ARRIVAL OF MR. FILLMORE.

The Steamer ATLANTIC, which arrived at New York on Sunday night last, brought among its passengers MILLARD FILLMORE. After an extended tour through Europe, where he has seen many men and cities, and observed the working of monarchical machineries, from the constitutional government of England to the absolute despotism of Austria, this eminent statesman returns to the land over whose interests he once presided with so much ability and dignity, with a quickened love for its social and political institutions and a patriotism undiminished for the United States in their whole length and breadth Mr. Fillmore is pre-eminently an American, in the full significance of that proud name. His affections are bounded by no geographical limits, and play wi'hin no narrow parochial circuit,-Sectional politicians may well repudiate his recent nomination for the Presidency, for he is not of them. The Union, from the Lakes to the Gulf, and from ocean to ocean, is his country, and over whatever distant strip of territory the flag of the Union floats, there he recognizes the soil of the Republic.

We give, in another column, the details of his reception, so far as they have come to hand,-The enthusiastic nature of it is a striking evi dence of the hold he has obtained upon the affections of the people. The brief speech in which he responded to the words of welcome with which he was greeted affords us a clear insight into the character of the man. It embraced within the scope of his political policy no "pent up Utiea." but the whole domain of the United States .-"If there be those," said he, "either North or South who desire an administration for the North as against the South, or for the South as against the North, they are not the men who should give their suffrages to me. For my own part, I know only my country, my whole country, and nothing but my country." Golden words these, worthy of the manly mind that uttered them, and indicative of the natriotic purposes by which he is actuated. Millar! Fillmore has at once confronted the true issue, justifies the implicit faith we have ever entertained in his pure conservatism, and entitles him to be regarded as superior to either of the other candidates in those qualities, the possession to the integrity of the Union.

THE BLACK MOUNTAIN,-Professor Mitchell of the University of N. C., has published a letter in the Asheville Spectator, "in which he shows very conclusively, but which he proposes to render still more certain, in a subsequent communi cation, that the peak of the Black Mountain which Mr. Clingman claims the credit to have originally discovered, last Fall, as the highest of the series, is identical with that discovered by himself, and published at the time as the highest.

BUCHANAN ON THE EXTENSION OF SLAVERY .-- 1 The Southern States are called upon to support Mr. Buchanan for the Presidency; but befere doing so, it would be well for them to ascertain his rights. His acceptance of the Cincinnati platform | State:affords no evidence of fidelity to Southern interests; and the record of his whole life should be searched, if we would understand the principles by which he has been governed. He has varied his course so frequently to suit his interests, that his professions of attachment to Southern interests at the present moment, when he is in want of Southern votes to make him President, are to be distrusted. Let us see what were his opinions as to the extension of slavery to the territories and his sentiments as to the admission of additional slave States into the Union, at a time when he gave expression to his feelings freely and without an eye to any preferment other than could be conferred by the State of Pennsylvania, For this purpose we submit the following authenticated proceedings, which took place in Lancaster in the forest." WILL it, and it WILL BE 1819, when the country was agitated by the question of admitting Missouri into the Union as a slave State. It will be seen that Mr. Buchanan was one of a committee which drafted resolutions against "" the existence of slavery in any of the territories or new States, which may be erected by Congress." We ask Southern people to read and reflect, whether a man who could then sanction such resolutions, can now be the incere advocate of the extension of Southern institutions! OPPOSITION TO SLAVERY.

LANCASTER, PA., Nov. 27, 1819. At a large and enthusiastic meeting of citizens held in the court house, in the city of Lancaster, on Tuesday, the 24th inst., convened pursuant o public notice, calling on them to take into condideration and to consult on such measures as

The object of the meeting being fully explained was moved and seconded, that a committee of three persons be apointed to frame resolutions, expressive of the sense of the present meeting. Thereupon James Hopkins, James Buchanan and William Jenkins were appointed a committee

