AMERICAN RATIFICATION MASS MEETING.

We have neither time nor space, to-day, to give more than a very cursory account of the great American Mass Meeting which assembled in this city, on yesterday, (Thursday.) Considering the intense heat of the weather and the busy season of the year, the attendance was not only most gratifyingly large, but it was remarkable. There could not have been less than twelve or fifteen hundred persons present .representing every portion of the District, and animated by a spirit of enthusiasm, of energy, and of hope, which, if they do not prove the precursors of immediate success, are still strongly indicative of the deep and powerful hold which the great political Reformation of the day has taken upon the American mind, and are guarantees of its ultimate triumph.

The Committee appointed to nominate officers for the occasion recommended, through Maj. W F. Collins, the following, which were unaimiously approved, viz :

PRESIDENT, DR. WESLEY HEARTSFIELD, of Wake.

VICE PRESIDENTS, JNO. E. THOMAS, of Franklin, D. A. PASCHALL, of Granville, THOMAS J. HOLT, of Warren, A. D. NORTHAM, of Johnston, WALTER A. THOMPSON, of Orange, J. ROBERT JEFFREYS, of Wake, JOHN HAYES, of Wake.

SECRETARIES, J. A. BULLOCK, of Granville,

J. Y. STINSON, of Franklin, WILLIAM F. ASKEW, of Wake.

The reader who will look over this list of officers will be somewhat puzzled to make out how an organization, which embraces within it so many who have been heretofore strong and | his character ! decided partisans of the so-called Democratic school, can be "a Whig concern in disguise !"

The officers thus designated having assumed their places upon the platform, several letters from gentlemen who had been invited to attend the meeting, but who were prevented from doing so, were read. We select from the num-BADGER and the Hon. Jno. H. BRYAN. The letter of the former gives the lie to the rumor that has been been so industriously circulated that he has expressed himself adversely to the American party. It is explicit, decided, most satisfactory. The letter of Mr. Bry-AN, too, goes the full length of the doctrines of ments, eloquently expressed. RALEIGH, July 18th, 1855. GENTLEMEN: —I feel obliged and honored by yeur invitation to attend and address a meeting, to be held to morrow, of the friends of the American party, to ratify the platform of principles recently adopted by the National Council at Philadelphia. I cannot, for reasons not necessary to be stated, comply with your request, approve, and will zealously sustain, the platreason, to refuse what is desired at my hands by so many fellow citizens, who have strong claims to my respectful regard. One thing, however, it is due to you and to myself to say, and that is, that I am influenced. by no hostility to the American party or its principles. On the contrary, I concur in almost every position laid down by the Philadelphia Council,—their platform, in the main, meets my hearty approval; and if I live, and am able to get to the polls on the second of August, I shall most certainly, and most willingly, cast my vote for Mr. Shepard, the nominee of the

To H. W. MILLER and others, Committee. RALEIGH, July 10th, 1855.

GENTLEMEN :- I received your note of yesterday, by which I am invited to address a Mass Meeting of pitizens, to be held here on the 19th inst., for the purpose of ratifying the platform of principles recently adopted at Philadelphia by the American party. I have been so long withdrawn from the turmoil of public life, and so little-accustomed, of late, to swallow the dust (not always Olympic.) of the political arena, that I must decline making a public address on the occasion you mention. Besides, I should doubt very much my physical ability to address a large crowd in the open air, at this very hot season of the year, for a time long enough to express my views satisfactorily to them or to myself.

Among the great objects of this party, are (as understand) to redeem and exalt the National character.-to secure to the native American he predominance and control in the government of his country,-to preserve the Constitution inviolate, - to secure the integrity and perpetuity of the Union,-and to establish upon a firm basis the constitutional rights of the South, without impairing those of any other section of the Union. These are certainly objects of argain we say : BEWARE OF THE TRICES OF THE | dent desire to every American patriot and states-

The great questions of foreign influence and Southern domestic institutions are those which now agitate and injuriously disturb our country, and they should be met and examined in a spirit of enlightened patriotism, with a due regard to the Constitution of the United States, and our own rights and safety.

With respect to the foreign influence which vailing, and has been attended with such permen will be in attendance, to wit: Messrs. I think this is a game utterly unworthy of a successor of the illustrious Washington, and must needs contract to the smallest dimensions the mind employed in such ignoble pursuits.

The rights of citizenship have always been regarded by all enlightened States as of great value and importance. To be a Roman citizen was highly prized by the great apostle of the Gentiles, and he did not hesitate, with a just thought of participating in its government, but gated by a national party in this country bepride, to claim his rights, and invoke the ma- for the purpose of being protected by its just fore? This right was frequently bought at a great price, and bestowed for eminent services; and so jealously was it guarded, that he, who falsely claimed it, incurred the penalty of deacher England it is treasured as a rich inheritance, of which its possessor is justly proud; and from the remotest quarter of the Globe, whether from Libyan sands or Siberian snows, the Briton turns his expiring gaze "to the fast anchored Isle," and dies the more content, if his head is pillowed on his country's flag.

