From the Albemarie Southron. THE CANVASS OPENED DISCUSSION AT GATESVILLE ! Governor Ellis a used up Man THE OPPOSITION IN HIGH SPIRITS. POOL COVERED WITH GLORY

Democrats Down in the Mouth Democrats Down in the mount The conditions for Governor addressed the pro-ple of Gates county at Gatesville on Tuesday last. The Court House was crowded to its utmost ca-pacity, and the people appeared to take great in-terest in the discussion. We were present and took notes, and the following is a substantial re-pert of the main points in the discussion. Gov. Mills made the opening speech. He com-manced by telling the people of Gates county that he was the candidate of the Democratic party for a close the officient of the discussion. He tool the memored by teaming the people of Once constic party for re-election to the office of Governor. He told the people that he desired in the outset, to thank the people of Gates for their warm and generous sup-port two years ago. The Governor sold he had been a careful reader of the history of North Car-oline, and congratulated the people on the happy and prosperous condition of her citizens. He al-luded in glowing terms to the fact that the State had in successful operation an asylum for the deaf and dumb and the blind and a retreat for the in-sane. He said that in establishing these institu-tions we were obeying the beheats of divine prov-idence and acting is accordance with the decree of high heaven. He said there was no point of per-sonal difference on State and Federal affairs. He then approached the subject of ad solorem tarnbut a wide difference on State and Federal affairs. He then approached the subject of ad valorem taxa-tion, said it was an important issue, he lauded the constitution and deprecated its disturbance. The object of the proposed amendment to the constitu-tion was to increase the tax on slave property and not depresse it on any thing else; he characterized the proposed amendment as a remarkable and dan-gerous one and deprecated any disturbance of sec-tional compromises. The present constitution was a compromise between the East and West, and like the covenant between Abraham and Abimalack, it brought pases and harmony to the people. He had no doubt the discussion of ad unforces would "prove dry," but its importance demanded that it should be heard. He them went into a long argument to show that the measure into a long argument to show that the measure was peculiarly Western in its origin, and that that plank in the platform of the Opportion was made of mountain oak, and that it would result in pecuniary mountain oak, and that it would result in pecuniary injury to the East. When the State taxes were but seventy or eighty thousand dollars they were but a small matter, but now that railroads are to be run through the mountains of the West and heavy debt in consequence thereof to be paid, it was imperiant to observe the compromises of the con-stitution in regard to the subject of taxation.— The First Congressional District pays into the State transury about ninety-one thousand dollars, seventy-one thousand of which was to bote cer-tain little holes through western mountains tain little holes through western mountains which some of us are for; the first Congres-ssonal District gets nothing in return for all this. The West had so ground to complain, but like the The West had no ground to complain, but like the horse leach, was over crying, give 1 give 11 and like the grave, more 1 more 11 and there is still an in-satistic and incorrable cry for more. The Eas-tern people should consider before they placed a weapon in the hands of their enemies of the West with which they may destroy them. The people had not asked for al unforcem, Mr. Badger and Mr. Pool asked for it. He would go as far as any one to equalize taxation, it was right and and Mr. Pool and for it. He would got and as any one to equalize taxation, it was right and just. There were two ways of making things equal. Mr. Pool wanted to equalize by increasing the tax on sizves, he would equalize by decreasing the tax on land. The tax on land was too high now in comparison with tax on slaves. If we do it by Legislative enactment instead of by an open Convention. It would be safer for the East, open Convention. It would be safer for the Bast, for the West had several little things they wanted to put in the constitution. Some politicians, in the East contended and argued that if by ad re-lorem taxation the taxes of the East were increasad, that the East would thereby have a larger rep-resentation in the Sonate, but they might be as-sured, and the Governor, that the West would not submit to the loss of a single Senator, even though their resistance worked a revolution. The Governor said that under ad ealoress taxation the Kast would be placed in the power of the West and be taxed to build western railroads. The West would all the time have its hand in the West would all the time have its hand in the pockets of the eastern people, and would have a bank down here, and all the drafts upon that bank be would honored, for themeteriff would have the control and collection of them. The East was to the West what the fabled goose was to her owner. Eastern men need not be afraid that this goose would be killed, as long as she continued to lay golden eggs; eastern men were geere indeed, if they consented to be caught in such a trup. Gov. Ellis then went on and gave a second edi-tion or a rehash of his Baleigh speech about the Constitutional Union party, Mr. Badger and Mr. Graham, which our readers can see by getting a copy of that speech which can be obtained very