The people of this State, pursuing the beneficence of the great Founder of Pennsylvania, first gave effect to the gradual ab-lition of slavery by a National Act, which has not only rescued the unhappy and helpless African within their Territory, from the demoralizing influence of Slavery, but ameliorated his state and condiwhereas, it would illy comport with these humane and Christian efforts to be silent spectators, when this great cause of humanity is about to be agitated in Congress by fixing the destiny of the new domains of the U. Resolved, As the opinion of this meeting,-That as the Legislature of this State will shortly be in session, it will be highly deserving their wisdow and patriotism to take into their early and most serious consideration the propriety of instructing our Representatives in the National Legislature to use the most zealous and strenuous exertions to inhibit the existence of slavery in any of the Territories or States which may hereafter be created by Congress; and that the members of Assembly from this county be requested to embrace the earliest opportunity of bringing the subject before both Houses of the Legislature Resolved, That, in the opinion of this meeting the members of Cougress, who, at the last session sustained the cause of justice, humanity, and patriotism, in opposing the introduction of Slavery into the State, then endeavored to be formed out of the Missonri Territory, are entitled to the warmest thanks of every friend of humanity. Resolved, That the proceedings of this meeting be published in the newspapers of this city.

MR. FILLMOBE, according to some of his Southern opponents, being a rank abolitionist, it follows as a necessary deduction from the premises, that all the Abolitionists in the country should be violently opposed to him, and should be moving heaven and earth, by all sorts of combinations and fusions, to defeat his election! So satisfied are the Abolitionists themselves of the abolitionism of Mr. Fillmore, and surely they of which at this time is of paramount importance ought to know-that they would prefer to see any body President, even Mr. Buchanan, rather than have their particular and peculiar friend in the Presidential Chair! He is so much their favorite, that they abuse and denounce him for everything "they can lay their tongues to," and declare that his election would annihilate the Black Republican party! And this is the political logic of the day! This is the process of reasoning by which prejudiced men seek to injure an opponent! There are many still among us who recollect the cry of "byrgain and corruption," which rang through our country for many years, and but for which charge Mr. Clay would have been elected to the Presidential chair.

THE NEWS FROM EUROPE. - By the arrival of the Atlantic at New York, we have four days la ter news from Europe. American affairs are still the specialite of the news, but there is nothing definite or important even about them. The dismissal of Mr. Crampton was known but not officially announced, and still furnished the theme of abundant comment on the part of the London press. Their tone is pacific, and there is a growing disposition to regard the dismissal as personal to Mr. Crampton. The accounts of damage done in France by the inundations are saddening. The chief point of interest in the commercial accounts by this arrival is the firmness in the Grain markets of England and France, owing mainly to the inundations in the last named country. The French funds fell 2 per cent. from the same cause, and the English sympathized to the extent of hat per cent.

During the reception of the friends of Mr. Fillmore, at the St. Nicholas Hotel, Councilman Warner propounded to him the following

From the "New York Express" of Monday. MR. FILLMORE AT HOME!

All day Sunday, the great question was, "Is the Atlantic in?" "Has Fillmore arrived?" and, with a view to obtaining answers to these enquiries, hundreds of people crowded down to the Collins' Wharf, in a state of anxious expec-

The multitude had not to wait long. At 11 minutes past 9, the following despatch was re-ceived at the Chief's Office by Sargent Owens: SANDY HOOK TELEGRAPH, Sunday evening, June 22d. The steamship Atlantic is outside the bar; will e up about 10 o'clock. On reunding Sandy Hook, the Atlantic fired a gun, after which a number of beautiful Bengola lights, reckets, &c., were thrown up, and con-tinued until she arrived at Collins' wharf. Immediately on the appearance of the first rocket, a miute of 60 guns was fired from the wharf, and as the vessel arrived off the Battery, wo more rockets were sent up, when the thunder of artillery was again opened, but at this time it came from the New Jersey shores.

Meanwhile, between two and three thousand people collected at the wharf, and as the vessel neared the landing place, nine hearty cheers were given for Millard Fillmore. Alderman Briggs and the Committee of Reception of the Common Council, as also a private Reception Committee from the various Clubs, boarded the vessel, and found the ex-President sitting near the door of the after cabin. He looked extremely well, and received his visitors with the greatest courtesy. After a few preliminary observations, Alderman Briggs delivered an address:—

ME. PILLMORE'S RESPONSE.