Why should not American citizenship be regarded with equal or greater devotion and affection? Because it has, of late years, been huckstered and hawked about, and made an article of trade in party politics, until it has become so cheap, that every renegado and outcast

It is said that when Napoleon Bonaparts was about embarking for Egypt, he met some young Americans, and congratulated them upon being citizens of the Republic, and countrymen of Washington; and no doubt their hearts leaped with joy and swelled with honest pride at such a salutation. ican principles. Resolved, That the thanks of this meeting are due and are hereby tendered to the Delegates from this State in the Philadelphia convention, for their zeal and assiduity in the support of American nationality, American Protestanism, American Union and the Constitutional rights of the South.

These resolutions were adopted with enthuiastic acclamation.

Mr. MILLER next proceeded to address the multitude, and for three hours enchained their most earnest and undivided attention. His effort was worthy of him, and that is high praise enough. A more thorough acquaintance with facts, a more logical series of deductions, a more elevated tone of sentiment or more frequent outbursts of genuine eloquence have distinguished no speech of the times. It is, of course, impossible for us to attempt even the most meagre that is accomplished, it has but little care for abstract of the remarks of Mr. MILLER, or, in- what may ensue. After Mr. MILLER had concluded, an ample and bountiful dinner (to which all seemed disposed to do ample justice,) was served up.

On returning to the stand, loud calls from the crowd brought W. N. ALLEN, Esq., to the stand. Mr. A., it will be remembered, is the gentleman who recently addressed the excellent and patriotic letter (which we had the pleasure have for selfish ends flattered, cajoled, and traof publishing,) to the Postmaster General, declining to hold office any longer under so corrupt an Administration. THE "STANDARD."

CITY OF RALEIGH, WEDNESDAY MORNING, JULY 25, 1855.

We alluded, incidentally, in our issue of the 14th inst., to the course which the so-called Democratic press of the South, and its abolition allies, are pursuing towards the American partv. We stated that the "Standard," particular ly, and its Northern comrades, understood each other perfectly; that the game was to denounce Americanism at the North as pro slavery in its tendencies, in order to conciliate the anti slavery sentiment of that section, -and, on the other hand, to denounce it as opposed to slavery, in the South, in order to alarm the sensitiveness of slave holders in regard to their occuliar rights and interests.

Now, in reference to the "Standard," we do not wish to be misunderstood. We have no idea that it is governed by any fixed and definite course of principle or of policy, except that of interest, one way or the other. We do not believe that it is bona fide abolitionist in its tendencies and feelings, or that its affiliation with men of that stripe, in their warfare against the American party, is based on any special hatred it has for the South. It sees that it is only by abolition fanaticism that the triumph of Americanism can be arrested in the North, and, so Abolition is, unquestionably, the great anagonist of Americanism. It is a more formi dable adversary than either the Foreign or Roman Catholic elements. The deep feelings of Nationality and Protestantism are strong enough, in every portion of our country, to contend with the letter, but wonel politicians ded with, Abolition, until it has become an element of immense strength, most potent for

They have now proclaimed open and unrelenting warfare against it, and the "Standard" is with them cheek by jowl. Does that press not know that the safety and strength of the South consist in union, in confidence one in another, that in any crisis involving our rights, there will be no divisions or discords among us? And yet, is not the "Standard" daily weakening us, by saying to the abolitionists of the North, that half of the people of North Carolina are with them in their wicked designs? Is it not daily producing distraction among us here at home, by charging us with being divided in regard to our rights? Does the "Standard" wish to encourage abolitionists, by telling them, that half the people of this State are allied with them? Does it the horrid and awful scenes of St. Domingo will find aiders and abettors here in our very midst? We have warned the "Standard" before that-to say nothing of its utter disregard in another column, exposes, in proper style, the of the courtesies of political warfare-its course. calumnious and mendacious statements contain- in charging a large portion of the best and most ed in the professed report of the discussion at conservative men of the State, with being the son of Col. We say again to the "Standard," beware how you thus, in the fury of your party rage, trifle with such delicate questions,-how you thus tamper with the laws! We again commend to it a consideration of the penalties for such misconduct named in the Revised Statutes, ch. 34, sec. 17, vol. 1, page 194, and advise it to take warning of its fears!

ABOLITIONISM vs. AMERICANISM,- | THE AMERICAN PARTY IN NEW YORK.