he now advocated of enforcem, because it gave equality at the tax box—that in this free govern-ment there ought to be equality between the high and the low, the rich and the poor—that he was for an amendment to the Constitution, that every man might be taxed according to what he was worth, for that was the measure of the protection that every man received from the government which he was taxed to support—that his poer meth and the platform of his party had been misrepre-sented all over the State—that the Governor had attacked him behind his back in his speech in attacked him behind his back in his speech in Raleigh, before the Democratic Convention, where even his friends were not allowed to correct any misutatements of his position-that the Governor in his speech had represented him as having voted against the principle of equal taxa-tion while a member of the Legislature - that he had never given any such vote, and that his votes had never given any such vote, and that his votes referred to by the Governor were in exact confor-mity with his present position—that on page 73 of the Senate Journal, 1858-9, he voted against this proposition of Mr. Biedsos, "Resolved, that in the collection of revenue for the support of the Government, and the payment of the public debt, it is unwise, unjust and inexpedient to discrimi-mate in favor of or against any particular class of persons or any particular species of property not contemplated by the framers of our Constitution." Mr. P. said that this was a proposition to tax persons or any particular species of property 1.x. contemplated by the framers of our Constitution." Mr. P. said that this was a proposition to tax every species of property according to value, ex-cept slaves, for the Constitution not only contem-plated that they should not be taxed according to value, but actually forbid their being so taxed. This was admitted by the Governor; how could he then say that this was a vote against taxing all property according to its value. It is mani-festly unjust to make all the other property in the State pay tax in proportion to its value, and leave slave property out. That would be more unjust than the present system. He voted against it in the Legislature, and was against it now, and that was the present point of difference between him and the Governor, for the Governor's plat-form was in the following words: "We deem it the duty of the Legislature inpass-ing sets for raising revenue so to adjust taxation as to bear as equally as practicable within the limits of the Constitution upon the various interests and classes of property in all sections of the State." Mr. P. said the "limits of the Constitution" in the Democratic platform are under the ad onlorem re-

Mr. P. said the "timits of the Constitution" in the Democratic platform excluded the ad calorem tax upon slaves while the balance of the platform would place it upon all other species of property. This was the same as Mr. Bledsoe's proposition which he voted against and that he was against it now, that he voted against Mr. Bledsoe's Bill to now, that he voted against mr. Dicesses with to amend the Constitution on page 224 of the Jour-nal, which Bill was in the following words: "Sec. 2d. Be it further enacted that all the col-ored inhabitants of this State shall be subject to such capitation or other tax as the General Assemtax anything according to value, and would leave the slaveholder without any protection against having the whole taxation of the State placed upon his slaves that he was opposed to such a proposi-tion then and is opposed to it now; that his posi-tion and the platform of his party proposed a very different thing. It proposed to tax all property, slaves included, according to its value, giving the clave owner, protection against having an unfair

Indians, not taxed by this Constitution, shall be subject to a tax upon the ad valorem principle, provided the General Assembly shall not see fit to tax them upon the per capits principle, in which latter case they shall not be taxed more than white ersons, subject to espitation tax.". Mr. P. said that the first part of this amendment rea in the fend Aim, had misrepresented his course in the Logislature in regard to Railroads and other works of Internal Improvements; and had circulated that speech in the West, for the purpose of injur-ing him there; that the Governor used the follow = ing language in his Raleigh speech; "They re-solve warmly in favor of works of Internal Imrovements and to prove their sincerity to the wesern people, selected a gentleman to advocate them before the people whose first political success was a triumph over a Democrat because he had sup-ported and given existence and life to these very measures a gentleman who had voted against every Railroad, in some form, now in the course overy Mainvoid, in some who mever voted for, talked for, or worked for any Bailroad that ever has been built in North Carolina, or, in my opinion, that ever will be built."