Mr. Fillmore said, in reply, Mr. Chairman-This unexpected and flattering reception from the city of New York, and my native State, reaches a heart that cannot feel otherwise than grateful. [Cheers] It is true sir that for more than two years I have been a laborious traveller in foreign countries, but though I have wandered far my heart has always been yearning for my own native land. [Applause.] And this, sir, is the happiest and proudest moment of my life, to be received thus by a city that is known all over Europe. For you can travel in any part of Europe and ask the humblest peasant what city he knows in America, and he will reply "the city of New York." [Cheers.] I am proud own that I am a native of the State of New York, but I am prouder still to say that I am an American citizen. [Tremendous cheers.]

Sir, you have been pleased to allude to my former services to my country. It does not become me to speak of them, they have already passed into the history of the country. [Cheers.] Much less would it become me to speak of the future. All I can say is, that my renomination was unolicited on my part of the people, and if they choose to express their confidence in me by reelecting me to the Presidential Chair, all that I can promise is a faithful administration of the laws of the country over every part of the country alike,-neither favoring the North in a nor the South in a desire for an administration against the North; and either party expecting uch favoritism need not offer its services to me. for I know only my country, my whole country, and nothing but my country (Tremendous ap-

Sir, I was unexpectedly called upon to address you this evening, and can only conclude by re-turning my thanks and an appreciation of the honor which the Corporation of the city of New York has unexpectedly done me in this reception. A voice.-And the people receive you too .-

Mr. F .- I return my thanks to the people, too. Mr. Fillmore was then conducted from the abin and as soon as he made his appearance on deck the most enthusiastic cheers were given .-On landing he was surrounded by hundreds, all eager to grasp his hand, and it was with the ut-mort difficulty that the Committee succeeded in conducting him to the carriage which was in

As soon as Mr. Fillmore took his seat in the open barouche prepared for him, the immense crowd formed five abreast, and getting in front of the carriages, proceeded slowly up Canal street to Broadway, and from thence to the St. Nicholas Hotel,-the crowd cheering during the whole way, while banners waved from various windows on the route, and in almost every window were ladies waving white pocket handkerchiefs, and greeting him with their smiles.

On arriving at the door of the hotel, about one o'clock, A. M., a large crowd, consisting of probably a thousand persons, who had been waiting there since 11 o'clock on Sunday night, rushed forward and surrounded the carriage, when Alderman Briggs, young Mr. Fillmore, and Mr. Van Riper left the carriage, and the ex-President was literally lifted out of it, amid the most enthusiastic cheering, with groans for Fremont, Buchanan and the Black Republicans.

Mr. Fillmore was then escorted up stairs to his private room, but the cheers and calls fer Fillmore and clapping of hands became most en-thusiastic. Mr. Fillmore at length appeared on the balcony, and bowed gracefully to the crowd, while the cheering continued for several minutes. Having at length obtained silence, Mr. Fillmor spoke as follows :--

Fellow-Citizens-I believe I shall hardly trespass upon the Sabbath, (cries of "no! no! no!-It is Monday morning."] For it is past midnight. If I give you my thanks for this welcome back to my native State ; you may readily conceive that a person come from a long voyage, weakened by see sickness and wearied by travel can hardly appreciate the enthusiasm displayed by a street full of people, gathered together at his unseasonable hour. I have seen much of European life-I have been able to contrast it with my own country. Compared with my own would say to you, that after all my wanderings, my heart turns to America, my home and place of my birth; (immense cheering;) but, fellow-citizens, this is no time for a speech and I will merely add, that from this time forward I am not only with you but of you.

Mr. Fillmore then retired from the balcony and cheer after cheer arose from the assembled Mr. Fillmore then retired for the night; and

FOR THE REGISTER. SECOND AMERICAN CONVENTION IN GRANVILLE.

