ORGANIZATION --- DOCUMENTS--- EX-ECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

There is no doubt that the great inroad made upon the Democratic party in Virginia at the late election is attributable to the thorough organization of the Opposition party. With an active, indefatigable and intelligent Executive Committee at Richmond to publish and circulate documents, and correspond with sub-committees throughout the State, the day of election found the Oppositionists in Virginia as thoroughly organized as a party could be, and we now see the result. Democracy in Virginia has received a blow from which it can never recover-a blow under which it staggers to a tall in 1860. Now. why should not organization and the circulation of documents do in the coming elections in the Old North State the same good for the Oppositionists that has just been accomplished in the Old Dominion by the same means ?

In this connection, it becomes an interesting inquiry, have we an Opposition executive committee among us ? . It may seem strange that an Opposition Editor here at the seat of government should make this enquiry-an enquiry which perhaps any other Opposition Editor in the State can readily answer,-but we make it in earnestness and good faith. It would be upcandid in us to deny that we

General J. W. Watkins, U. S. Marshal. The distinguished visitors were conducted from thence to the wharf of the Baltimore Steam Packet Company, where they were received on board the fine steamer Louisians, by Moor N. Falls, Esq., President of the Line, fine state rooms having been reserved for their accommodation. The principal state-rooms of the steamer were tastefully decorated with the American Flag. ' Upon the arrival of the party at the wharf, several hundred persons assembled and exchanged congratu'ations with the President. About 5 o'clock the Louisiana left her wharf and arrived at Portsmouth at 6 o'clock on Tuesday morning.

We take from the correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch the following account of the proceedings from this hour until the arrival of the President at Weldon : A large crowd was collected around the wharf. anxious to welcome him, and by the time the vessel touched the wharf its decks were swarmed by people, to catch a view of the first executive officer of the Unite | States. The boat was handsomely decorated with flags, and presented a pretty ap-pearance. The President, accompanied by Hon. Mr. Thompson, of Mississippi. RALEIGH! WEDNESDAY MORNING, JUNE 8, 1859.

Liberty, as cherished by all parties in North Carolina, becomes a great civil blossing unmixed, as it is, with lawlessness, which would make it prove a curse. The Governor had spoken of him as a supporter of the Constitution and the Union, and he had spoken t-uly. He ever expected to be. As long as this great charter of liberty remains unimpaired, we shall be the greatest and happiest people in the world. But let it be battered, come the scorn of the world and the hope of tyrants. Thank God, there is no danger to it from North Carolina. While she may have had her diflerv.

About half after 11 o'clock the President and Secretary Thompson, the military and others took passage on the Special Train for Raleigh. The by Dr. John Morris, Postmaster of that City, and train stopped an hour at Franklinton, where the party dined.

> The public spirited citizens of Franklinton, not to be behind other places, on hearing that it was arranged that the President should dine there, appointed a Committee to receive and welcome him. On the arrival of the train at that place, a large number of people were found to be assembled to greet the distinguished visitors. They were welcomed to the hospitalities of the village by C. C. Blacknall, Esq., in a very neat and appropriate address, which was responded to by President Buchanan in an elequent manner. Hon. Jacob Thompson being called on, also delivered a brief address, thanking the citizens of Franklinton for their cordial greeting. After which the President, the Committees and Soldiers took their seats at the table of Msjor Thomas' Hotel and partook of a sumptions dinner.

Dinner being over the President and those accompanying took the cars for Raleigh. ARRIVAL AT BALEIGH.

The special train arrived at the depot in this city about half-past 6 o'clock. The President was saluted with roars of Artillery by the Newbern Light Infantry and Salisbury Artillery. Here the President was welcomed to the city by the surrounded him. Every one seemed anxious to Hon. D.M. Barringer in a brief address, which clasp him by the hand, and as many of them as was replied to by the President in a most telici-artillery, the special train containing the President took its departure for Durham's station, at which place carringes were in readiness to carry the party to Chapel Hill. A few minutes after the special train left the regular mail train started, carrying the soldiery and citizens. This train consisted of seven coaches, all filled to repletion. The Newbern Companies remained in this city ill about 1 o'clock, parading the streets, and enliving our town with music by their splendid band, and then took the special train which brought them hither and departed for their homes. They announced their departure by a discharge of artil-

CONGREGATIONAL MUSIC-MR. EVER.

