FROM THE NEW MONTHLY MAGAZINE.

ON KOSCIUSKO.

A sacred grief sublime and bright
Descends o'er Kosciusko's bier,
It mourns not that his soul of light,
No more confined in mortal night,
Has sought its native sphere;
The hallowed tear that glistens there,
By purest, loftiest feelings given,
Flows more from triumph than despair,
And falls like dew from heaven!

Thus oft around the setting sun
Soft showers attend his parting ray,
And sinking now his journey done,
His matchless course to evening run—
They weep his closing day,
Who hath not watch'd his light decline,
Till sad, yet holy feelings rise;
Although he sets again to shine,
More glorious, in more cloudless skies.

As proudly shone thy evening ray,
As in that contest bright and brief,
When patriots hail'd thy noontide day,
And own'd thee as their chief!
Thou wert the radiant morning-star,
Which bright to hapless Poland rose,
The leader of her patriot war,
The sharer of her woes!

What though no earthly triumphs grace
The spot where thou hast ta'en thy sleep;
Yet Glory points thy resting-place,
And thither Freedom turns to weep,
The pompous arch, the column's boast,
Though rich with all the sculptor's art,
Shall soon in time's dark sweep be lost;
But thou survivest in the heart,
And bright thy dwelling still shall be
Within the page of Liberty.

And o'er the turf where sleeps the brave
Such sweet and holy drops are shed—
Who would not fill a Patriot's grave,
To share them with the dead?
The laurel, and the oak bough,
Above the meaner great may bloom,
And trophies due to Freedom's brow
May shade Oppression's tomb—
But Glory's smile hath shed on thee
The light of immortality!

PRESIDENTIAL NOMINATION.

CARAWA, Dec. 9.

In the House of Representatives.

Mr. Jackson from the select committee to whom was referred the Preamble and resolution, proposing Gen. ANDREW JACKSON as a suitable person for President of the U. States, reported the following:

We, the Senators and Representatives of the people of the State of Alabama, feeling a deep interest in the election of a Chief Magistrate of the United States, and believing that a large majority of the freemen of our infant State regard it as an event, involving their dearest interests, and conceiving that we understand correctly, what their feelings and opinions are on this all important subject, presume to give to the people of the Union, a faithful exposition of those feelings and opinions.

It is a source of deep regret, that those, heroes and sages of the Revolution, who have occupied the largest space and most conspicuous stations, in the page of American History, have been swept away by the hand of time;—they live now only in the hearts of their countrymen—their names are enshrined in the affections of a grateful people. Thus deprived of nearly all those, who had rendered themselves so dear to us, by their long and faithful services; we view with much concern, the arrival of that important crisis, when another must be chosen to guard and direct, for a time, the destinies of the nation. Several distinguished individuals have been proposed for this important trust who are acknowledged to possess virtue and talents, which would adorn any age or nation; and have rendered services to their country, which have excited the strongest feelings of gratitude in the hearts of the people of the Union; but it is in the person of Gen. ANDREW JACKSON that we believe the people of Alabama behold the man whom they prefer to preside over the destinies, and protect the rights and liberties of these United States. He has served his country in many capacities, civil and military—in each he has been distinguished by the superiority of his talents. In our Revolutionary struggle he united himself with the friends of Liberty and Independence—he has passed the vicissitudes of life with a reputation as unsullied as his career has been glorious—his deeds of valor in the second war of Independence, have given to him a renown which time cannot efface. He is the man of the people, because he has gloriously defended and protected their rights and liberties. His strength of intellect—his unyielding virtue, his stern integrity and well-tryed patriotism give him, with our constituents, stronger claims than any other individual, to the highest office in the gift of a Free People.

Be it therefore resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Alabama in General Assembly convened, that we believe it is the ardent wish of a large majority of our Constituents, that Gen. Andrew Jackson should succeed Mr. Monroe, as President of the United States of America, and we have no doubt he will receive the undivided support of the State of Alabama.—Wherefore it is resolved, that the Governor of the State, be, and he hereby is requested to transmit to the Governors of each of our sister States, copies of the foregoing Preamble and Resolution.

