

The Weekly Register

VOL. L. XIII

RALEIGH WEDNESDAY MORNING JANUARY 7 1863.

NO. 1

The Raleigh Register.

Ons are the plans of fair delightful peace Unwarp'd by party rage to live like brothers.

RALEIGH, N. C.

SAURDAY MORNING, JAN'Y 3, 1863.

GLORIOUS NEWS!

The year 1863 was ushered in with glorious news from the Southwest. Bragg's victory near Murfreesboro'...

"THE TEN REGIMENT BILL."

Under this caption, the Standard of Wednesday last publishes the Bill introduced by Judge Person in the House of Commons...

FOR THE RALEIGH REGISTER.

THE REV. R. J. GRAVES AND THE STANDARD MAN.

In the last issue of the Standard, its editor fulminates the following "conservative" editorial on the subject of Mr. Graves' recent arrest.

A BILL TO ORGANIZE THE STATE RESERVES.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of North Carolina, and it is hereby enacted...

Here it will be seen that the class from which it is proposed to raise the Troops is confined to those persons between the ages of eighteen and forty-five...

FOR THE DEFENSE OF THE STATE.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of North Carolina, and it is hereby enacted...

This Bill would necessitate a conflict with the Confederate authorities, for it authorizes the raising of State Troops from any class of men over eighteen years of age...

LIBERAL CONTRIBUTION.

The people of Petersburg, by a unanimous vote, have instructed the Common Council of that City to appropriate the sum of $10,000 to the relief of the people of Fredericksburg.

REV. R. J. GRAVES. We learn that the charge upon which this individual was arrested by the Confederate Government...

THE STATE JOURNAL.

We learn from the last number of the above named paper that J. W. Albertson, Esq., late of Perquimans County...

THE STANDARD'S ASSAULT UPON GEN. WINDER.

We are requested by a responsible gentleman to state that the charge of the Standard that Gen. Winder is "an infamous tyrant"...

OFFICIAL HISTORY OF THE BATTLE OF FREDERICKSBURG.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO INVESTIGATE THE FACTS—DEPOSITION OF GENERAL BURNSIDE.

The Committee raised in the Yankee Congress to inquire into the facts relating to the recent battle at Fredericksburg...

Major General Burnside, sworn by the Chairman—Question—You have the resolution of the Senate under which this committee is now acting...

Answer—In order that the whole matter may be entirely understood, it may be well to go back a little.

Question—Very well. Make your statement in your own words.

Answer—When, after the battle of Antietam, General McClellan decided to cross the Potomac...

On the 7th or 8th of November, I received an order from the President of the United States, directing me to take command of the army of the Potomac...

After getting over my surprise—the shock—I told General Buckingham that it was a matter that required very serious thought.

On the 15th of November, I started the column down the road to Fredericksburg, not knowing anything about the delay in the starting of the pontoons...

After reaching here, I saw at once that there was no chance for crossing the Rappahannock with the army at that time...

General Sumner, with his command, arrived here in the evening. He came to me, and asked if I should cross the river.

It did not think it advisable that he should cross at that time. The plan I had in contemplation was, if the stores and those bridges had come here as expected...

After it was ascertained that there must be a delay, and that the enemy had concentrated in such force as to make it very difficult to cross...

After I had conversed with my staff officers I went to see General McClellan himself, and he agreed with me that this was an order which I, as a soldier, had to obey.

The Natchez Courier of the 11th inst. says: "We very much regret to learn yesterday of the severe sickness of Rev. Bishop Green..."

FURTHER NORTHERN NEWS.

We make the following extracts from Northern papers of the 25th and 26th ultimo:

THE SITUATION—THE DESPERATION OF THE NORTH—WHAT HAS BEEN GAINED IN THE WAR—THE NORTH SICK OF THE WAR AND DESIRE FOR AN EARLY PEACE.

The New York Herald presents its readers with the following Christmas box on the war:

Our prospects are gloomy enough. We are approaching the end of the second year of the war...

Answer—I state in substance, That I thought it advisable to concentrate the army in the neighborhood of Warrenton...

On the morning of the 14th of November, feeling uneasy in reference to the pontoons, as I had not heard of their starting...

Question—To whom did he telegraph? Answer—He telegraphed to General Woodbury or to Major Spaulding...

I accordingly ordered the withdrawal, leaving General Hooker to conduct the withdrawal of our forces from the town and General Franklin to conduct it on our left...

There had been a great deal of division of opinion among the corps commanders as to the place of crossing, but after all the discussion upon the subject the decision to cross here, I understood, was well received by all of them.

FOSTER'S OPERATIONS IN NORTH CAROLINA CROWNED A FAILURE.

The Herald of the 25th gave a glowing account of the splendid achievements of Gen. Foster in North Carolina...

The brilliant series of operations under General Foster of which we published such an interesting account yesterday, would form one of the most satisfactory chapters in the history of the war...

The expedition should never have been attempted unless it was intended to hold the railroad junction at Goldsboro'...

