SATURDAY MORNING, JULY 4, 1857.

THE SOUTHERN DEMOCRACY, WALKER, KANSAS, AND BUCHANAN.

Developments are making which tend to establish conclusively the fact that before WALKER left for his post in Kansas, he and BUCHANAN saw "the old trigger," as it is so often called, in the hands of the Union as a Free State. We do not rely on anti-Democratic journals to establish this fact, but draw upon those who aided in the election of BUCHANAN, and who have not yet abandoned his administration. Some days since, the Union came out with an article from which it might be inferred that the President did not coincide with GOV. WALKER'S views as expressed in his inaugural address. This, of course, was joyfully received by the political friends of the President, who, while censuring WALKER for his Freesoil measures, did not wish to break with the administration.

Their satisfaction was not, however, of long continuance, as the following article from the "Richmond South" will prove:

THE ORACLE AT FAULT.—It is but a few days since we had the satisfaction of quoting the following paragraph from the Washington Union, in regard to the Administration's repeal of Walker's Kansas policy: "The Democratic, conservative portion of the country will regard as 'the people of Kansas only such as are now waiting to frame a form of permanent and permanent laws, and not those who are seeking to paralyze the popular will by illegal subterfuges and the quibbles of fanaticism."

Whatever the Constitution may be—whether recognized as excluding slavery or silent in regard to the institution—it will be viewed as the expression of the will of the people of Kansas, as those who frame it will not under the Federal Constitution, and in a manner recognized by this organization.

From a subsequent and more elaborate article in the same paper we take this language: "When the delegates thus chosen shall have completed the business for which they have assembled—namely, the formation of a Constitution—there will remain but one question for further division and discussion, and that question will be, is the Constitution thus formed approved by the people of Kansas, and does it reflect their will on the question, not only of slavery, but upon all others? If it does, every one will say that with that Constitution, whether slave, free, or silent on that point, the best way of ascertaining the will of the people will be to submit it to a vote of the people."

THE WEATHER AND CROPS.

A most refreshing rain fell in this city on Wednesday evening, and in the course of the night. We have heard from many portions of this State, that the wheat crop has proved to be a most abundant one, and has been secured under most favorable circumstances. In some localities, oats have been reaped, and turned out pretty well, while in other sections, in which the crop is not so forward, the prospect is not very promising. In the general, as far as we can learn, a good stand of tobacco has been obtained, and corn almost everywhere bids fair to give an abundant yield. On the whole, taking the accounts which we get from abroad, we think we have reason to look forward to a season of plenty; at least, when compared with what might almost be termed the season of scarcity, if not famine, which has been, and is still upon us.

A GENTLEMAN ACCIDENTALLY SHOT.

We very much regret that Mr. GEORGE W. NORWOOD, the Deputy Sheriff of this County, was accidentally shot on Sunday last, while travelling in the Railroad cars somewhere in South Carolina. It seems that Mr. N. was asleep, and it is supposed that a pistol in his breast pocket was discharged by the jolting of the cars. The ball entered about the region of the fifth rib. Mr. N. was, of course, much astonished, and at first supposed that some one of the passengers had shot him. He was soon, however, made aware of the nature of the occurrence, and fortunately being able to continue his journey, reached here on Tuesday evening, when Dr. HILL found the ball some eight inches above the point of entrance, and extracted it.

We congratulate Mr. NORWOOD on his escape.

ARRIVAL OF THE STATUE.

HURARD'S Statue of WASHINGTON arrived in this City on Thursday evening. It came safely, and we suppose will be placed on the pedestal designed for it immediately. We write at an early hour on Friday morning, and are not apprized of what ceremonies will attend an event so interesting and honorable to the State which sounded the first bugle blast of Liberty.

RUSSELL'S MAGAZINE FOR JULY.

We are indebted to the publishers for Russell's Magazine for July. We have read the continuation of "Retecourt" with much interest, and also a tale entitled "Don Emanoel Gregorio; or the man in advance of his age."

BISHOP ATKINSON'S APPOINTMENTS.

Goslen, Granville county, July 27th, instead of July 25th, as before published.

EXTENSIVE REFORMATION.