Though not surprised, we are nevertheless deeply gratified, to learn from the Herald, that the discordant elements in the American party of New York have been harmonized upon the Philadelphia platform. The Herald, of Saturday last, says: "The American Fusion Convention has been in session in this city during this week. This Convention included over one hundred delegates, representatives of all the American Orders. The Convention unanimously resolved to support the platform as adopted at Philadelphia, and the Know Nothing State ticket, and adjourned to meet on the third Tuesday in September. This is a good beginning, and shows that New York is still sound on national questions, and that the American party will be national and conservative or nothing. There is no half way about it. In politics, as well as in religion, the maxim, 'he that is not with me is against me', is a truth which cannot be gainticinations of the Southern locofoco press in regard to the New York Americans have been dissipated into thin air. These much mously ratified and endorsed the pro-slavery Philadelphia platform, and, in that act, have given indisputable evidence of their devotion to the Constitution and their soundness upon all the prominent and vital issues affecting the rights of the South. They have thus gone, says the Richmond Whig, farther than even Southern Democrats themselves, in any national convention of their party. They have declared their achesion, frankly and boldly, to the strongest States rights platform ever published to the country. They avow in unequivocal terms that the Fugitive Slave law shall be executed in good faith-that the Kansas Nebraska act shall remain undisturbed—that the principle of non-intervention in the Territories is the true one -that Congress shall not touch slavery in the District of Columbia-and that Congress has no power to reject a State applyrecognizes slavery as a part of its social system or not. These are the great and saving principles which the American party of the Empire stock of said bank. Terms made known on day State promptly and cordially endorse, and which of sale. they solemnly pledge themselves to sustain and carry out to their legitimate results. Thus constituting themselves, right under the nose and eye of Seward, and in the face of the most formidable and reckless opposition, a body guard for the preservation of the Constitution, the Union, and the Rights of the States! Where, amid all the Democratic hosts at the North, except the handful of Hards, has such an example been known of patriotism and fearless fidelity to principle? And yet these men are denounced and abused as pick pockets by the ocefoco presses and politicians at the South, who have, over and over again, sold out the rights of their section for the spoils of office, and stand ready to part with them again, when ever the consideration offered is deemed ade-

son, containing.

Mississippi, within five miles of the Jackson and 1120 Acres, all under good fence, of which 900 scres are cleared, and the balance well timbered. Its advantages are almost unrivalled in position, fertility of soil, splendid bettom land, and fine adaptation to the production of corn and cotton-upwards of 300 bales of cetton, and 6000 bushels of corn, having been made on the place in a year. Its pasture lands are unsurpassed, for grass, cane, and never failing water; and considering the market, for butter, beef, and mutton, at the seat of government, is of itself a great source of revenue. And then its improvements, with paled garden, two cisterns, iwelling house with brick chimneys, cabins for 100 negroes, with plank floors and rafter roofs. gin house, horse mill, cotton press, &c., &c., make t one of the most valuable estates in the country. Possession given on the first of January next

To any one who may wish to buy the plantstion privately, my terms shall be liberal, which may be known by application to my brother, General Patrick Henry, who resides near the premises. He can have the option to take the provisions, stock, &c., on the place, at a fair price; otherwise, I will sell on a credit of twelve months, at the same time and place, 20 or 80 likely mules, about 100 head of cattle, 150 stock hogs, 190 head of sheep, corn, fodder, peas, and potatoes, and farming utensils of every description. G. A. HENRY. Of Clarksville, Tennessee June 5, 1855.

Plymouth, N. C., July 10, 1855 55 44 Prime Merino Stock for Sale.

HE undersigned, Wool Growers and breeders of genuine Merino Stock, offer for sale about 50 Merine Buck Lumbs at their residence, which will be ready for delivery on and after the first of September. Also 7 young Bucks. The lambs the first premiums at every State Fair in N. Y. and Va. at which they have been exhibited. Evidence of which can be given whenever desired .-The Lambs are from Ewes of fine quality, as evidence of which, the clip from them in 1854 sold as high in Richmond as any clip we have heard of in the United States for the same year. Mr. Lawrence, the greatest Woollen Manufacturer in the United States, Lowell, Massachusetts, has given our wool the preference over the Northern. he having purchased it last year and already made application for it again. We make no extra charge for boxing up, in a secure manner, any stock ordered, and put them on the James River Canal or the Danville Railroad, accompanied by proper instructions for feeding and management; out in no case will we be liable for accidents .-The money in all cases to accompany the order: also instructions as to the route and point of desination. The price of our first choice lambs is $15, the second $10, grown Bucks $25.

The transportation is much cheaper when a club is formed and a large number sent at once .-When 10 or more are ordered to go in a parcel, THEODORE N. DAVISSON &

Jefferson, Powhatan County, Va. July 13, 1855. ATER POWER ON NEUSE BIVER, EIGHT MILES EAST OF RALEIGH, AND FOUR FROM THE CENTRAL RAILBOAD. The subscriber is desirous to sell his water power across the Neuse River, known as the Stone and Cobb Mills, where there is an abundance of water at all seasons of the year, and a sufficient supply of rock at the old dam to build a new one. Ten feet of water can be obtained with a dam eight feet high. Should it be preferred to form a Company for manufacturing purposes, I am willing to become a member with a good and substantial Company of gentlemen. If a Company is formed, it is desirous that it should be done soon, as I have this day begun to re-build the old dam across the river. WM. R. POOLE.
