RALEIGH WEDNESDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 9; 1859.

E. A. Crudup, who, it was generally understood, did not desire a re-election.

On motion of Geo. W. Mordecal, Esq., the present Finance Committee, composed of Messrs. Venable, Davis and Beavers, was continued as the Finance Committee for the ensuing year.

On motion of Mr. Batchelor, the thanks of the meeting were tendered the Chairman and Secretaries for the excellent manner in which they had discharged their duties. On motion of Mr. Perry the meeting adjourned.

A RENCONTRE AT JACKSON. We very much regret to learn that a rencontre took place at Jackson-Northampton Court House-on the 1st inst., between B. F. Moore, Esq., of this city, and Col. John M. Moody, of Northampton, in which the right arm of the former was broken by a blow from the stick of the latter. Although we have heard some of the particulars of this difficulty, we forbear, in justice to both parties, to give them. We have, however, been informed, that the account of the affair given by a correspondent of the Petersburg Express, is very erroneous.

MARYLAND ELECTIONS.

An election was held in Maryland on Wednesday last for a State Comptroller and six Congressmen, members of the Legislature, &c. The excitement previous to the election was great throughout the State. The Opposition Congressional candidates in Baltimore, especially, Messrs. H. Winter Davis and J. Morrison Harris, were bitterly opposed, and every effort was put forth by the so-called Reformers of that city to compass their defeat : but these efforts were fruitless. Baltimore, as usual, has given an overwhelming maority for the Opposition candidates. There was considerable rioting in Baltimore, one or two persons being killed, and numbers of others beaten and wounded, and according to the veracious telegraph, the Americans were responsible for it all: but the following extract from an article in the pu Baltimore Patriot, printed on the afternoon of the day of the election, will show with which party the rioticg commenced :

"The conflict inaugurated by the Reform party: we are sorry to say, was opened with unusual vio-lence this morning. In several of the wards they undertook to take possession of the polls by force, but wherever this was attempted it was successfully resisted. The accounts we have received place the responsibility of these outbreaks upon H. the shoulders of the Reformers in every case. The result in the city and State as far as heard SEY from is favorable to the success of the Americans, Spirit of the age please copy. Mr. Mchave used it, and is now resorted to with co. all the diseases for which It has cured thousands who had given up all merous unsolicited certi-shov. If it had been committed by an American, it would have been telegraphed instantly to every part of the country, as an evidence of the rowdyism of the Americans of that city.

hailed with universal love and grattitude. One of the writers says that, if the Governor could be on the ground and see the state of sentiment in the non-slaveholding S'ates upon this sub ject, he would not besitate for an instant. All this explains the sympathizing tone of the New York Journal of Commerce, to which we referred yesterday, hitherto a conservative paper, but which seems now to be infected by the general madness. The writers of these letters underrete the sagacity, firmness and the character of the Virginian at the head of this great Common wealth, when they address to him such appeals. In the most cold-blooded and deliberate malioe and wickedness. John Brown has committed the greatest crimes known to human law, and now they who instigated his to homan law, and now the "who instigated his crimes threaten vengearce if he is punished, and men whose morbid sympathies are always en'isted in b-half of suffering villainy, insist that it would i be good policy to let him go. It would neither be good policy nor good principle—a thing which there seems to be precious little idea of, in the minds of many of these sympathizers.

But why these as mpachizing letters? Some of them are from men high in wealth and position, and who are themselves strongly suspected of a willingness to make money out of Southern blood They are on-asy in their own minds; their con science tells them that Brown is in his present position through their agency; that he is only their tool and instrument, and that not only the blood shed at Harper's Ferry is on their hands, but the life of Old Brown and his confederates also .-Hence their anxiety to rescue him from the fate impending over his head. We do not say that all the letters from influential quarters received by Gov. Wise are prompted by this motive; but some of them undoubtedly are. We would suggest to sympathizers of this stamp the only mode approaching the Governor of Virginia which affords them the smallest chance of receiving even a hearing. Let them offer their own precious necks in the place of Brown. Their consciences tell them that, if he dies, they are guilty of his death. Let them come on and offer to die in his lacel Let some of the Boston speculators

Southern cotton try the merits of this system of exchanges. We venture to say that if they will draw on Southern hemp, the draft will be immediately honored, and the bonds of Union pulled so tight that they will never again breathe a disloyal and traitorous breath.- Richmond Dispatch.

Whole number of individual shares represented, 3487 which were entitled to 1892 votes. (A stockbolder came into the meeting after the Committee reported, who wes entitled to 9 votes, which increased the whole number of individual votes to 1901.)

Hon. D. M. Barringer represented the State Stock, which holds 4875 shares, and is entitled, to 1361 votes.

The editor of the Montgomery Mail, who has lately made a trip to the North, in giving in his "experience" about the Railroads, &c., says of the conductors, "the most attentive, wide-awake and gentlemanly, that we Wilmington and Manchester."