A revival of religion commenced in the M. E. Church in Lewinsburg, Va., some two weeks ago, and since then the interest has extended to all the churches in the place. About one hundred persons have already professed conversion, and the good work does not abate in the least.

HARPER'S WEEKLY ON THE AMERICAN PARTY.

Harper's Weekly Newspaper, is dipping slightly into politics, commenting partially, but apparently with honest motives, upon the movements of the parties of the country. The leading editorial of the last issue, is entitled "The Future of the American Party." The editor of Harper regards the address of the Louisville Convention as "the last will and testament" of the American party, and expresses the opinion that for the present it is the habit frequently of protesting that the party would desert Mr. Lincoln, and so forth. Our Governor is equally determined, it appears, never to forget Massachusetts.

The redoubtable Governor of Virginia, upon whom Dr. Stribling has a lien, which is long well to be foreclosed, has a knack at making himself extremely ridiculous, not possessed by any one we know. He will not "forget Massachusetts." Certainly he will not; for even his memory, as treasurer, to him as he has been in his political principles, will hold fast the fact, that in his place in the House of Representatives, he vilified one of these "ADAMS'S," of whom he speaks in his letter—that this "ADAMS" was an old man tottering on the verge of the tomb—that he had filled the highest office in the country, and was himself filled with some of the best blood of the revolutionary fathers. Gizzard Foot knows this, and knows, too, what he said about the "House of Braitree," and what comparisons he drew between the "Cavaliers of the South," and the "Paritans of the North." But, as far as "Gizzard Foot" is concerned, it "importe" is the word. He doesn't care the loss of a copper how ridiculous he makes himself, provided he can be conspicuous—he talked about. A celebration is to be had at Bunker Hill, and county on the part of the managers suggests, that on such an occasion, it is besting that respect should be paid to high official position in the different States in the Union. Accordingly, ex officio, WALKER bids. Every other Governor in the Union, no doubt, got precisely the same invitation, but it was reserved for the occupant of the seat which PATRICK HENRY once occupied, to distinguish himself on the august occasion, by writing a letter, which but for the plea of lunacy, that might be put in for him, would furnish upon him excessive bad taste, and very gross hypocrisy.

SUPREME COURT.

The following opinions have been delivered since our last report:

By NASB, C. J. In Harland v. Smith, from Bladen, affirming the judgment below. Also, in Atkins v. McCormick, from Harnett. Also, in Stutts v. Harris, a slave, from Bladen, declaring there is no error in the judgment below. Also, in Taylor v. Taylor, from Anson, dismissing the bill with costs.

By PEABSON, J. In Taylor v. W. & M. R. A. Comp. from New Hanover, affirming the judgment. Also, in Barrow, in equity, v. Windly, from Beaufort, directing decree for plaintiff. Also, in Wiswell v. G. R. Plank-Road Company, in equity, from Beaufort, overruling the demurrer. Also, in Taylor v. Kelly, in equity, from Beaufort, directing a venire de novo. Also, in Stute v. Stanley, from Columbus, directing a venire de novo. Also, in Dox ex Dem v. Dring v. Eselov, from Stauf, affirming the judgment. Also, in McLaran v. Melvin, in equity, from New Hanover; interlocutory order to be reversed, with costs.

SHOOTING AFFAIR IN NORFOLK.

We learn from the Norfolk American that a man named Julius Bartholomew fired a pistol three times at Mr. T. Cropper of that city on Monday last. One of the shots missed Mr. C. one took effect in the calf of the right leg, and the third imbedded in the left eye-brow, plunging upward under the skin, and coming out at the top of his head. The skull is not affected. Mr. Cropper will probably be up in a few days. Bartholomew assigned as his reason for shooting Cropper, that the latter had violated his wife. On the contrary, Mr. Cropper says he scarcely knows the woman. Bartholomew was taken into custody. He is thought to be insane.

The Louisville Journal states positively that the majority for Wheat, American candidate for Appellate Judge in the Louisville District, is larger than that given to Mr. Fillmore at the Presidential election.

A DUEL.

The Wilmington Herald learns that a duel between two gentlemen of Charleston (Messrs. Conner and Stuart) was fought on Monday last at Fair Bluff, N. C. The parties exchanged shots without injury when an amicable adjustment was effected.

