THE EXPECTED STEAMER.

The Pacific has not yet arrived at New York. If she sailed on her regular day, Saturday, the 24th ult., she would now be in her twenty-first day out, but as it is believed with good reason that she did not sail on that day, no great alarm is occasioned by her non arrival.

stuffs were also depressed. The Cabinet has been remodelled, with no important change, except that Lord John Russell is made Colonial Secretary.

It is officially announced by the Allied Armies, that on the 17th of February, General Liprandi, at the head of 40,000 Russians, and with seventy-four guns, attacked the Turks at Eupatoria. Omar Pasha commanded the latter. The battle lasted four hours, and the Russians were forced to retire with a loss of 500 men.

Sebastopol still remains the same.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRES.

We have accounts from various directions of the country, of the spread of alarming fires in the woods. Elsewhere we publish an extract from a Columbia paper, showing the great damage done along the line of the S. C. Road. The Augusta and Savannah papers state that the fires have been raging through the pine land, doing very serious injury to the plantations, fencing, &c. A steam saw and grist mill, valued at $8,000, near Hamburg, was destroyed. Two negroes have been burnt. The Fayetteville Observer states that the fires have also been raging near that place. We quote:

There are reports of the destruction of other houses, but none we can rely on. The residences of John D. Eccles, Esq., of Dr. Wm. P. Mallett, of Wm. S. Mallett, Esq., were saved with great difficulty. We understand that the fire extended from Moore county to and beyond this place, say 30 or 40 miles, and about 36 miles down the river. The loss of wood, of fences, and of turpentine boxes, is very heavy.

Mrs. Huske and Mr. Sandford were insured for $1,000 each, in the N. C. Mutual. This will not near cover their loss. The dwelling, crib and outhouses of Abso-

They must be aware that in the public capacity in which they present themselves, they can earn nothing but ridicule, and that the honors they would shower on Mr. Soule would but deepen the distrust with which the intelligent public sentiment of the country already regards him.

The Penny Post has an editorial upon the "Progress of Sam." AN ELASTIC PRINCIPLE.

The United Democracy of New York have gone the whole figure with the " Mouroe doctrine," by stretching its application to the islands of the Pacrific and to China. At the great meeting of Wednesday last, in the city of New York, the following resolution, among others, was passed by acclamation and with

Resolved, That the Union Democracy of New York, adhering to the true American doctrine of Monroe, repudiate any line of Governmental policy which does not resist, to the extent of the 'life and fortunes" of the nation, all European interference with the affairs of this continent, and which will not resent to the utmost the encroachments which are sought to be made by the Allied Powers of Western Europe in China,

It is such sperlative nonsense as this, uttered at party meetings and sent forth as the sentiment of the country, which subjects us to the contempt of other nations. Demagogues make the mistake of thinking that nothing but abourd extravagancies are suited to the popular taste. National Intelligencer.

NEW YORK, March, 13, 1855. The assembly of democrats at the Tammany Wigwam, (that old stronghold of political corruption,) which tock place night before last, having proved a failure, it reveals the fact prefty well known before, that the family quarrel is not to be made up. The old adage is still true, proxima accrrima, "the nearer the kin, the greater the spite." It was foreseen by the hards to be a trick of the softs, and a trap set by the administration. Prudent and well known democrats, therefore, who were in the city, such men, for instance, as Gen. Cass and F. P. Stanton, of Tenn., would have nothing to do with it and would not disgrace themselves by attendhave very little definite information, nor do we ing. The locofocos may console themselves with the hopes of seeing a good Whig govern ment in power for the next Presidential term, and may perpetuate their quarrels as long as they please. They cannot serve their country

so effectually in any other way.
In addition to more ceremonious entertain ments given by fashionables in this city, it is quite common to give petits soupers, such as oyster parties, to a small select few. On one of these occasions, a few evenings since, it was discovered late in the evening, that the party consisted of thirteen persons, and quite a consternation was occasioned by it, as it prognosticated a death or a marriage before the end of the year. In London and Paris, there are men called Quarto-ziemes, or fourteenth men, who are always in full toilet prepared to be called upon at any moment to attend such parties and dispel the unlucky illulusion. For, although there are two alternatives in the oracular proverb, yet the chances of falling into the hands of Pluto prependerate greatly over those of getting into the arms of Hymen. When our population has increased rather more, it may hold out inducements to some fourteenth men to set up in this line of business. The superstition is an ancient one, and its origin, like that of saying " God bless you," after is certain, will be just as good as though the sneezing, is lost in the remoteness of antiquity. The sneezing custom prevails much more in Europe than in this country, and Pliny in his Republic. The Illinois, we learn, brings among | Natural History, and Noissolle in his Problems,

It is much to be deired that this laudable scheme might be pushed through, for singers and musicians should be content with more moderate pay, and work like other people at living prices. Ole Bull failed after two or three trials, and had to give up. Perseverance would only have entailed ruin upon him, and as he is already ruined in Pennsylvania, there was no necessity of being nined in New York. Our Yankee cousins held what they call a Festival," at the Astor House last evening. They seek every opportunity of whipping the devil round the stump, for this festival is nothing more nor less than a ball. The ballroom and passage ways, as well as the staircase, were all decorated with parti-colored drapery, and flowers in scences and vases. The assemplage was brilliant and lively, and the New England maidens were beautiful and attractive. Happy people! They have monopolized this city to the exclusion almost of all other races, and possess it just as much as the Chinese do Canton and Shanghae, and like the Chinese, they look upon all the rest of the world as intruders and outside barbarians. It adds greatly to their wealth and power, as well as to their pleasure and enjoyment, and gives them the great advantage of tacking on the great Empire State to the six little pedagogue and fanatical provinces of New England. The great study at the South should be to learn how to checkmate these people, and in some future letter I hope to show how it can be done. Terpsichore presided at the festival, but St. Jonathan's Day, when the great dinner comes off, is on 22d December. Besides this festival last evening, the Light Guard troops had a grand ball at the Academy of Music; seven theatres were open and crowded; the nonsensical Ethiopain Operas, four in number, were all in operation, and innumerable private parties throughout the city were given. At Wallack's theatre, where genteel comedy is always played, Bouricault's admirable piece of "Old Heads and Young Hearts" was played, in which, in fine contrast, were represented the manners of a simple country genleman, called Jessa Rural, and the military flourishes of Colonel Rockett, who trains up his daughter in the etiquette of soldierly life. The l Artful Dodger was the afterpiece, in which Old Harding, a plain citizen, denies the hand of his daughter to Mr. Henry Love, because the latter cannot produce his father, who has gone to India. The Artful Dodger, ever ready for an turn, personates the father in disguise, and so Street sweeping machines have made their appearance here. Brooms are attached to a kind of box or cart drawn by horses and the

It is a sort of scavenger month, intended to sweep away the accumulated dirt of winter and to put the household of earth in order for the festal approach of Spring.

The Stormy March is come at last, With wind, and cloud, and changing skie;, hear the rushing of the blast, That through the snowy valley flies.
