RALEIGH, N. C.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, OCT. 6, 1858.

IT IS DUMB.

We picked up the last Standard in the full expectation of seeing something said in reference to Forney's recent additional disclosures about Mr. Buchanan, but we were were mistaken. Not a line in reference to Forney appeared, but the Standard, leaving men and things at home, soars away over to the Pactolean sands of Unlifornia, then and there to crow with a forty cock power over the Democratic victory lately achieved in that State. Well, we are too amiable to begrudge the Standard the mite of comfort which the result in California might afford him. Great indeed is the need of the Standard, and all other Buchanan Democrats, for all the comfort they can get. Never, since the corrupt dynasty of Martin Van Buren erumbled to ruin, has the Demogratic party been in such a dreadful predicament, as it stands in at present. An unprincipled, feeble and timid administration stands with uplifted hands, and eyes starting with terror, piteously begging for the support of the party which elected it, and is answered by the curses of more than half of those who helped to place it upon its "bad eminence." "Tis

This Court commenced its session on Monday last, and up to Wednesday not a single and fatigued Judge, Juries and Lawyers, and the Everetts. This was an action for damages brought by Patrick McGowan, a Route John H. and Simon B. Everett, for a combined assault and battery on him, at the village of Weldon, on the 5th day of March, 1855, and which, at the time, created a good deal of noise and excitement, Mr. McGowap having been desperately wounded in the conflict. The damages were laid at $10,000 .-The case was elaborately and ably managed for the plaintiff by Mesars. A. M. Lewis and of an Admiral. Accordingly, Admiral Shubrick E. G. FOR THE REGISTER. STATE FAIR.

MR EDITOR: - We desire to call the attention f the Commissioned Officers of all the Military ompanies of the State to the proposed meeting said Officers at Raleigh during the ensuing tate Fair. That there should be great interes manifested in regard to the meeting, both the imortance of the ends aimed at, and the body to be etitioned, will at once suggest. If it be desired her to inculcate a military spirit, or to claim th orable attention of the approaching Legislaure, it certainly behooves the Officers themselves to make the meeting more than respectable in reard to the interest shown, as well as the numbers resent. SINGULAR COINCIDENCE.

A lady residing in this city, whose only daughter has been residing in New Orleans, for severa years past, had a most singular dream respecting her a few weeks since, which together with events that have occurred subsequently, renders it one of to be found on record. Feeling indisposed, she retired early on the evening alluded to, and almost immediately upon lying down; she was strangely overcome by a half awake slumber. While in this condition, her absent daughter apparently appeared at her bed side, attired in a yellow satin dress, her head adorned with a wreath of roses. After remaining a few moments, she slowly raised one hand and pointed upward, and vanished. A few moments, after, the lady awoke, and calling one of her relatives, who occupied an adjoining spartnext day, it was recounted by her, to several of her friends. On yesterday, she received intelligence from New Orleans, that her daughter had died on the 25th of September, with yellow fever, and comparing the date with a memorandum which she had tucky, has been appointed American Minister at made, found that her daughter's death occurred

> THE SOUTH AND THE PRESIDENCY .- Senator Brown, of Mississippi, in his late speech in that State, thus expressed himself touching this subject: as to any man who entertains sound views on the subject of Southern rights, ever being crowded into the Presidential chair. He may entertain sound views, and keep them to himself, or he may so disguise them in general verbiage, as to make them palatable. But if his views are sound and be expresses them with the boldness of a freeman, and the independence of a man, he seals his prospects forever.

A FUGITIVE SLAVE CASE IN CONNECTICUT. A fugitive slave case occurred in New London, Conn., on Friday. A coasting vessel arrived from Wilmington, North Carolina, with a fugitive slave who had secreted himself on board. The captain, discovering the negro, went ashore at New London and apprised the federal officials, who went to the vessel, but the man had taken the alarm, jumped overboard and swam ashore. Col-Mather instituted a search, found "Joe" concealed in a clothing store, and captured him; but Dr. Miner interfered and advised the negro to run, which he did. The collector got out a handbill offering a reward of $50 for his arrest, but the man escaped, and is supposed to be on his way to Canada. He alleged that he belonged to a colored woman, living 200 miles from Wilmington, and was secreted on board the vessel six days before she sailed. He was not discovered for six

SHOCCO SPRINGS, N. C.

We are told that the popularity of this place of summer resort increases with each consecutive season; and that this one has been marked by full attendance of persons from many other States besides our own. This is as it should be. The following letter, touching a tournament and fancy "ball at Shocco, is by a correspondent of the Savannah Republican :- Wilmington Herald. LETTER FROM A SOUTHERN TOURIST.

SHOCCO SPRINGS, N. C., Sept 26, 1958. I witnessed a tournament on Tuesday, the first one I ever saw, and most gallastly did the young Knights of Virginia and North Carolina carry themselves. The Knights of Virginia bore off the palm, and crowned one of her fair daughters as Queen-of Love and Beauty. The first maid of nonor was a Virginia lady, and crowned by the Knight of the Black Cross, who was also a Virginian. The Knight of the Forest and Knight of Oxford, both North Carolinians, crowned the econd and third maids of honor. The crowning of the Queen in the evening was witnessed by the greatest assemblage of beauty that it has ever been my good fortune to meet with. Previous to the tournament the Knights were addressed by Col.

