

THE CUBA DEBATE.

SENATOR THOMPSON'S SPEECH—A JOINT TIME IN THE SENATE.

The speech of Senator Thompson, of Ky., on Sunday's three-million bill for the acquisition of Cuba, has been one of the incidents of the present session of Congress that will be long remembered.

AMERICANIZING CUBA.

Two or three very vague notions have been introduced into this debate. Gentlemen have talked about Americanizing Cuba. What sort of Americanizing will go on there? I understood the Senator from Kentucky to mean that we will take Cuba, he said, we will "plant for liberty."

Well, sir, as to the Democratic party, I do not know how they will do. I think I can say a little more about it. I understand that the discipline is extremely rigid.

They master their men with great severity, according to regular drill, and if a man does not chalk up to the book, overboard he goes; and the rule is that in his better he has an enemy out of the country.

Well, sir, as to the Democratic party, I do not know how they will do. I think I can say a little more about it. I understand that the discipline is extremely rigid.

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES.

The following message was transmitted from the President of the United States to Congress on Monday last week:

To the Senate and House of Representatives: The brief period which remains of my present session, and the great urgency and importance of the subject before me, require me to submit to you the protection of American citizens and their property.

Under these circumstances, I earnestly recommend to Congress the passage of an act authorizing the President under such restrictions as they deem proper, to employ the land and naval forces of the United States in preventing the transit from being obstructed or closed by lawless violence, and in protecting the lives and property of American citizens traveling thereon.

THE HARP OF A THOUSAND STRINGS.

Come ye generous friends of a little while, And listen to my song. And though my subject is very great, My story won't be long.

Religion, Politics, and Law, Are ranging under par, As seen by microscopic aid, In pulpit, forum, bar.

The politician used to be A man of some renown; Now, a half dozen would-be such Are found in every town.

No matter how corrupt he is— How oft he turns his coat, How low he stoops to get a bribe, He gets the people's vote.

Then let us take a heavy view Of Justice and the Bar; And how quickly we discern, How altered these things are;

So turn your eyes to every part Of Uncle Sam's machine, You'll find a score of his working looms— Some place that needs a pin, But I must end my story now, For every penny must bring home.

REMARKS OF MR. WALKER, OF CHEROKEE, DELIVERED IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS FEB. 16, 1859.

Delivered in the House of Commons Feb. 16, 1859. The Bill to establish a Bank at Murphy, N. C. Mr. SPEAKER—I do not intend to consume the time of the House that would be necessary to show the great necessity of the bill now before the House.