MR. EDITOR :- I trust you will allow me a little space in your paper for the purpose of referring to a gentleman who has been engaged in our city some weeks endeavoring to raise the standard of congregational music.

Mr. Everett, of Virginia, came among us some five or six weeks ago, and made arrangements with the Methodist and Baptist congregations for teaching them weal music, promising, in the course of twelve lessons, to learn every one who felt interest enough to make the attempt, to read plain music, in any key, at sight. The session has just closed, and all agree in the opinion that Mr. E. has literally accomplished all that he promised. His manner of teaching is so very simple that the dullest comprehension cannot fail to understand his instruction, and so firmly does he fix what he teaches upon the mind that the most treacherous memory can retain it. His terms are the most moderate of any teacher who has preceded him, and I do not hesitate to say that as a teacher of vocal music he is far superior to any other who has ever visited our city. I regret to learn that Mr. Everett will not remain in our city longer. He leaves for Lynchburg, Va., to-day, where he and his brother have made arrangements for teaching seven congregations. Those who have failed to improve the opportunity afforded them by Mr. E. for learning church music will, I doubt not, have cause to deeply regret it.

COL. EDWARDS LETTER.

We have heard but one opinio nexpressed about the letter from Col. Edwards, which we published in our last issue. " On all hands it is agreed that it is an exceedingly able production, and one from the perusal of which no Oppositionist can rise without feelings of the deepest regret that the author's feeble health prevents his encountering Mr. Branch Night," are the productions of authors who insist in the canvass.

On the outrageous proposition to give the President Thirty Million of Dollars-a proposition which Mr. Branch very complacently calls "my Bill"-Col. Edwards is as clear as a sunbeam, and knocks Mr. B.'s feet completely from under him. Let everybody who has not yet read Col. E.'s letter, read it forthwith.

HOW IT WAS DONE.

The election of John Letcher to the gubernatorial chair of Virginia was effected by the vote of North Western Virginia-a region of country jammed in between Pennsylvania and Ohio, and a section of the State in which slaves are as scarce as hen's teeth-in which. in truth, they cannot be held at all. The damnable Ruffner pamphlet, which rendered Letcher so odious in other portions of Virossible were gratified. Mayor Geo. W. Grico, with several of the anthorities of the place, waited on the President, and welcomed him to tay Old Dominion in a very brief and appropriate speech. A boquet of flowers from a fair genizen of Portsmouth was presented him, and he was then escorted to the train. Before the train started a large crowd gathered around it, and several times " three cheers" were given for the President, in response to the proposition of some enthusiastic admirer. The crowd then commenced shaking hands with Mr. Buchanan and interchanging the usual compliments. One gentleman was introduced as a "fisherman for eighteen years," and a great many were designated as "good Democrats." About half an hour after his arrival, the train started. High street, through which the cars passed, was lined even at that early hour in the morning with gentlemen and ladies, who had assembled to see Mr. Buchanan-the growd in many places extending into the middle of that unu-ually broad avenue. The crowd around the platform preseed up to the car window to bid Mr. Buchanan good bye, and there were several fervent exclamations of "God bless you, Mr. Buchanan," to which he replied, "God bless you-God bless you all, gen-tlemen." The Pennsylvania Band, which bad been engaged by the citizens, struck up a national air, and the cars moved off slowly, while the crowd repeatedly cheered. When the President reached Suffelk, a crowd aware of his intended coming, had assembled, and a general handshaking with Mr. Buchanan took blace. As the cars moved off, a farmer, in hot haste, reached the depot just in time to see him, and raised a hearty laugh in the car by exclaim-ing in the frankest sort of way, "Halloo, is that old Buck ?"

At several of the dopots, a number of citizens were assembled to see the President pass ; while on the route the "President's car" was kept alive by a running fire of jokes-Mr. Buchanan essayed a part in the fun by remarking that the only in-convenience he had experienced on the journey was finding that the beds on the Baltimore steamer, Louisiana, were either too short for him or he was too long for them. "No, No," said one of the jokers, " the secret is that they made a mistake and put you in the bridal chamber." Hearty and heartless laughter followed this centre shot at the unhappy single blessedness of the bachelor President. Just as the cars were about crossing the North Carolina line a very fine collation-provided by the managers of the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad-was served up. At Branchville, N. C., one of the spectators, evidently thinking of the Virginia election, enthusiastically cried out "Hurrah for Goggin!" and by way of a rider; added, "Down with the Thirty Million Bill !"