T. T. Long of your State. On Wednesday night there was a fancy ball and as usual on such occasions all looked beautiful and performed their parts very gracefully. It would be unjust, however, did I not allude to Miss M. T. from Washington, who went in the character of Maid of the Mist; being beautiful, graceful and sylph-like, she sustained the character to the entire admiration of all present. Miss P. T R., of Franklin, went in character as the Empress Josephine, being elegantly attired, a beautiful form and majestic in her carriage. I felt, when in her presence, much like reviving those strains of love which in days past gladdened my inmost soul.— Prudence being the better part of valor, I gazed in silent admiration. I cannot hope ever again to witness such an array of beauty. There were a number of old men, widowers, (dead heads, bachelors, and beardless youths,) waiting in atten-dence—each one doubtless believing that he had advanced his matrimonial interests. In fact, Mr. Editor, if you are fully satisfied with the advice given to "Samivel," and ever intend again to splice the main brace, you had better "look over this assortment" before making your purchases Yours.

A GROSS OUTRAGE.

Like many other places, we have occasionally had amongst us a few rude, rowdy, drinking fellows, whose acts have somewhat tarnished the reputation of our town; and recently some idle. dissipated and evil disposed boys have disturbed our quietness by acts of wanton mischief in their midnight rambles; but on Tuesday night of last week a more disgraceful and scandalous outrage was committed in the Female Academy building, which aroused the general indignation of the citiizens, to give expression to which a town meeting was held at 12 o'clock on Wednesday) Col. Cadwallader Jones was called to the Chair, and Dennis Heartt appointed Secretary. The object of the meeting was explained by the Hon. Judge Nash, in a short but very appropriate address, at the conclusion of which he moved that a committee be appointed to prepare a resolution expressive of the feelings of the meeting. The motion was adopted, and the Chair appointed the Hon. Wm. A. Graham and Josiah Turner, sen., Esq., who presented the following resolution:

Resolved, That the citizens of Hillsborough and its vicinity here assembled, have heard with regret and indignation of the outrages perpetrated. in the Female Academy in this town, during the last night, and that they recommend to the officers of justice both of the county of Orange and the town, to exert the utmost vigilance in endeavoring to ascertain the offenours, and bring them before the proper legal tribunals to be dealt with as the The resolution was adopted by an unanimous

We have the gratification to add, that in the course of the afternoon sufficient information was obtained to lead to the arrest of the individuals who perpetrated the outrage. After an examination before Calvin E. Parish, on Thursday morning, three of them were held to answer before the Superior Court, to be held for this county in It is to be hoped that the speedy visitation which has befallen the perpetrators of this act, will have the effect of restraining future excesses of the kind; and that it will be a lasting benefit to the individuals now concerned-Hillsboro' Re-

THE CABLE TO HAVANA.-It is now stated that the submarine cable and land wire, from Havana, is to be terminated at Macon, Ga.

OUR NEW RELATIONS WITH CHINA. Correspondents in China furnish some additiondetails of interest of the ceremonies attending the signing of the several treaties between China and the European powers, and between the former nation and the United States. The description given of the farewell visit of Mr. Reed, the American Plenipotentiary, to the Imperial Commis-sioners, according to usage, is sufficiently amusing-The din of instruments—miscalled musical—is said to have been not short of infernal, rivalling in discord the great concert given by Nebuchadnezzar before his colossal image of gold, on the plains

An instance of Imperial absolutism is related in the summary beheading of one of the commis-sioners with whom Mr. Cushing negotiated his treaty. He had been associated with the other ioners in negotiating the treaty with Mr. Reed, but he was recalled to Pekin, intercepted in his way by an army of 30,000 soldiers, put in rons, and finally decapitated. The charge against him, was that he had still further complicated the difficulties, but of this there was no proof. Another report says the commissioner was only degra-

The Emperor was said to be in a fix with the rebels on the one side and the Western Barbarians on the other, consequently he has been but too glad to yield to the demands of the latter.

Our correspondent writes:

"The Chinese Commissioners were so utterly descending and humbled, that they even came to Mr. Reed and the Russian Minister, begging them almost with tears, to go to the English Minister Lord Elgin, and induce him to lower his terms in consideration of the miserable state of the Empire. This, of course, they were unable to do, but the sight of the commissioners, and their appeal, were

* * * "You have probably already seen accounts of "the battle of the forts" and I will therefore limit my remarks to incidents and general information. No sooner had the allies thus opened the road than Mr. Reed repaired onb oard of the America, where the American and Russian flags were shortly after hoisted, side by side, after which she steamed slowly up the river, in the wake of the advancing gunboats. 'I am determined to be there as soon as the allies', said Count Poutiatine. This is how Mr.Reed got to Tein-tsiu."

According to the plans which had been formed, the allies pushed on up to Tien-tsin on the 25th, followed by Count Poutaitine and Mr. Reed. They moored their vessels under the twelve or fifteen feet high banks opposite the city, and sent in other demands to Pekin. They would have carried these demands in person, but the river higher up was not deep enough to admit the gun boats. The Emperor, now thoroughly slarmed, was glad to be allowed even to appoint commissioners. Another succession of conferences was, therefore, the result which were evidently more fruitful than the first,, for on the 14th, the Russians signed a treaty, which granted them everything they wished, and on the 19th, Mr. Reed was equally fortunate. I believe, however, rumor says so, that Mr. Reed wished them to declare the introduction or use of opium, one of the two, illegal; but this they of course laughed at, for two reasons: In the first place, it must have been one of the very things for which the English contended, and in refusing which they would consequently be supported by them ; and accordingly, the import of opium, since it has been authorized by the government, is a source of
