RALLY--BALLY--RALLY.

If the Oppositionists of this District will give their full vote to Mr. Sanders he will, beyond all doubt, be elected. Will not our full force in support of Mr. 5. ? It is true that he is a Democrat, but nevertheless he is opposed to the present corrupt and extravagant administration, and to Mr. Branch's monstrous and iniqui ous Thirty Million Bill Are these not considerations which should induce every member of the Opposition party to vote for Mr. Sanders ! Let them bear it in mind that if Mr. Branch is re-elected to Congress he will claim, and have a right to claim, his re-election as an endorsement of the Thirty Million Bill, and claim it too, as a peculiarly significant and emphatic endorsement. He alone, of all the candidates for Congress in North C rolina, approves the Thirty Million Bill. In this District alone, it has been made the test question-Mr. B. having made it so, and Mr. Sanders having joined issue with him. Are the members of the Opposition then, willing that Mr. Branch shall be elected, and the fact be thus proclaimed to the country, that the Metropolitan District of North Carolina is in favor of ed to the statement : the Thirty Million Bill-in favor of borrowing Thirty Millions of dollars to give to James Buchanan to buy what ten times Thirty Millions cannot buy-in favor of ignoring the constitutional authority of the United States Senate, in order to put millions upon millions of dollars in the pockets of an administration which has in the most corrupt and profligate manner squandered every cent upon which it could lay its plundering and rapacious hands ! If our Opposition friends do not wish to see such facts proclaimed, as will be proclaimed in Mr. Branch's re-election, let them give Mr. Sanders a zealous and hearty support-let them tell this wicked, corrupt and impudent administration, in trumpet tones, that the freemen of the Metropolitan District of the Old North State indignantly refuse to surrender at its bidding, their GOVERNMENT EXPENSES.

The weather is awfully hot, and we are sorry to see that in addition to its discomforting influence, our neighbor, Citizen Holden, is laboring at the vain task of making out that prodigal chap, Old Buck, a marvellously economical man. In his last paper be makes a great flourish over the article we published from the Washington Constitution, saying that the expenditures of the last fiscal year, exclusive of trust funds and pay ments on account of the public debt, amount ed to $66,396,586, but he studiously avoided making any reference to the following remarks of the Constitution which were append

According to the practice of the government, pertion of the annual approprations for each fiscal year is never expended until after its expiration. so that the only proper way of determining what are the real expenditures is to take the year by appropriations made by Congress, which are al spent in the end, whether they are great or small and often they are insufficient, as the deficiency appropriation bills, passed at each session, abundantly rove. The Congressional appropriations for the ear were $83,000,000.

It will thus be seen that the Congressional appropriations for the past year were $83, 000,000, and the Constitution, Mr. Buch anan's organ, is of the opinion that it will "all be spent in the end," and that even so large a sum as $83,000,000 will probably be "insufficient." Why did the Standard suppress the part of the article from the Constitution which we copy above ? Was it afraid to let its readers see the admission of Mr. Buchanan's own mouth-piece, speaking as mouthpieces in general do, just under his nose, in relation to the vast amount of money expended by an Administration which the Standard, In a letter replying to an invitation to a insulting the intelligence of its readers, dinner to be given to Mr. Stephens of Geor- claims to be economical (!) ? A GREAT RESULT.

A Kentucky correspondent of the Richmond Enquirer furnishes that journal with the pleasant intelligence that "Gen. Cass has done more to destroy Democracy, by his letter on naturalization, in that region of country, than all the Opppositionists could do in one hungred years." He concludes with the assurance that "not a single Democrat" will be returned to Congress from that State. If this shall be the result of the poor old Secretary's blunder, he will have atoned for a multitude of sins.

A thorough knowledge of the rules of rhetoric is highly necessary to any man who would be eith-82 er a successful speaker or wri'er. Most of the 3135 H. W. Montague, 208 text-books in our schools and colleges have treated rhetoric as a higher sort of Grammar, and have failed to recognise its true relation to Logic. But its logical relations form its primary and most important division. The chief effort of the author of the work before us seems to be to make his instruction as perspicuous and simple as possible in treating of the subject, and his work is evidently jun improvement on many, if not all, the works of the kind which have preceded it. Having the advantage of borrowing ideas from the numerous publications on the subject already before the pubic, he has happily blended the most valuable parts Geo. W. Further, Mr. Ball, a member of Congress, in an able speech, in the last Congress, which has never been contradicted, said: Daring the Fillmore Administration, this work on the Capital was commenced under the direction of the Department of the Interior, (where it roperly belongs.) according to plans furnished Mr Walter, who is justly considered the best civil architect in the United States. One of the first things which Mr. I'ierce did, when he became President, was to take the contract of the work from the Secretary of the Interior, and place it with the Secretary of War, who at once appointed Capt. Her chief complaint is, that she has oved less liberty at the North than in New Orans ; and stating this to some colored friends at church yesterday, seems to have led to the present legal proceedings.
