These things that thrust themselves betwixt their hopes and Richmond Whig on the subject, which fully agree will continue until the people discard from their the day of their realization. They would spur with our own.

"The idea of nominating candidates for the Presidency and Vice-Presidency nine or ten months before the day of election is so utterly absurd and stupid, and so contrary to all precedent, that we have never been able to understand how the Philadelphia Convention of June last could have entertained it for a moment. If one thing is more certain than another, it is that the commonest policy requires that no party should heedlessly precipitate a nomination of Presidential candidates-experience having invariably proved it best to have a short, but active and energetic canvass

If the object of appointing delegates to the Convention on the 22d of February, is for them to attend in order to urge and secure a postponement of the nomination of the candidates towa later day, then we see no serious impropriety in the thing. But suppose the Convention in February should determine not to postpone, but proceed, at once, to the selection of nominees. Are we to understand that the delegates from Virginia and other States, which have expressed a preference for holding the convention about the first of June, are expected to acquiesce in this decision, and participate in the proceedings of the conven-tion and the choice of candidates? We ask only for information, not knowing the feelings and purposes of the Councils, or what they mean to require of the delegates, who may attend on the 22nd of February. It is certainly proper, we think, that their constituents should have some intelligible and just idea as to the course to be pursued by their representatives in the important matter of selecting Presidential candidates. unless it is their wish that they should go without instruction, and to act in accordance with their own individual judgment and discretion.

Our idea is, that it would be far more convenient and proper for the President of the National Council, or for the American members of Congress, to undertake on behalf of the party to designate the time and place for the holding of the Convention. To put the delegates from every State in the Union to the trouble of going to Philadelphia in February, just to adjourn the Convention over to June, seems to us wholly unnecsssary-especially when the same thing can be done by men just as well qualified, and who are equally well apprised of the public sentiment of the party in reference to this question.

We should consider it the very worst policy in the world to make nominations for the Presidency and Vice-Presidency as early as the 22d of February. And we do hope and trust that those having authority in the thing will conclude to defer the whole matter until several months la-

SOLDIERS OF THE WAR OF 1812. A meeting of the Soldiers of the War of 1812, residing in Wake county. was held at Raleigh, on Wednesday, 12th instant, for the purpose of making arrangements to send Delegates to the National Convention, to assemble at Washington City on the ensuing anniversary of the Battle of New Orleans ; when, on motion of Wm. Thompson, Col. Willis Whitaker was called to the Chair, and, on motion of James Litchford, Alex. J. Lawrence appointed Secretary. The Chairman thereupon explained the object of the

No better evidence should be needed of the pure nationality of the American party than the acknowledgment of the leading organ of sectional Republicanism that it is the great oppo-

service all professional politicians, and commit | them on, if they could, and fling upon them the sense and chatacter, taken from their midst.

The "Louisville Journal," whose language we adopt, says the recent elections have demon- whilst it has disappointed many, and flung the strated that the only national, conservative political organization in the Union is the American party. It has holdly and fearlessly met the issue. It has confronted the Abolition Republican party and defeated it. It has manifested its its tramp, destroys one edifice, it builds another of strength and its determination to stand by the Union and the constitution and to oppose all sectionalism. With it the anti-slavery prejudices of the North are made secondary to the great interests of the whole nation. The New York Tribune, the great advocate of Abolitionism, the right bower of the sectional Republican party, thus speaks of the composition of the Americanparty : :

"Whatever may be the fact elsewhere, Pro-Slaver Hunkerism is here a ruling idea with the contrivers and managers of the self-styled "American" party. Of the One Hundred Thousand voters who sustained the Hard-Shell Democratic ticket in 1858, more than half are this day members of Know-Nothing lodges, and voted for Headly & Co. in our late election. Hence, in part, the slim vote for Bronson last year, and for all the Hards not on the Liquor ticket this year. With these are united out Silver Gravs, with scarcely an exception ; and these congenial souls under foot. rule the "order" without fear of resistance to their schemes. Hatred of Seward and "Sewardism" is their leading common impulse ; and two-thirds of our Whig magnates of ten to twenty years ago are now deep in "Sam's" counsels, trusting thereby to accomplish the downfall of the man they most envy and hate." The Anti-American party of the South is wont. to point to the position of the New York Hard Shell Democrats as an evidence of. the soundness of their party upon the subject of slavery. Here we have an explanation of the weakness of this conservative action of the Democratic party, and at the same time an evidence of the real conservatism of the American party.

Seward is the head and front of the abolition organization. His peculiar organ places the union of the conservative Whigs and Democrats upon the ground of hatred to this great leader of Abolitionism, but the fact is conceded that the American party, which has recently demonstrated its ability to overcome all opposition in New York and Massachusetts, is composed of national, Union loving men, who are unwilling to prostrate themselves before the Juggernaut of Abolitionism, and sacrifice all the greatest interests of the country, the Constitution, and the Union itself, to the overweening ambition of Wm. H. Seward, and his coterie of Freesoil demagogues. posed was withdrawn. On the sixth and last ballot the vote was as follows-the management of public matters to men of dust of flying feet. They are walking downward to the past eternity, and flout out upon its shoreless sea. The last month of 1855! Let it go, the bleak rear-guard of one more year, that, crown of beauty and glory over thousands, has, nevertheless, poured a torrent of light upon the world. Science, art and literature, are benefitted . and the whole world enlightened. If Time, in more magnificent proportions. It builds a tomb for the departed ; it rears a palace for the living. It is stated by a Washington correspondent, that Richardson's vote for Speaker consists of fifty-three Southern Democrats, eight Southern Whigs and Americans, and thirteen Northern Democrats. Who are those other Northern Democrats voting for? Another correspondent tells us they are anxious for the election of Banks, of Massachusetts-a notorious Freesoiler. We call the Standard's attention to this little ugly fact.

The Charleston Mercury is still violenty opposing the suggestion that South Carolina hould send delegates to the Cincinnati Democratic Convention. It thinks the South is again to be betrayed by high sounding professions, and will surely be forgotten, as heretofore, and trampled