On motion, the above were ordered to a third reading—and subsequently passed 36 to 13, and sent to the Senate for concurrence.
In Senate, Dec. 12.

The Resolution proposing Gen. Andrew Jackson, as a suitable person for President of the U. States, was read a third time and passed—yeas 12—Nays 7.
Other business was transacted, and the Senate adjourned.

SIMULATED DEATH.

A very extraordinary case of this nature occurred a few days ago, at Hammersmith, in the person of Harriet Smith, a young woman of interesting appearance, who served as housemaid in the family of Robert Emerson, Esq. of Oxford street. This girl, it seems, had, about three years ago, been thrown from the top of a stage coach, and received many severe contusions both internal and external, which seriously affected her strength, and brought on a gradual decay of nature. Being incapable of performing her customary business, she relinquished her situation, and obtained an asylum beneath the roof of a female relative at Hammersmith. Here, notwithstanding her total cessation from all corporeal labor, her complaint still advanced: she every day grew weaker, and was frequently subject to long faintings. Through the kind attention of some ladies with whom she had formerly lived, every aid that eminent professional advice could afford was rendered to her, with a constant supply of such necessaries and comforts as her helpless situation demanded. On Thursday, week she had been taken out for an airing and returned home with renewed strength, and in rather better spirits than usual. After taking some refreshments, she complained of excessive inclination to sleep, and was therefore placed in bed between the hours of six and seven in the afternoon.

In apparent enjoyment of profound repose, she remained until a very far advanced hour the following day when, on attempting to arouse her, she was found to be quite cold; her lips were colourless, and her eyes glazed; all pulsation had ceased; every thing bore testimony to the power of the fell destroyer death. The last offices to her remains, which are directed by decency, were then performed; the corpse was attired in the usual grave clothes, and laid on a bed, where it remained from Friday noon until Sunday morning, the afternoon of which day was fixed for the interment. Happily, however, the horrible event, which we fear occurs but too often, was frustrated. On the removal of the body from the bed to the coffin, one of the persons engaged, inadvertently placed her hand on the bosom, and fancying its touch imparted a sensation far more warm than the damp and clayed feel of a corpse, she naturally expressed her opinion to those who were assisting in the melancholy office; a closer examination convinced them they were about to commit to the cold grave a living subject. The cheeks were still livid and colorless: the eye exhibited no sensation of vision, but the vital principles reigned about the region of the heart, and on the application of a glass, breathing was once more perceptible. The physician who had attended during her illness was instantly sent for; on his arrival, signs of returning animation were so manifest, that he concluded bleeding and the application of warm bricks would be productive of immediate restoration. He therefore opened a vein, first in one arm, and then in the other, but without effect; every other effort proved equally unavailing, until about 5 o'clock in the evening, when a rapid change took place; the throbbing of the heart and the pulse became audible, the cheeks & lips partially regained their crimson, respiration returned with ease and vigor, and in a few moments all the animal powers assumed their functions. During the interesting interval, the various insignia of death were removed, in order that she should not be terrified by their appearance when perception returned, but being questioned as to her health in the customary manner, she manifested no knowledge of what her situation had been, merely saying, that she felt cold and weak, with an extraordinary oppression and a sensation of fear, not unlike that which is experienced in dreams, when afflicted with the complaint commonly called nightmare. She has improved not only in health but in spirits every day since her visit to the other world, and is now likely to be long an inhabitant of this.

A Teacher.

A YOUNG Gentleman recently from the North, with satisfactory testimonials of his moral character and literary qualifications, may now be obtained as a Teacher of English or the Classics, in an Academy or in a private Family.

Particular information may be had by addressing enquiry personally or by letter, to Dr. Jos. Caldwell at the University, or to John D. Hawkins, Esq. near Warrenton.

Classical School.

