheat.—The market is very unsettled, and prices trending downwards. We make irregular quotations at $1.25 to $1.40 as to quality, for both red and white.

Tobacco.—There is but little doing in tobacco. Corn.—There has declined from 70 to 60. Cotton is dull, with a downward tendency.

FOR THE YOUTH.

In order to save both time, trouble, and expense to mothers, I have introduced into my establishment a lot of Boy's Ready Made Clothing, to which the attention of the Ladies is very respectfully called.

Encouraged by this success, and to keep my stock replenished, weekly, with the latest and most approved styles and fashions. I continue, as usual, the manufacture of garments; and having in my employ, first rate workmen, I promise to give satisfaction, both in quality of goods, and workmanship.

Gentlemen who furnish their own goods, may rely on having their work as well done, as if I furnished them.

Cutting done promptly. To my former patron, who have stood by me for so long a time, I return my sincere thanks, and humbly trust to merit a continuance of their favors, by strict attention to business.

ROBINSON & ELDER'S

GREAT FAVORITE SOUTHERN CIRCUIT, AND SANDS, QUICK & CO'S STUNNING COLLECTION OF WILD ANIMALS.

The Company will exhibit at Warrenton, Wednesday Nov. 2nd, Admission 50 cts. Children and Strangers half price. ESP. Henderson Depot, Thursday Nov. 3rd. Frankfort, Friday Nov. 4th. Louisville, Saturday 5th. Raleigh, Monday and Tuesday, 7 and 8th. Hours open 12 and 6 P. M. Performance commences at 1 and 7 P. M.

But value given in the study of the splendid specimens of Living Animals—the hearty laugh created by the sportive jests of the world-renowned Circus—is a superior entertainment, and the Magnificent Arena Entertainments, for every dime you pay out.

COME and see the only living specimen in America of the huge WHITE or POLAR BEAR—weighing 700 pounds, white as a snow drift, more ferocious than even the Tiger, and untamable as the Hyena. This splendid and curious specimen in animated nature excites attention and demands the interest of thousands of visitors, who throng to embrace the only opportunity it is likely they may ever have of seeing and examining so near as the Magnificent Arena Entertainments, for every dime you pay out.

COME and see the only living specimen in America of the Jet or Coal Black Indian TIGER, an animal so uncommon as to be of enormous rarity. Ancient Naturalists speak of the Black Tiger as existing, but no imagination than reality, but modern authors—no scientific research, and not only proved the truth of his existence, but have produced a specimen of his Genus, which is to be found in this beautiful collection and nowhere else—come and see him.

COME and see the great War Elephant Bolivar, weighing 14,000 pounds, 11 ft high, perfectly docile, and the best performing Elephant in the world. Bolivar was captured by the British from the Sikhs, at the battle of the Punjab, transported to England, and sold to the late Earl of Derby, and at the demise of the Earl, he was purchased for $15,000, and placed in this collection.

COME and see the only specimen of the GRIZZLY BEAR California ever exhibited in the Southern States—a scientific research, and by Naturalists until within the past few years. He is wonderfully ferocious, and attains so monstrous a size, that they have already been imported weighing 1200 pounds.

QUEENS OF THE FOREST.

The superb Lions and Lionesses, attached to this establishment, are graciously caged, full of life and animation, they present a splendid natural spectacle.

COME and see the greatest variety of mischievous Monkeys and Baboons ever exhibited—full of tricks, grimaces, and fun—they are a perpetual source of amusement.

COME and see the wonderful nondescript, half Leopard and half Tiger—a huge animal of tremendous strength and ferocity, presumed to be the only "chance" animal of the kind in existence. Come and see the beautiful and strictly Apocryphal of the East—the great bearded spotted Ocelot of the desert, and the beautiful spotted Ocelot of Mexico and Peru—the brightly Kangaroo, of New Holland, and the gorgeous and beautiful Arabian Gazelle—also a scientific research, and spotted Hyenas—the white Porcupine Gold and Silver Pheasants, the Adjutant or Fabled Stork—and be sure to come and see this.

BLACK AND WHITE SWANS.

together with a host of other smaller specimens too numerous to mention.