Mr. Pool said, a reference to the journal of the Mr. Pool said, a reference to the journal of the Legislature would show this to be a total misrepre-sentation of his course—that he had advocated and voted for more Railroad bills than the Governor had ever done, and had voted spainst fewer; that no appropriations had been asked for western Railroads while he was a member of the Legislature; and, therefore, he had no opportunity of voting for any, but that he had voted for almost every thing that had been asked by the western people. He voted against the appropriation to the Fayetteville Coalfield Railroad, because he voted in both sessions when he was a mem-ber of the Legislaure for appropriations of several hundred thousand dollars to improve Deep River and thus develop the coalfields, and this road was and thus develop the connector, and thus four was a rival project. He thought it wrong to vote for both. He referred to the Senate journal of 1856-7, page 195, 201, 202, 223, showing that he voted four times for the Cheraw and Coalfield Bailroad, to page 260 showing that he voted for the Atlantic and N. C. R. R., to page 262 for the Atlantic and Suffilt Bailward to page 285 for the Western Ex-Suffolk Railroad, to page 285 for the Western Ex-tension Bill, as amended by the select committee, Suffolk Railroad, to page 285 for the weatern EX-tension Bill, as amended by the select committee, to page 304 and 326, for the Wilmington, Cher-lotte and Rutherford Railroad, to page 308 for the Greenville & French Broad R. R., to page 318, 320 for the Rockingbam and Coalfield Railroad, to page 352 for the Southern Airline Railroad. He referred to the Senate journal of 1858-9, page 268, for the Wilmington, Charlotte and Ruther-ford Railroad, to page 275, 399 for the Western Extansion, which bill he advocated with all his might in the Senate and out of it—he spoke for it, published his speeches in the Raleigh papers, and in the papers in his own District—that in the face of this record and these acts he was surprised that the Governor should attempt to injure him in the West, by publishing to those people that he (Mr. P.) never voted for, talked for or worked for any R. R. that over has been built in North Car-olins, or in my (his) opinion that ever will be built." Mr. P. asid the Governor had to day made a strong eastern sectional speech saying that westored inhabitants of this State shall be subject to such capitation or other tax as the General Assem-bly may impose, provided that nothing herein contained shall prevent exemptions of taxable polls as heretofore prescribed by law, in cases of bodily infimity." Mr. P. said the Governor had to day made a strong eastern sectional speech saying that west-ern gentlemen desired to alter the constitution giving them the power to put their hands into the pockets of eastern gentlemen to build their Roads, and had said that this District paid $70,000 a year to build R. R's. in the eighth District and gets nothing in return. Mr. P. said that he was an eastern man, that he was standing before his eastern friends, and that he took this occasion to tell them that while he was an eastern man, he was also a North Carolinian and felt pride in the honor and prosperity of every section of the Suste, that he had done, and should continue to do, whatever he could, for the slaves included, secording to its value, giving the slave owner protection against having an anfair proportion of the taxes put upon his property, and to the owner of every other species of property an equal protection against having an unjust propor-tion of taxation put upon them. It was this prin-ciple of equality and protection to all that he fa-vored, and that was the distinguishing difference between the Whig platform and the above propo-sition of Mr. Bledose; that he yoted against the amendment of Ramay on page 223 of the Senato Journal, which was in the following words: "That colored inhabitants of this State, except Indians, not taxed by this Constitution, shall be ositions east and west, and he called upon the Governor to tell the western people when we get among them the positions that had been taken by us here to-day. Mr. Pool, at the close of his speech, sat down amidst a shout of applause, and such applause

The meeting then adjourned.

Brewn, B H Cannon. On motion, the names of the Secretary and Chairman were added.

Col. B. S. Gaither, of Burke, being then called on, gave us an able, old fashioned speech, in favor of forming a great National Union Party, in opposition to all classes of Sectionalists, to be com-posed of the friends of the Constitution and would have captured the place. On the evening of the 23rd, the steamer Indianola brought to anchor off the ci ty of Vers Cruz, and captured a bark with Spanish colors, which was, professedly Union wherever found, and concluded by show-ing the justice in, and necessity of adopting the ad valorem principle of taxation. His argu-ments on this point were characteristic of the man-plain, able and unanswerable. Col. G. holds the same view of this principle, ad valorem Tax-ation, that he held when he was in the Convention of 1835, occupying as the Journals show the very same identical ground.

the very same identical ground. Thus far every thing moved pleasantly for-ward, but at this stage of the proceedings, Col. W. H. Thomas, who seems to think he has a right to dictate to the people of this Sonatorial District, and expecially to those of Jackson County, feeling and seeing that the current in the House was overwhelmingly strong for equal Taxation, and fearing the Freemen of Jackson might vote in the next Election against the present abominable Democratic Platform and his own wishes, arose and delivered a short dictatorial speech, urging the people to stand by the present system of Taxa-tion, which he knows to be unequal, unjust, ty-The acts of the Legislature, "to encourage direct foreign trade by exempting from taxation rannical and oppressive. is then said something about Sewar and the Republicana, using the general twaddle of Locoface orsions upon this subject. We will do Gov. Mr. Pool then arose to reply, and was greeted th load and rapturous app

MR. FOOL'S MEPLY. Mr. Pool commenced by stating that it was not the first time he had appeared before the people of Gates county, but that he had heretofore apeared before them advocating the claims of oth-r men; but that now he was a candidate himself or the office of Governor. That Governor Ellis ad told the people this in his speech, but that the lowernor had misrepresented him in so many and minrepresented him in so many in that speech, that he thought it was for him to tall the people himself that candidate. He said that he would have he was a candidate. He said that he would have corrected the Governor is some of his misropre-sentations at the time, but there were so many of them that he concluded to give him plenty of rops, and in his reply make necessary corrections. Mr. P. said that he was in favor of selectoress taxation, and stood squarely upon the platform of his party-not only upon the part of the plat-form mentioned by the Governor, but upon the part which the Governor had left out and said are not in it. He said that the Governor had append of the compromises of the Constitution, and had presched a surmon about the dangers of of s change, and his determination to preserve it from all stacks and alterations. He mid that that the Governor, was the last man to become a that the Governor was the last man to be

We have not attempted to give the whole of this powerful and brilliant speech of our gallant young standard beaver, but merely a syrope's.--holder, for the same reason that Mr. Discover res-olution and the Democratic platform were une-qual and unjust upon the holders of other proper-ty; that he was for putting tax according to value not only upon slaves but upon other property also-and was opposed to exempting either.—For this reason he had voted against these propesitions and was against them now. He repeated that he de-sized complity to the slave owner and the non-slave What we have said, however, are the main points of the remarks of both the gentlemen, and are strictly correct.