COL. R. W. WOOD, who was killed among Col. Crabbs' party, in Mexico, was born in Buckingham county, Virginia, in January, 1819. In 1841 his parents moved to Natchez, Miss., and in 1852 to Washington, Miss., where Col. Wood was educated at Jefferson College, then a military institution. He was a member of the Legislature of California, from San Francisco, a District Attorney Judge and Filmorean.

MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE.

Col. William Ash, of Franklin county, Georgia, left home in the latter part of January last, with the purpose of going to Kentucky by rail. The last heard of him was at Smith's landing, near Nashville, Tennessee, on the Cumberland river. He carried with him about three thousand dollars, and it is feared he has been murdered for his money.

SALE OF COL. FREMONT'S FURNITURE.

The household furniture of Colonel John C. Fremont was sold at public auction, at his residence, No. 56 Ninth street, on Friday. There was not one twentieth part as many persons present as attended the sale of Huntington's or Dr. Burdell's household furniture, though they were a much more select and respectable class of people. The article, generally, did not bring very high prices. Colonel Fremont is at present stopping at the Brevoort House. He intends shortly to join his wife and family, who are at present in Europe.

A LONG UNPAID DEBT.

As early as the 8th of July, 1857, Mr. Everett, in his Bunker Hill oration, the other day, "it was ordered by the Continental Congress that a monument should be erected to the memory of General Joseph Warren, in the town of Boston, and one to the memory of General George Washington in Fredericksburg, Va. The erecting of these monuments was to be made, but not yet begun."

The American Party have, within a few days past, been successful in three closely contested elections, viz: the Judge of the Court of Appeals in the State of Kentucky, the municipal election in Memphis, and the City election in Norfolk, Va.

EXITEMENT AND MOB AT MEMPHIS.

The telegraph a few days since announced that in consequence of John Everson (who was a pump manufacturer), having been shot dead at Memphis, Tenn., by a gambler named John Able, a scene of great excitement and threatened violence ensued. The particulars of the affair are set forth as follows in the Memphis Eagle:

The provocation, we learn, was that Everson asked Able to pay him an amount of money which he (Able) had borrowed from him, whereupon Able commenced abusing Everson, and finally drew a pistol and shot him. This occurred in front of the Worth House, and in the presence of a number of bystanders. Mr. Everson died almost immediately. Able was arrested and carried to the calabos, a large and judicious crowd following after him, intent upon summary punishment. Able being lodged in jail, a mob of some 1,500 to 2,000 persons collected in front of the calabos, who declared they would hang Able, for they left the matter in the hands of a jury he would probably be acquitted, as every man of similar crime had been before him. And the cry of "hang the murderer" threw a large and excited mob to take the law in their own hands, but wait for a legal investigation of the case, as no jury could possibly be gotten together in the city. These gentlemen apparently effected their ends. They finally agreed to detail a guard of twenty-five men from the crowd to watch and guard the jail to prevent the probable chance of an escape, and the removal of the body. They held a meeting and formed a vigilance committee, after supper. The crowd then dispersed, to meet again at 9 o'clock in the Exchange Building.

About twenty-five hundred citizens assembled at the courthouse to attend the funeral of John Able. They were divided into companies of thirty-five citizens each, and when they had assembled in the Exchange Building, they proceeded to the courthouse to attend the funeral. The funeral services were held at the courthouse, and were attended by a large number of citizens.

THE MEMPHIS TRACT SOCIETY ACTS.

The religious and auxiliary tract societies of the Southern States seem very generally to deprecate, and in most cases denounce, the recent anti-slavery interference of the National Tract organization. The South Carolina branch of the tract organization has the matter under notice, and on Tuesday evening a report was presented by a committee appointed for the purpose, which, after discussion, was almost unanimously adopted. The report reviewed the history of the American Tract Society, dwelling particularly upon the abolitionist tendency of the parent Society during the last anniversary, and though the South Carolina branch would feel justified in severing the existing connection, on account of late encroachments, which they believe were a violation of the constitution of the parent Society, yet the Committee advised an intermediate, moderate, course, and they voted a series of resolutions, declaring that they will associate particularly upon the abolitionist action has been afforded to the Southern States; that a correspondence be maintained with kindred Southern branches, with a view to unity of action; that they inspect and pass upon all books sent into the State by the parent Society; that they offer officers, and in every respect make ready for an unconditional separation, in case the parent Society does not relieve herself from her present unconstitutional and hostile position.