I had recommended that some supplies should be sent to the mouth of the Rappahannock with a view of establishing a depot at Port Royal since we advanced.

After it was ascertained that there must be a delay, and that the enemy had concentrated in such force as to make it very difficult to cross...

After I had conversed with my staff officers I went to see General McClellan himself, and he agreed with me that this was an order which I, as a soldier, had to obey.

The Natchez Courier of the 11th inst. says: "We very much regret to learn yesterday of the severe sickness of Rev. Bishop Green..."

low. In the next place, I felt satisfied that this was the place to fight the most decisive battle...

I obtained from a colored man from the other side of the town, information in regard to this new road, which proved to be correct.

Lanocaded in building six bridges, and in taking the whole army across. The two attacks were made, and we were repulsed—still holding a portion of the ground...

Returned to my headquarters, and after a conversation with General Sumner, told him that I wanted him to order the Ninth Army Corps...

The order was given, and the order of attack was formed. On the next morning, just before the column was to have started...

I then sent for General Franklin, who was on the left, and he was of exactly the same opinion.

On the morning of the 14th of November, feeling uneasy in reference to the pontoons, as I had not heard of their starting...

Question—To whom did he telegraph? Answer—He telegraphed to General Woodbury or to Major Spaulding...

I accordingly ordered the withdrawal, leaving General Hooker to conduct the withdrawal of our forces...

There had been a great deal of division of opinion among the corps commanders as to the place of crossing...

FOSTER'S OPERATIONS IN NORTH CAROLINA CROWNED A FAILURE.

The Herald of the 25th gave a glowing account of the splendid achievements of Gen. Foster in North Carolina...

The brilliant series of operations under General Foster of which we published such an interesting account yesterday...

The expedition should never have been attempted unless it was intended to hold the railroad junction at Goldsboro'...

I had recommended that some supplies should be sent to the mouth of the Rappahannock with a view of establishing a depot at Port Royal since we advanced.

After it was ascertained that there must be a delay, and that the enemy had concentrated in such force as to make it very difficult to cross...

After I had conversed with my staff officers I went to see General McClellan himself, and he agreed with me that this was an order which I, as a soldier, had to obey.

The Natchez Courier of the 11th inst. says: "We very much regret to learn yesterday of the severe sickness of Rev. Bishop Green..."

WASHINGTON CORRESPONDENTS ALL agree that Lincoln is resolved to stand by his emancipation proclamation...

The "Herald" says that Seward will remain in the Cabinet only upon condition that the conservative policy advocated by him be adopted by the Administration...

Under head of "news from Washington," the "American" says that in diplomatic circles the event next in importance to the Fredericksburg defeat is considered to be the certainty that the Emperor Napoleon will, at his New Year reception...

The "Herald" says there is reason to believe that Lincoln will return to Congress, with his objections, the bill for the creation of Western Virginia into a separate State.

The "Herald" says there is reason to believe that Lincoln will return to Congress, with his objections, the bill for the creation of Western Virginia into a separate State.

The "Herald" says there is reason to believe that Lincoln will return to Congress, with his objections, the bill for the creation of Western Virginia into a separate State.

The "Herald" says there is reason to believe that Lincoln will return to Congress, with his objections, the bill for the creation of Western Virginia into a separate State.

The "Herald" says there is reason to believe that Lincoln will return to Congress, with his objections, the bill for the creation of Western Virginia into a separate State.

The "Herald" says there is reason to believe that Lincoln will return to Congress, with his objections, the bill for the creation of Western Virginia into a separate State.

The "Herald" says there is reason to believe that Lincoln will return to Congress, with his objections, the bill for the creation of Western Virginia into a separate State.

The "Herald" says there is reason to believe that Lincoln will return to Congress, with his objections, the bill for the creation of Western Virginia into a separate State.

The "Herald" says there is reason to believe that Lincoln will return to Congress, with his objections, the bill for the creation of Western Virginia into a separate State.

The "Herald" says there is reason to believe that Lincoln will return to Congress, with his objections, the bill for the creation of Western Virginia into a separate State.

The "Herald" says there is reason to believe that Lincoln will return to Congress, with his objections, the bill for the creation of Western Virginia into a separate State.

The "Herald" says there is reason to believe that Lincoln will return to Congress, with his objections, the bill for the creation of Western Virginia into a separate State.

The "Herald" says there is reason to believe that Lincoln will return to Congress, with his objections, the bill for the creation of Western Virginia into a separate State.

The "Herald" says there is reason to believe that Lincoln will return to Congress, with his objections, the bill for the creation of Western Virginia into a separate State.

The "Herald" says there is reason to believe that Lincoln will return to Congress, with his objections, the bill for the creation of Western Virginia into a separate State.

The "Herald" says there is reason to believe that Lincoln will return to Congress, with his objections, the bill for the creation of Western Virginia into a separate State.

