We extract for publication in to-day's paesperion of a strong manifesto put forth the members of the Tennessee delegation the Baltimore Convention. This paper musts feed for serious thought. A FALSEHOOD EXPOSED.

The Democratte papers have been laboring assiduously for some weeks to make capital out of the charge that Mr. Pool had said in his speech at Halifax that "the was glad that the negro had begun to stink in the nostrils of the people of North Carolina." The following letter from Thomas J. Garner, Esq., Editor of the Albemarle Southron, is a complete refutation of this falsehood. The language used by Mr. Pool on the occasion referred to, was, that "he was glad that the agitation of the slavery question had begun to stink in the nostrils of the people of North Carolina." And, pray, who is not glad that there is to be a cessation of this continual agitation? What has been gained by the agitation of the slavery question? The Southhas not only not gained anything by it, but it has acted detrimentally to her interest; it has estranged the North from the South; and, besides, the question has been used by the Democracy principally as a political hobby. Read the letter of Mr. Garner :

MURFREESBORO', N. C., June 30, 1860. J. W. SYME, Esq ,—Editor Raleigh Register— Dear Sir:—Ed. I have seen this statement made in some of cratic prints, but did not believe that there was a man in North Carolina of sufficient credulity to believe that John Pool, a large slaveholder, would make a declaration so much at variance with his interests, both in a pecuniary and political view.

Mr. Wilder stated that the Raleigh and Gastor Road had for a long time been ready to build a shed here, and that a plan had been drawn up for it, but Mr. Fisher, President of the North Carolina Railroad, had not yet concurred in it. Mr. Barringer stated that the Directors of the

MR. MILLER RESIGNS. The last Standard publishes the following letter from from Henry W. Miller, Esq.; declining to serve as Elector for this District:

RALEIGH, June 27, 1860 DEAR SIR: It is due the Democratic voters of this District, that I should decline acting longer as a candidate for Elector. Two Conventions assembled in Baltimore, each claiming to represent the nationality of the Democratic party, and nom-inated different candidates for the Presidency and Vice-Presidency.

In view of this fact, it is proper, and no doubt desired that the Democrate of the District should have an opportunity to declare their opinions and preferences on the matters of conflict and difference between the two Conventions, and to selec some one as a candidate for Elector who may concur fully in the views entertained by the majority. I certainly do not wish to embarrass them, or even appear to do so, by continuing in a posistate of things differing very materially from that Your friend and ob't serv't,

HORRIBLE MURDERS. On Saturday night just before 12 o'clock, two ersons were assassinated in New York under cirumstances which render the case as startling as any that has transpired since the murder of Dr. Harvey Burdell. They were unknown to each other, and both were gentlemen of some prominence in the business community; one, Mr. John Walton, having been engaged for some years in conducting an extensive distillery, and the other, Mr. John W. Matthews, being a railroad contractor by profession. The supposed parpetrators of the double murder, the two sons-in law of Mr.

Walton, named Charles and Edward Jefferd, have ties between himself on one side, and his wife on and her sons on the other, had resulted in a leparation and suit for divorce, in which he was plain tiff. Since the commencement of the action, which is still pending in the Supreme Court, Mr. Walton's life, it is said, had been threatened repeatedly by his wife and her two sons, until at last he was afraid to venture in the streets without company. On Saturday night, while walking through Eighteenth street, near First-avenue, accompanied by his cousin, he was shot down from behind, and survived the wound but a few hours, It was in attempting to overtake the murderer who had fled, that Mr. Mathews lost his life, the fugitive having turned upon him, and fired with so true an aim that his pursuer scarcely breathed

LATER FROM JAPAN.

Later advices from Japan give a definite idea of the condition of affairs there, and will serve to allay somewhat the fears which have been excited by the reports which have previously reached us. The difficulties have been undoubtedly instigated by the Prince of Mito, who aspires to the throne, and who about a year ago was banished from Jeddo to his own principality, for having been engaged in a similar attempt against the reigning Prince. The assassination of the two Dutch sea captains was shrouded in mystery until the attack was made on the Prince Regent, when the motive which prompted that deed was made more apparent. The intention probably was involve the Government in difficulty with the foreigners during which Mito could make an atempt to obtain possession of the throne. Circumstances, however, seem to indicate that the American residents were to be exempted from massa-cre by his emissaries. The Prince Regent, al-though not killed immediately, is known to have died from the effects of his wounds; and anothe person has been installed, who was understood to be friendly to foreigners. No further apprehen-sions were felt, as this last set of Prince Mito would undoubtedly, it was thought, result in his

No movement of special importance had taken place in Sicily. "The Washington of Sicily," as the English Press are pleased to term Garibaldi, was said to be organizing his forces for an effort on the main land; but this is probably a mistake, unless his resources of men and means are greater than at present appear. The conscription to swell his forces had been ordered by decree for the 18th of June, and on the 20th the conscripts were to take their departure for Catania and Palermo.
The rumor, which reached us by a previous arrival, that a number of Garibaldi's troops had disembarked in Calabria, is pronounced to be untrue. The capture of the two steamers, with 800 passen gers, by the Neapolitan frigate Fulminante is some trouble, as the Sardinian Minister had manded their restitution and the release of the passengers, who had passports for Malta. In this demand the Sardinian Minister was supported by the English Ambassador. One of the captured steamers is stated to have displayed American colors. The Conference of Sovereigns at Baden-Baden closed on the 17th, and its results are said to be eminently satisfactory. Both the French and the Prussian journals declare that the peace of Europe is now consolidated and insured. The civil war in Turkey up to last accounts still contunued. Thirty-six villages at Mount Lebanon are stated to have been burnt by the Druses, who have been the victors. The Turkish authorities have not interfered, and the soldiers who had been sent to protect the Christians had joined the Druses and participated in the massacre. There is nothing of interest from other points. No change of importance had occurred in money affairs. Consols were quoted at 931@934 for secount, ex-dividend. Cotton had improved in