NEWS FROM HAVANA.

The New York Express of Tuesday in its summary of "news of the day," says: "The news from Havana is highly interesting. The long look for a settlement of the question of Mexico, has at length arrived. It is now presumed that, as soon as Santa Anna makes his appearance, he will be taken on board the fleet of Commodore B. Pauley, and with a view to take him another opportunity to fight his way back to Mexico, with a Spanish force to back him from that point. This is not the programme as officially announced, we know, but passing events indicate that the movement is on foot. The interest of whatever belligerent movement has been resolved upon. He is to go back as the standard-bearer of the Republic, pledged to restore to the country the privileges of which General Comonfort has been deprived. We expect to rally to his support. Yet we do not understand that all this is going to be done in a hurry. The fleet will, no doubt, be available at Havana, when the Santa Anna comes; but in the interim, the influence of England and France may induce Her Most Catholic Majesty to reconsider the job she has undertaken by opening her eyes to the fact that a war with Mexico must be a war with England and France. In any event, the intelligence from Havana henceforth is likely to be of the highest interest."

WALKER'S SICK SOLDIERS.

The United States steam frigate Wabash, with 2,800 men and Commodore H. Paulding, Capt. F. Engle, commanding, arrived at her anchorage off the Battery, New York on Sunday. She made the passage from New York to San Francisco in 93 days. This is a good passage for a frigate, whose steam power is only auxiliary. She brings 148 officers and men, 18 women and 5 children, who served under Gen. Walker in Nicaragua. Seventy sick and wounded men were sent to the frigate. Col. F. M. Thompson, formerly of the U. S. Army, died of chronic dysentery, June 24, and was buried at sea. His widow is on board.

A RUMOR.—

How true it is, we know not, but it is reported that a party of two thousand men are organizing throughout California for the invasion of Oregon and Washington Territory. The object is to break up the claims of Cook and party.

FOURTH OF JULY CELEBRATION.

The exercises of the day will commence with a national salute at daybreak. At sunrise, the usual services will be read at the Presbyterian church, after which an address will be delivered by one of the clergy of the city.

The military and citizens will meet at the Courthouse, and proceed in the line of march in the following order: and under the direction of the following officers:

Order of Arrangements:
MATTHEW P. TAYLOR, Chief Marshal.
Joseph A. Engelhardt,
Charles B. Hood,
Palmer Cooper,
Basil Manly,
Nathaniel Jones,
Braz Band,
Oak-City Guards,
Independent Guards,
Raleigh Military Academy Cadets,
Citizens and Strangers,
Officers and Soldiers of the Revolutionary War,
Officers and Soldiers of the Mexican War,
Mayor of the City and City Commissioners,
United States Marshal,
State Officers,
Judges of the Supreme and Superior Courts,
Governors of the States and his Aids,
Orators, Reader and Chaplain.

The procession will form in front of the Courthouse at 9 o'clock, a.m., and to 10 o'clock proceed, moving in the line of march to the Capitol. Arriving at the south gate of the Capitol square, the procession will halt, march ranks and reverse the order, and enter the Capitol at the eastern entrance.

The exercises in the Commons Hall will be opened with prayer by the Rev. Thomas E. Skinner, after which the National Declaration of Independence will be read by Daniel G. Fowler, Esq., to be followed by an Oration by William J. Saunders.

At 3 o'clock, p. m., a procession will be formed in front of Dr. Johnson's composed of the different Sunday Schools of the City, and will proceed in the line of march to the Presbyterian church, where an address will be delivered by the Rev. Thomas E. Skinner.

At 8 o'clock, P. M., the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence will be read and an oration delivered by Mr. F. H. Hill, at Nash Square. After which the ceremonies of the day will conclude with a grand display of fireworks at the same place. The Square will be brilliantly illuminated and decorated.

It is respectfully requested by the Committee of Arrangements and the Marshals, that all persons who do not desire to join, will give the street to the procession.

