RALEIGH, N. C.

SATURDAY MORNING, JUNE 19, 1838. SPEECH OF MR. BUCHANAN ON DIS-TRIBUTION.

The Charlotte charlatans having pronounced Distribution unconstitutional, and having in the same platform declared their implicit confidence in Mr. Bachanan, it becomes a matter of interesting inquiry as to what is Mr. Bachanan's position on this question of Distribution. If it can be shown that Mr. Buchanan not only believes in the constitutionality of Distribution, but in the great expediency of the measure, the conclusion is irresistible that the Charlotte platform makers, by denouncing a measure as unconstitutional, and at the same time heaping compliments the annexed extract : on a great champion of said measure, either means to deceive and humbug the people, or acted like a pack of noodles, profoundly ignorant of what they were talking about. So late as his inauguration, as we have shown more than once, Mr. Buchanan was in favor of getting rid of the Public Lands, which he declared to be a source of more corruption than all other corrupting influences combined. This proposition, while unjust, inasmuch as it looked to a bestowal of the public domain upon foreigners and exiles, to clearly concedes the principle of Distribution North. or disposition, which is the same thing. But at a period long anterior to this Mr. Buchan- can cause and candidate. Is there no way by an, while in the pride and vigor of his intellect, advocated in the Senate of the United States, an honest and fair policy of Distrib :tion. In to-day's paper will be found the speech on Distribution, delivered by Mr. Buchanan in the Senate on the 28th of February, 1837, and published in the Appendix to last the Congressional Globe of that session. We cannot forbear urgantly to entreat such of our Democratic friends as have been duped by the bald declarations of the Charlotte Convention, the Raleigh Standard, &c., into a doubt of the constitutionality of Distribution to read what the President, in whom they now repose so much confidence, thought and said when representing the great State of Pennsylvania in the national Senate. They will be struck by the earnest tone of Mr. Buchanan, he the fact that he even repreached the great champion of Distribution (Mr. by the fact that after the Land bill had been close pronounced "a lifeless corpse," he proclaimyou to turn your back upon what is justly July and August. your own, and to see your State become more and more impoverished. We find the following paragraph copied into the Richmond South, and our readers will see that the process of disintegrating the Northern Democratic party has commenced in earnest. To this party the Southern Demoeracy have always professed to look as their "natural allies," and the question now is what will compensate for their loss?

ILLINOIS ADMINISTRATION STATE CONVENTION.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 9 .- The State Convention of the Administration Democracy assembled here to-day. Two hundren and sixty-three delegates, representing forty-eight counties, were in attendance. John Dougherty was nominated State Treasurer, and ex Governor Reynolds superintendent of public instruction. Recolutions vere adopted affirming adherence to the Cincinnati platform; re-affirming the principle of nonterrention in the Territories; opposing the conentration of power in the hands of the central government; deprecating slavery agitation; conmning Senator Douglas, and characterizing his surse in opposition to the administration as overweening conceit; decouncing the principles of the publican party as tending to the dissolution of he Union, and denouncing the late outrages by the British cruisers on American vessels in the Gulf of Mexico and elsewhere.

Is the Demoratic party so strong as to maim and mutilate its ody in the mere wantonness of superabundant vigor? Shall the South venture, from excess of onfidence, to reject the aid of its staunchest ally, n the struggle of 1860?

These inquiries are pressed upon us by disturbances among the Democracy of Illinois. NEWS OF THE DAY.

Congress busied itself during Saturday, with much carnestness and no little confusion in attempting to get through its necessary business by noon on Monday, that being the time fixed for the final adjournment. The President being anxous that means should be provided to replenish the empty Treasury, appealed by Message to Congress not to adjourn till that was done. Mr. Bigr, of Pennsylvania, acting evidently under the resident's prompting, offered a resolution in the ata adjourned for the day. The Senate considered a variety of subjects during Saturday, but made no very marked progress. Considerable feeling was excited by disagreements between that body and the House in respect to the Senate amendments to appropriation bills, and appearances indicated that several days might be required to get | Freshman class occupied the rostrum. On motion of Mr. Seward in the Senate, the thanks of the body were unanimously tendered to the Vice-President for his impartial and satisfactory discharge of the duties of the Chair, and at 6 P. M. the Senate adjourned. The House was through its business at 2 P. M., when it took a recess till 52, and upon assembling immediately adjourned. So ends EVERETT. the first session of the Thirty-nfth Congress.

Immediately after the adjournment of Congress the President issued a proclamation convening the enate in extra session on Tuesday at noon.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, FOR THE RAPID CURE OF Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Influena. Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma, Incipient Consumption, and for the relief of consumptive patients in advanced tages of the disease. We need not speak to the public of its virtues -Throughout every town, almost every hamlet of the American States, its wenderful cures of pulmonary complaints have made it already known. Nay, few are the amilies in any civilized country on this continent without some personal experience of its effects; and fewer yet the communities any where which have not among hem some living trophy of its victory over the subtle and dangerous diseases of the throat and lungs. While it is the most powerful antidote yet known to man for the formidable and dangerous diseases of the pulmonary organs, it is also the pleasantest and safest remedy that can be employed for infants and young persons. Parents should have it in store against the insidious enemy that steals upon them unprepared. We have abundant grounds to believe the Cherry Pectoral saves more lives the consumptions it prevents than those it cures .-Keep it by you, and cure your colds while they are curable, nor neglect them until no human skill can master the inexorable canker that, fastened on the vitals, eats our life away. All know the dreadful fatality of lung disorders, and as they know too the virtues of this remedy, we need not do more than assure them it is still made the best it can be. We spare no cost, no care, no toil to produce it the most perfect possible, and thus afford those who rely on it the best agent which our skill can furnish for their cure.