We have not the pleasure of knowing the latter officer, but we have known Capt. Horton as a conductor on the Ruleigh and Gaston Road for at least eighteen years, and he richly deserves the compliment paid to him by Mr. Hooper, the editor of the Mon'gomery Mail. The Raleigh and Gaston Road has been eminently fortunate in the very important department of conductors. We have of Brown if Gov. alone The whole South is deeply and vitally interested in the condign punishment of these men. Virginia was invaded on the 16th October by these containing a club of ten subscribers at that ruffians. We as our paper will show, were anxious to helieve that outside the ranks of unmitigated abolitionism, the whole North would frown indignantly on Brown's outrage, and hail with pleasure his punishment after legal conviction. This opinion, we deeply regret to say, we have had reason to change, and to come to the concluson, that if the South wou'd maintain her rights, her property. we met, were C-ptain Horton of the Raleigh and the lives of her citizens and the honor of her and Gaston Road, and Mr. Gilbert of the daughters, she must rely upon berself, and not look North for aid or sympathy. There is no use in

The Govern r of Virginis, whose energenic, trictic and prodent conduct in regard to the Harper's Ferry outrage commends universal approval, is in the daily receipt of a large number of letters 'rom abolitionists in various States, threatening his life, threatening an attempt to rescue old Brown threatening the renewal of like attempts to those

Mr. Jordan Womble, on Hargett Street, and breaking open the front door, were met at the threshold by the flames. The engines were promptly carried to the spot, and did effectual service in confining the fire to Mr. Womble's store, but could not prevent that building, with its entire contents, except the liquors and a quantity of sugar and molasses which were in the cellar, from being almost entirely destroyed. Mr. Womble had but recently laid in a large fall stock of groceries, all of which was destroyed, with the exception above noted. He estimates his immediate loss at about $1,000 on his stock, and $800 on his store, on neither of which, we regret to add, had he one cent of insurance. The houses on that row are all prick, with tin roofs, and it was doubtless owing to this fact, in connection with the evergetic efforts of those who labored so faithfully at the engines, that the flames were confined to Mr.

Womple's store. The adjoining storehouses of Mossrs. Upchurch & Royster and Mr James Rogers were in such imminent danger as to necessitate the removal to the street of their entire stocks of goods. Each of these firms will lose some two or three hundred dollars probably by the damege ustain d by their goods in removing them, and the water which was poured copiously intotheir stores. Mr. Womble had, we understand, in his cel'ar, about one hundred barrels of liquors of different grades, none of which was injured, as the fire did not penetrate to the cellar. He also had a large quantity of salt on his fir.t floor, and it has been suggested to us that this article had much to do with the prevention of the communication of the fire to the liquors. It was fortunate that the fire did not reach these liquors, for if it had, the arjoining houses could scarcely have been saved. Mr. Womble had some twelve or fourteen dollars in silver in his drawer, which was nicked up after the fire had been subdued, and returned to him. The origin of the fire is a mystery. It is thought that it could not have been the work of an incendiary, as both the back and front doors were found securely bolted, as also were the windows. Mr. W. himself extinguished the fire be had in the store on Tuesday night, and besides, when the fire was first discovered it was burning a quantity of bagging and rope near the front door, and a considerable distance from the freplace; so it could not have resulted from any accident of this kind. Mr. W. states that he had on a shelf near the front door several gross of friction matches, and it may have been that rats in gnawing the boxes caused these matches to ignite, and the fire thus communicated to the bagging. Too much credit cannot be awarded those who worked so indefatigably on the engines, as it was due mainly to their efforts that the flames were prevented from spreading to other buildings. The supply of water was very inadequate, but by means of buckets he engines were kept constantly at work till the flames were subdued. The exerticns of a negro woman belonging to Mr. Womble, both in working at the engine and in carrying water, are deserving of especial notice. Never did a servant work more faithfully or more constantly, and this is another evidence of the attachment which our Southern slaves have for their masters, which such fanatical philanthropists as Beecher, Greely & Co., would do well to reflect upon while demoaning the forlorn condition of Southern slaves.

P. S. Since the above was written, the hose of one of the engines, which was thought to have bursted during the progress of the fire, has been examined, and found to have been cut. It was cut by some rascal doubtless in order to prevent the

Resolved, That the fiscal year of this Compahall be so changed as to commence on the 1st day of January and end on the 31st day of D-cember feach year, in-tead of the 1st day of October and 30th of September, as at present, and that the next fi-cal year shall end on the 31st day of December,

Mr. Jos. B. Bachelor, of Warrenton, opposed he time designated, and moved as an amendmen that the fiscal year shall hereafter end on the 30th June and commence on the 1st of July. The first of January was a bad time for the meeting of the Stockholders, as at that time everybody was arranging their business for the ensuing year, hiring negroes. &c.

Mr. Davis explained that the meeting of the Stockholders would not take place until about six weeks after the end of the fiscal year, as the Treasurer and other officers of the Company would have to arrange their accounts, make up their reports, &c., which could not be done till the end o the fiscal year.

The uiscussion of the resolution was continued for a while longer, and was participated in by Messrs, Venable, Batchelor, Mordecai and Wilder and the resolution was finally amended so as t change the ending of the fiscal year to the 31st of May. The resolution as finally passed, reads as follows :

Resolved, That the fiscal year of this Company shall be so changed as to commence on the 1st day of June, and end on the 31st day of May, of each year, instead of the 1st day of October, and the, 30th of September, as at present, and that the next fiscal year shall end on the 31st day of May, 1860. On motion of Mr. T. B. Venable, the first Thursday in July next was appointed for the next meeting of the Stockholders.

On motion of Kemp P. Battle, Esq., the mee ing now went into the election of four Director on the part of the Stockholders.