MR. EDITOR :- Owing to very peculiar ciramstances the American party in Granville failed in obtaining but two candidates in their Convention which met on the 7th inst. A second Convention was held on last Saturday (21st) which was not only much more numerously attended than the first one, but was really one of the most enthusiastic and highly respectable bodies that ever assembled in this county.

rostrum, and for an hour and a half continued to entertain and edify the audience with a speech of great power and pungency. He took strong ground in favor of Fillmore and Donelson, and gave reasons for his course that were at once so lucid and so just, that we wish every old line Whig in the State had heard them. Mr. Gilliam has never formally joined the American par ty, but he endorses most of their principles, and goes for Fillmore heart and soul. His entire argument in exposition of his own particular course, as a Whig, was as clear and unanswerable as a demon tration in mathematics, and struck the minds as well as the hearts of those who listened to him with such convincing force, that we venture the opinion that its good effects will be witnessed in the approaching elections. manner throughout his speech was at once high-toned and conciliatory, and the facts that he presented were of such serious and vast import that they will be remembered. He was istened to with the most profound attention, and concluded amidst vociferous cheering. The Nominating Committee having returned to the Hall, reported that they unanimously recommended, as suitable candidates to complete the Commons ticket, the names of Col. L. C. Edwards and Dr. John R. Hicks. The meeting confirmed this suggestion by nominating them with one loud consenting AVE. Dr. Hicks accepted the nomination in a neat and brief speech, and Col. Edwards addressed the meeting for an hour, in the course of which he accepted the nomination that had been thrice tendered him. His effort was a continuation of the very impressive and eloquent one he made at our first Convention, and he proved himself in this, as in his former speech, to be a very adroit, forcible and finished debater. Our ticket is now complete and a capital one it is. It now stands: For the Senate, Isaac Davis ; for the Commons, Edward Dalby, Dr. John R. Hicks and L C. Edwards. They are all very intelligent and well nformed gentlemen, and for our part we can truthfully declare that we believe it is a ticket that will win. They have truth, justice and the love of the constitution and the Union; they have the confidence of the people, great weight of personal character, and intellectual ability, all on their side, and there is, there can be, no reason under heaven, why they should not triumph, The people of Granville, left to their own honest udgment, are with the American party. And if they are not misled and hoodwinked by prating and unscrupulous demagogues, they will sustain the American principles.

FOR THE REGISTER CANDIDATES FOR GOVERNOR IN THE

COLUMBIA, June 21st, 1856. ME. GALES :- We had a great time here tolay. The candidates for Governor addressed a large crowd of our people. Our candidate, Mr. Gilmer, bore himself well. He more than met the expectation of his friends. His vote will be increased in Tyrrell county, despite the efforts of Bragg to injure him in the East. This extraorlinary and unfair attempt on the part of Gov. Bragg, to arouse a feeling in the East against Mr. Gilmer, will not succeed. If our Western friends could be present and hear one of his speeches against Mr. Gilmer down here in the East, no man of any party in the West would feel like supporting him. Mr. Gilmer discusses all subjects fairly, with ability and frankness, and you may look for an nereased vote for him in the East, owing in no small degree to the unfair means attempted to be used against him by Bragg and his friends.

Mr. Gilmer's reputation as a good and pleasant peaker, and being more than a match for Gov. Bragg, had preceded him here, and I assure you, Mr. Editor, he more than met the expectations of every man.

He is a plain, unpretending, social, sensible man, who knows and studies the wants and interests of all classes of society, and who, if elected Governor of North Carolina, would seek the advancement and prosperity of her people; while on the ether hand, Gov. Bragg is a proud, haughty aristocrat, caring but little for the prosperity of North Carolina, but rather seeking the selfish ends of his own advancement in the "dirty pool of politics." He is a keen, shrewd, juggling politician, and would not hesitate in taking any advantage to injure Mr. Gilmer in the Eastern portion of the State. Gov. Bragg is trying to day the same game upon Mr. Gilmer, that hat infamous sheet—the Standard—was doing two years ago to defeat Gen. Dockery. Now that they are in the East, Gov. Bragg very artfully and shrewdly attempts to gull the people in trying to make them believe that Mr. Gilmer s advocating entirely different principles from those advocated in the West. He endeavors (with no effect) to show that Mr. Gilmer would support a measure for the good of the Western portion of the State, when he would condemn it n the East. Such a course is consistent with Gov. Bragg's nature. The writer knows him well—he is a good lawyer—and well knows too that such a course is in perfect accordance with his views of fairness and truth. By pu-suing such a course he is doing himself no good. Every who has ever looked into the broad. open, honest face of Mr. Gilmer must know, that he is far from anything that is inconsistent with his looks. Mr. Gilmer in all of his speeches in the East maintains, and boldly and fearless advocates, the very same principles which he did in the West, and while he is drawing around him the friendship and support of the larger portion of the people, Gov. Bragg is daily loosing both these ties. And as Mr Gilmer very appropriately told him, I think the Governor will hear something "drap" about the first of August. Listen out, Governor! Mr. Gilmer is the man for me he is the man for the brown" for him in August, and if the others will do as well, we may all unite in proclaiming him | Greensboro', June 26, 1956. - td 52 Governor of the Old North State.