RECEPTION OF THE PRESIDENT AT WELDON. About half past 10 o'clock the train from Portsmouth bearing the President and Secretary, arrived at Weldon, where they were met at the depot by the Oak City Guards and the Wilmington Light Infantry, and a large concourse of people from the surrounding country. There were also quite a number of notables present, among them Gov. Ellis, Hon. Thomas Bragg, Hon. D. M. Barringer, Hon. L. O'B. Branch, Hon. Weldon N. Edwards, W. W. Holden, and Mayor Grice, of Portsmouth

The President was welcomed to North Carolina by Gov. Ellis in the following remarks :

I welcome you, Mr. President, in the name of the people of North Carolina. Fellow-citizens, 1 have the honor of introducing to you James Bu-chanan, President of the United States. It needs not that I should speak to you of his character and public service. They are a part of the history of this great country, and as we value that country, so will we value his services in its behalf. It has been said of a distinguished Marshal of France, that he fought 500 battles for his country, and never one against it So may we say of the illus-trious Chief Magistrate who stands before you, that he has fought 100 political battles for his coun-try, and never one against it. When Mr. Buchanan had concluded his remark Gov. Bragg introduced Hon. Jacob Thompson to the assembled throng, and he delivered an appropriate address also.

The distinguished visitors were met at the deoot by several military companies from different parts of the State, which had arrived here during the day, and by about two thousand citizens. At the conclusion of the speeches, a procession was formed, consisting of eleven Military Companies, viz: The Wilmington Light Infantry, under command of Captain Ball, accompanied by the Fayetteville Cornet Band ; the Rowan Rifle Guards, Captain H. L. Robards; the Iredell Blues, Captain A. K. Simonton; the Orange Guards, Captain Pride Jones ; the Newbern Light Infantry, Captain J. V. Jordan, accompanied by the Band from on board the U S. Receiving-ship Pennsylvania; the Hornet's Nest Riflemen, from Charlotte, commanded by Lieut. Williams; the Cabarrus Guards, from Concord, Captain Slough

the Elm City Cadets, from Newbern, Captain George Lewis ; the Cadets from the Hillsborough Military 'Academy, under command of the efficient and accomplished Superintendent of that Institution, Col. C. C. Tew; the Oak City Guards, Captain Thompson, accompanied by the Salisbury B.ses Band; and the Rowan Artillery, from Salisbury, under command of Lieu*. Z. Myers. Imnediately following the Military came the President, in an open cerriage, drawn by two ocautiful iron grays, and by his side sat Governor Ellis .-In the next carriage was Secretary Thompson, accompanied by Senator Bragg; and following this were two or three other carriages with citizens.

The procession marched through several of our streets, and around Capitol Square, and thence down Fayetteville street, to the Yarbrough House, where lodgings had been prepared for the visitors. On arriving at the Yarbrough House, the Mi'itary formed into line and presented arms. The carriages containing the President and Secretary were driven in front of the column to the entrance of the building, where the distinguished visitors alighted and were conducted to their apertments. The military then were conducted to their dif ferent rendezvous.

The military display was doubtless the finest ever witnessed in North Carolina. We do not like to be invidious, but must be excused for re ferring particularly to the Iredell Blues, Captain Simonton, as fine a looking, soldierly set of fellows as are to be found any where, and we learn, a band of as gallant Whigs as ever fluttered, with one lone exception, there being but one Democrat in the Company. The superior drill of the Hillsboro Military Cadets elicited the most unbounded admiration on all hands. The Wilmington Light Infantry, probably the finest Company in the State, were out in "full feather." The ranks of the Newbern Light Infantry, and the Companies from Salisbury and Statesville were not as full as they would have been had they not a few days ago pretty effectually used themselves up by their trip to Charlotte, on the occasion of the celebration of the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence: and, besides, Superior Court was held in Salisbury the present week, which also detained several members of the two Companies from that place. The Orange Guards, the Cabarrus Guards, the Hornets' Next Biflemen and the Elm City Cadets made fine turn outs and excited much admiration The music from the three bands, viz : the Pennsylvanis, the Fayetteville Cornet and the Salisbury newspapers, by way of advertisements. This notice of the Boyden House, however, is given by a traveler without the knowledge or solicitation of the Proprietor. The only interest he has in this voluntary contribution is that he hopes to attract the public attention, and travelers generally, to this inestimable house, and by their liberal patronage encourage Col. L. L. Boyden, the accommodating Proprietor, and thus give an impetus to other landlords to follow his example, which will insure to the traveling community ease and comfort wherever they may go.' During our stay at the Boyden House, there was but one opinion. smong the boarders, and that was that the Boyden House was " The House"-the best house in the South, (the Charleston hotels not excepted.) For ourself, we wish the Colonel all success ; and to his obliging and gentlemanly assistant, Mr. J. P. Gowan, we have only to say we shall be very certain to renew with pleasure his acquaintance whenever we visit Salisbury.