THE subscriber having removed to the City of Raleigh, would take under his charge from eight to ten young gentlemen, for instruction in the Latin and Greek Languages, and in the Elementary Branches of the Mathematics. His wish is, to receive that number into his family as boarders, that their moral and religious deportment and improvement, may be as carefully attended to, as their literary acquirements.

The accommodation provided for them will be liberal and genteel, and the regulations of the school such, as to meet the important purposes of advancement in science.

For the accommodation of the inhabitants of the City, from six to eight day scholars will be taken, but the whole number taken under charge, will be limited to eighteen.

The course of study will be directed on a principle different from the modern mode of tuition, and calculated to make the students sound and thoroughly grounded classical scholars. The school will commence on the first Monday in January next; and there will be two vacations in the year, corresponding in time and duration with those at the University of the State.

The price of board and tuition will be $100 per session paid in advance, which will include every expense but that of books and paper.—The price of tuition alone, will be $30 per session, likewise paid in advance.

The subscriber is happy to have it in his power to say, that his plan has the sanction of the Rt. Rev. the Bishop of the Diocese, and the promise of his co-operation, in whatever may render his services really profitable to those entrusted to his care.

GEO. W. FREEMAN.
Raleigh, Dec. 20, 1823. 11—

In giving the sanction of my approval to Mr. Freeman personally, and to the plan of tuition proposed to be pursued by him, I am happy to present to the Episcopal families in this Diocese, the opportunity of putting a portion of their youth, under the immediate care of a gentleman fully competent to what he undertakes; who in a few months will be in Holy Orders—and engaged both by duty and interest, to the most earnest endeavors to instill into the minds of those under his care, not only the principles of sound science, but those sound and long-timed principles which are the safeguard of pure and undefiled religion.—In this pursuit, it will be my pleasure to render him every assistance compatible with my other duties.

ANDREWS & JONES'

North-Carolina Female ACADEMY.

THIS Institution which during the present year has been located in Williamsboro, will open in OXFORD, on the first Monday in February next. The principals have been induced to a change of residence, with a view to a permanent establishment where the premises will comfortably accommodate their pupils; and they have altered the time of commencing the scholastic year, for the convenience, and at the general request of their patrons.

The pupils are instructed in Needle-work, Reading, Writing, Arithmetic, Grammar and Parsing, Geography, Mythology, History, Belles-Lettres, Natural Philosophy, Chymistry Botany and Astronomy.

The terms for board, washing and tuition, in all the above branches, are Sixty Dollars per session payable in advance. Music, vocal and instrumental, Thirty Dollars per session. Drawing and Painting, Twenty Dollars per session. Dancing is also taught by a competent master.

The first session will end early in July, the second in December, when the only vacation in the year takes place.—New scholars pay from the time of their arrival only.

The system of education is in all the departments radical: by the aid of an excellent apparatus, the truths of Natural Philosophy, Chymistry and Astronomy, are experimentally illustrated, and are thus rendered objects of sense. There are six teachers constantly engaged; three excellent Piano Fortes, are employed in the musical department, and the models for Drawing and Painting, are numerous and good.

No expenditures are allowed, but such as are authorized by parents or guardians; and the principals are determined strictly to enforce the rule prohibiting finery in dress; in summer, coloured cotton dresses, and in winter, worsted stuffs, will be worn by all the young ladies.

All the pupils will board with the principals, who pay strict attention to their health, their manners, and their morals. The public and private offices of devotion are regularly observed, whilst every thing sectarian is carefully avoided.

Each pupil is expected to bring a covered pair of sheets, blankets and towels, for her own use, otherwise an extra charge of $2 50 per session will be made.

When payment in advance cannot be made, approved bonds will in all instances be exacted.

Oxford Male Academy.

THE Exercises in this Institution will be resumed on the 1st Monday of January next, under the superintendance of Mr. Jas. D. Johnson. The acknowledged ability of the Superintendent, the cheapness of Board and Tuition, and the healthfulness of the place, it is believed, entitle this Seminary to a high degree of public patronage.