O. C. G.'s Reading Room,-This new and excellent feature has at length succeeded. A finer or better arranged room we have rarely seen. The annual subscription is only three dollars, and the generality of our citizens have already subscribed. Those who have not should by all means do so. The Reading Room committee return their thanks to the Editors of numerous papers throughout the State for their kindness sending papers to them free of charge, and indulge the hope that those who have not done so will send their's also. The undertaking deserves success, and will have it.

Harvesting .- Some of our Farmers have commenced harvesting. Generally, the whole country will be busy in securing the wheat in about a week from this time. We believe the weld will be a good one, in most of the counties. There are exceptions in particular localities.

Accident .- At the Central Depot on yesterday, (Thursday,) morning, a German, name unknown. fell from his cart, the wheel of which passed over his head, inflicting a severe wound above the right eye. He was promptly attended to.

Examination of the Deaf Dumb and Blind The regular annual examination of the pupils of the N. C. Institution for the Deaf and Dumb and Blind took place on Wednesday last, (according to previous announcement,) in the chanel of the Institution. The exercises commenced in the morning, a few minutes after nine, and continued during the entire forenoon. A large number of persons attended, and notwithstanding the excessive heat of the day, appeared highly gratified with what they saw and heard.

This examination was conducted throughout with a view to exhibit the improvement of the pupils in their studies. Various classes, both of the Deaf and Dumb and the Blind, were subjected in turn to a series of test questions, and, in the opinion . f good judges among the spectators, acwitted themselves in a creditable manner. The mutes gave satisfactory evidence of their profi-ciency in the use of written language, and familiarity with its practical applications. Their knowledge of Scripture History seemed to be general and accurate, and they gave satisfactory evidence of their acquaintance with other studies. The Blind were examined in reading, writing, geography, history, astronomy, and arithmetic. Difficult questions were solved readily, both mentally and by means of the calculating method, in multiplication, (seven figures by seven,) decimal vulgar fractions, and extraction of square foot from as many as nine figures. Their recollection of dates, and of numerical facts pertaining to astronomy, excited great admiration.

In the evening, there was a larger audience.-They were agreeably entertained for several hours with musical per ormances, both instrumental and vocal, by the Blind, and by the ceremony of presenting diplomas to four graduates in the Deaf Mute department. Several of the Blind performed difficult pieces with creditable skill.-The proficiency of the younger boys and girls excited especial attention. Three of these have been under instruction only a few months. The names of the four graduates who received diplomas from the Principal, after an address in the sign language, are John Massey, of Gaston, Jane O'Neal, of Hyde, Barbara Jane Whitsitt, of Alamance, and Susan Maley, of Davidson. The Principal and Teachers deserve the greatest credit for the manner in which their scholars acquitted themselves, and from the reports which we have seen of the examinations of Institutions of the same kind on a larger scale, our's compares as favorably, and is behind none in advantages.

Superiority of Native Coal .- We learn that Mr. Silas Burns has recently submitted to close comparative tests the Coal which he has been in the habit of using, (the Richmond Coal,) and that obtained on Deep River. He pronounces the Deep River one-taird better than the other,-two bushels of it being equal to three of the Rich This is an important fact, and should add additional stimulus to the exertions that are being made to open markets for that valuable mineral