Mr. Rarey, after performing before the Royal fumily at Berlin, has gone on to St. Petersburg. where his hands have been kept quite full. On the 10th, he gave a performance before the Emperor and his family and two of his brothers, beside several Princes and Princesses. The first subject was a horse who had just kicked his box to piece aud killed his groom, and Mr. Rarey exhibited him after a few days' training, as obedient as a circus horse, and ready to obey orders, which were given him from the other end of the riding school. he second was a wild, unbroken, entire borse, from the steppes of Russia; and he, too, was com pietely subdued in so short a time, that the Emperor not only expressed his gratification but or-dered a report to be published in the papers. The Illustrated London News says that Mr. Rarey has finally concluded arrangements with the Horse Guards to teach the British cavalry, and he returns for that purpose to London on the 1st of last, savs : The President was received at this place by Goy. Ellis, who welcomed him in a speech which we must confess was not much to our taste either in style, manner or sentiment. The President's reply, however, was most felicitous, being chaste, neat and appropriate, and serving to illustrate in a forcible manner the difference between a man of talent, as we admit Mr. Buchanan to be, and one who has been only fortunate in the obtaining of

MARRIED,

At the Church of the Advent, Williamston by Rev. Benj. T. Branson, on the 25th of May, Miss Hannah Clements, of Williamston, and Her ry A. Gilliam, Esq., of Plymouth.

OBITUARY. Died on Thursday evening, the 12th inst., near Cinston, Mrs. LOUISA HERNANDEZ WASHING-

on, consort of George Washington, Esq., and laughter of the late Gen. Joseph M. Hyrnandez of Florida. It is with feelings of no ordinary emotion that we attempt to pay our feeble tribute to the worth of this lovely and most estimable

Mrs. Washington was born at St. Augustine, Florids, on the 8th of June, A. D. 1823. Having received a most thorough education at the best literary institutions in the Union, her many graces and accomplishments added to the natural prightness of her disposition, rendered her the delight of every circle in which she mingled. Surrounded by all those temporal blessings and com-forts which tend to render life desirable and to rivet the affections to earth, she was nevertheless not unmindful of the fleeting nature of all earth-ly enjoyments and was led to lay hold on those more enduring joys which the world can neithe give nor take away.

At an early ageshe was incorporated into Christ's mystical body by the sacred ordinance of Baptism, and about two years since, in the holy rite Confirmation, by the Right Rev. Dr. Atkinson, Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church for this Dio-cese, she was received into the number of the faith-ful and permitted to partake of the broken emblems of a Saviour's love. And through grace she has been enabled to adorn the doctrine of God her

Saviour, by a well ordered life and a godly con-versation, her works and labors of love, bearing testimony to the sincerity of her piety—and by them "she being dead yet speaketh." Language would fail were we to attempt to por-tray the universal gloom, which this melancholy event has thrown over our community-and long, long will it be ere the sorrowing friends she has left behind can realize the sad truth that the pure and gentle spirit whose presence seemed to be necessary to their happiness, has passed from their midst be seen no more on earth. Her remains were followed to their last resting place by a large concourse of mourning relative and friends-where amid tears, prayers and sup plications, they were consigned to the tomb—carth to earth—dust to dust—asbes to asbes—in sure and certain hope of a blissful immortality by the "Resurrection of the dead," through our Lord Jesus Christ-until the fair dawning of "that morn" which shall give back to us all that has been excellent in wiedom and in virtue-all that has been pleasing to the eye of fancy or dear to the heart of affection-when all the brautiful beings which here pass before us like shadows shall rest and stay in our presence forever. TO DRUGGISTS. GRAYSON SULPHUR SPRINGS, CARROLL COUNTY, VIRGINIA.