The "Herald" says there is reason to believe that Lincoln will return to Congress, with his objections, the bill for the creation of Western Virginia into a separate State.

The "Herald" says there is reason to believe that Lincoln will return to Congress, with his objections, the bill for the creation of Western Virginia into a separate State.

The "Herald" says there is reason to believe that Lincoln will return to Congress, with his objections, the bill for the creation of Western Virginia into a separate State.

The "Herald" says there is reason to believe that Lincoln will return to Congress, with his objections, the bill for the creation of Western Virginia into a separate State.

The "Herald" says there is reason to believe that Lincoln will return to Congress, with his objections, the bill for the creation of Western Virginia into a separate State.

The "Herald" says there is reason to believe that Lincoln will return to Congress, with his objections, the bill for the creation of Western Virginia into a separate State.

The "Herald" says there is reason to believe that Lincoln will return to Congress, with his objections, the bill for the creation of Western Virginia into a separate State.

The "Herald" says there is reason to believe that Lincoln will return to Congress, with his objections, the bill for the creation of Western Virginia into a separate State.

The "Herald" says there is reason to believe that Lincoln will return to Congress, with his objections, the bill for the creation of Western Virginia into a separate State.

WASHINGTON CORRESPONDENTS ALL agree that Lincoln is resolved to stand by his emancipation proclamation...

The "Herald" says that Seward will remain in the Cabinet only upon condition that the conservative policy advocated by him be adopted by the Administration...

Under head of "news from Washington," the "American" says that in diplomatic circles the event next in importance to the Fredericksburg defeat is considered to be the certainty that the Emperor Napoleon will, at his New Year reception...

The "Herald" says that Seward will remain in the Cabinet only upon condition that the conservative policy advocated by him be adopted by the Administration...

Under head of "news from Washington," the "American" says that in diplomatic circles the event next in importance to the Fredericksburg defeat is considered to be the certainty that the Emperor Napoleon will, at his New Year reception...

The "Herald" says there is reason to believe that Lincoln will return to Congress, with his objections, the bill for the creation of Western Virginia into a separate State.

The "Herald" says there is reason to believe that Lincoln will return to Congress, with his objections, the bill for the creation of Western Virginia into a separate State.

The "Herald" says there is reason to believe that Lincoln will return to Congress, with his objections, the bill for the creation of Western Virginia into a separate State.

The "Herald" says there is reason to believe that Lincoln will return to Congress, with his objections, the bill for the creation of Western Virginia into a separate State.

The "Herald" says there is reason to believe that Lincoln will return to Congress, with his objections, the bill for the creation of Western Virginia into a separate State.

The "Herald" says there is reason to believe that Lincoln will return to Congress, with his objections, the bill for the creation of Western Virginia into a separate State.

The "Herald" says there is reason to believe that Lincoln will return to Congress, with his objections, the bill for the creation of Western Virginia into a separate State.

The "Herald" says there is reason to believe that Lincoln will return to Congress, with his objections, the bill for the creation of Western Virginia into a separate State.

The "Herald" says there is reason to believe that Lincoln will return to Congress, with his objections, the bill for the creation of Western Virginia into a separate State.

The "Herald" says there is reason to believe that Lincoln will return to Congress, with his objections, the bill for the creation of Western Virginia into a separate State.

The "Herald" says there is reason to believe that Lincoln will return to Congress, with his objections, the bill for the creation of Western Virginia into a separate State.

The "Herald" says there is reason to believe that Lincoln will return to Congress, with his objections, the bill for the creation of Western Virginia into a separate State.

The "Herald" says there is reason to believe that Lincoln will return to Congress, with his objections, the bill for the creation of Western Virginia into a separate State.

The "Herald" says there is reason to believe that Lincoln will return to Congress, with his objections, the bill for the creation of Western Virginia into a separate State.

The "Herald" says there is reason to believe that Lincoln will return to Congress, with his objections, the bill for the creation of Western Virginia into a separate State.

The "Herald" says there is reason to believe that Lincoln will return to Congress, with his objections, the bill for the creation of Western Virginia into a separate State.

The "Herald" says there is reason to believe that Lincoln will return to Congress, with his objections, the bill for the creation of Western Virginia into a separate State.

The "Herald" says there is reason to believe that Lincoln will return to Congress, with his objections, the bill for the creation of Western Virginia into a separate State.

The "Herald" says there is reason to believe that Lincoln will return to Congress, with his objections, the bill for the creation of Western Virginia into a separate State.

The "Herald" says there is reason to believe that Lincoln will return to Congress, with his objections, the bill for the creation of Western Virginia into a separate State.

The "Herald" says there is reason to believe that Lincoln will return to Congress, with his objections, the bill for the creation of Western Virginia into a separate State.

The "Herald" says there is reason to believe that Lincoln will return to Congress, with his objections, the bill for the creation of Western Virginia into a separate State.

The "Herald" says there is reason to believe that Lincoln will return to Congress, with his objections, the bill for the creation of Western Virginia into a separate State.