The ladies are especially invited to attend the exercises in the Capital and at Nash Square. The Committee of Arrangements will provide a sufficient police force to preserve order and to show them the utmost respect.

ADVERTISING.

The St. Louis Republican, in concluding a congratulatory notice of its prosperity and success, says of advertising: "The truth is, advertising has become a great feature in the business of the country. No merchant can better understand this than those who engage in it most extensively. The prominent advertisements of our fancy goods dealers, and of our wholesale merchants, read all over these pages, but they can in this way secure a reading tens of thousands of persons every day, this is just the way in which they can reach a large number of our readers, and at a very cheap cost attract hundreds of buyers to their counters every day, what matters it to them that they pay a few dollars for doing so? But the merchants are not the only persons benefited by advertising. Every one engaged in anything to buy or sell—every one engaged in any business whatever—now resorts to the newspapers to communicate with the public. As a rule, the advertiser is every man in search of a particular object of thought, looks to the advertising columns of a newspaper to find it; and if there be any one so stupid as not to read those columns, he will never keep up with his neighbors, or the progress of the age."

MARRIED.

On the 16th inst., at Sugar Creek Church, by the Rev. Mr. NICHOLSON, Mr. WM. SMITH, of Mecklenburg County, N. C., to Miss MARY G. HAWTHORN, of York District, South Carolina. Petersburg papers please copy.

HEALTHY FORCE.

Capt. Corbett, City Sergeant of Norfolk, Va., and E. L. Cunningham, his deputy, qualified Saturday. The united height of the Sergeant and his deputy is over thirteen feet, and their combined weight 345 pounds and thirteen pounds.

HOW CHIPMAN EFFECTED HIS ESCAPE.

The Greenborough Times gives an account of the escape from jail of J. B. Chipman, says: "In simply stating the facts of this case, we do not wish to be understood as criminalizing any one in authority, though it is self-evident that his escape was effected through some means of assistance. We presume no jail in the State has demanded more criminals for murder, than ours, and the impression was made on all the surrounding counties that it was one of the most secure. It has so happened, however, within the last twelve or eighteen months, that not less than three or four breaks have been made. Whether this has resulted from the inefficiency of the prison or from loose management we do not pretend to know."

The facts we have gathered in relation to Chipman are these: And it will be seen that he has been allowed the full benefit of the law, if there is any law on the subject. During the week of his trial the public endured the mortification of allowing him all the privileges of any other hotel boarder, with this exception, the sheriff was his constant companion during the day and his nights were spent within the jail. The Judge and the Prisoner alike were guests of the dining table.

Since his conviction, we understand no restriction has been placed upon his parents or friends; they being allowed to visit him at any time and spending the day with him in office. We do not wish to say anything that can be construed against the jailor, but simply to show how it was possible for the prisoner to make his escape by procuring assistance from his friends.

It is reported that he effected his escape by procuring assistance from his friends. He is reported to have procured assistance from his friends, and to have effected his escape by procuring assistance from his friends.

EXTRAORDINARY ESCAPE FROM DEATH.—

On the 10th ult., as Mr. John Henderson was sitting by the window of his residence in Cleveland, Tenn., during a thunder storm, a discharge of electricity struck him between the shoulders, rendering him insensible, and suffering the left foot two inches in diameter; the feet then passed down his back, and along his left leg, scorching his clothes and burning his flesh to a continuous blister, from three to ten inches in width, from the neck of the shoulder to the heel of his left foot. No marks were found on the right leg below the knee. The current of electricity burst the boot of the left foot, and passed down, burning a hole in the carpet, and was discharged upon the floor. Mr. Henderson became unconscious from the effects of the shock, and remained so for some ten or fifteen minutes. When he recovered his sufferings were most excruciating, but he is slowly recovering.

HORRIBLE AFFAIR.—

Last night the Fulton House in this city was the theatre of the most awful tragedy that has ever occurred in the annals of our city. About a quarter past 9 o'clock, a young man twenty years of age, named William Withers shot his father, Mr. D. H. Withers. The ball passed through the stomach and left lobe of the liver, lodging near the spine. We were informed that he was lying supine on the floor, two glasses of brandy, his father took him to his room to reprimand him for drinking, when William drew his pistol and deliberately shot his father. We left Mr. Withers at half-past nine, he was not expected to survive the night. William was arrested by the police, and is now in the city jail. His father died at 10 o'clock.—Atlanta (Ga.) Examiner.

SINGULAR RE-UNION.

Ten years ago last night ten young ladies, who were attending school in this city, where Bangs' Block now stands, were taken away by a young man, named William Withers, who was then a student at the law in Washington. He had been with them for some time, and had become intimate with them. He had been with them for some time, and had become intimate with them. He had been with them for some time, and had become intimate with them.

ELOPEMENT WITH A GLENNMAN'S DAUGHTER.

A wealthy clergyman of Brooklyn having recently visited Europe, his daughter, during his absence, became acquainted with a young man of small means and large affections. The two fell in love, and as the father's consent was out of the question, they determined to elope. On Sunday night they were detected by a watchman, and informed the father that she should not appear at dinner. A carriage was in waiting a few blocks from the house, and, going out unobserved, she ran off with her lover.

REVENUE OFFICERS.

The St. Louis Republican, in concluding a congratulatory notice of its prosperity and success, says of advertising: "The truth is, advertising has become a great feature in the business of the country. CHOPS IN TEXAS.

The Texas papers of the 14th inst. contain abundant instances of cholera in portions of the State, and the reports from the planting districts were generally very encouraging. Cotton is reported to be recovering from the late backward spring, and promises a fair yield.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—

A hurricane visited Portsmouth, Virginia, Monday afternoon, blowing down a frame tenement on Crab street, and injuring Miss Rebecca Barrett so severely that she died the next morning. Miss B. was a very interesting young lady, only 18 years of age.

LATER FROM EUROPE.

The Steamer Niagara arrived on Monday last with Liverpool dates to the 20th ult., being three days later than the advices brought by the Indian. In England a serious discussion had occurred in the House of Commons in regard to the destruction of Greytown in American war vessel. Lord Hamilton inquired if the government had demanded reparation for the British property destroyed.

Lord Palmerston replied it had not, the law of nations does not require it. The law of nations does not require it. The law of nations does not require it. The law of nations does not require it.

DEATH OF LANGDON CHEVIE.

The Charleston (S. C.) papers of Saturday announce the death of Hon. Langdon Chevie, which took place at Columbia on Friday. Mr. Chevie was a native of South Carolina, and was at the time of his death about six years of age. He was admitted to the bar in 1800. In 1808 he was elected to the Legislature, and soon took a very high position in the House of Representatives, where he served the remainder of one term of two important committees. He was subsequently elected Attorney General of the State, in which post he served until he was elected to Congress. He served in the U. S. House of Representatives, from 1810 to 1816, and was a leading member of that body.

A COMMERCIAL ENTERPRISE.

A. Dudley Macken, who is Assistant Secretary of State, has addressed a circular to the citizens of the slave-holding States, in which he calls their attention to the importance to them of a direct trade with Europe, and urges them to subscribe to the stock of the Chesapeake Bay and Milford Haven Steam-ship Company. He enters into a brief but earnest argument to show how easily the measure can be accomplished, and gives notice that he hopes by the 1st of August to have sufficient amount subscribed to authorize the immediate election of one or more of the vessels needed for the enterprise.

NOTICE.—

TO BUILDERS, CARPENTERS, AND JOINERS. The plans and specifications for a Gothic Church, 84 feet by 50 feet, with a Tower, Bell-castles, and Organ-gallery, to be erected on the site of the old Church, at the corner of St. Paul's Church, in the City of Raleigh, N. C., will be ready for examination on the 15th inst. at the office of the Architect. All persons interested in the building of this church are invited to call at the office of the Architect, at the City Hall, Raleigh, N. C., on the 15th inst. at 10 o'clock. By order of the Board of Trustees, J. H. D. TURNER, Secretary.

WHEAT.—

AS NEW WHEAT CO., has been ready for market, we take the occasion to say to our friends in the country that they will save their interests by being careful to send money to market, but what may be in a perfectly dry condition. Military aid object to damp wheat, and parcels of this kind must either be sold under the market value or stored and dried at the owners expense.
