Not exceeding 16 lines, neatly inserted three times for a Dollar, and 25 cents for every succeeding publication; those of greater length in the same proportion. COMMUNICATIONS handily received. LETTERS to the Editors must be post-paid.

FOR THE REGISTER.

Messrs. Editors—Seeing in so conspicuous a column of your last Register, a stricture upon Gen. Jackson, copied from the "Washington City Gazette," I beg leave to submit a few remarks in answer thereto—which you will be impartial enough to give an insertion in your next.

The Gazette says, Gen. Jackson has resorted to "palpable artifice," in not publishing his original letter to Colonel Monroe, which is in dispute &c. I would ask the Editor of the Gazette, if he is aware how very indecent his words are when he speaks of palpable artifice; and if it would not have betrayed the trust of Gen. Jackson, as a party in this confidential correspondence, had he have acted in any other manner than that in which he did? That he would, to use the Editor's own words, is palpable enough. It shews whether there was artifice about him, when he was tied down to secrecy in this correspondence, that he should unfold his sentiments on this matter "of so great criminality" with this Editor. In his letter to Mr. Kremer, he says how much he might have said to Col. Monroe, upon the subject; which are his real sentiments, and which sentiments we have no evidence of his wishing to cloak or dissemble in any manner whatever. But this Editor says, "General Jackson precedes their appearance (speaking of the original letters) by his publication of this morning, in which the sense of the letter in question is clothed in a new species of verbiage! by which artifice it is evidently intended to pre-occupy the minds of the People, to confuse their understandings, and to distract the memory in future recollection of the sense of the contents, by multiplying words, and varying the language." To this high-toned style, and protracted sentences, I would only say, Gen. Jackson's letter to Mr. Kremer, was a simple answer to an interrogatory put by him.

This editor seems to have flattered himself very much that the original correspondence would not come out, by saying, in the "meanwhile the citizens of the United States will be asked by the enemies of Mr. Lowrie, to accept Jackson's version of his own letter for the letter itself?" thereby insinuating that there was something very criminal in what it was not in the General's power to publish. This insinuation, we see no sooner uttered, than frustrated, by the publication of the original correspondence, through a third man. Instead of this correspondence bearing that great criminality which this wise editor is disposed to attach to it, it even mitigates what he thinks criminal in the "version."

Now, I conceive this Editor, (who is so zealous a servant to his master) to be completely on the ground, when this great criminality, as he would have it, breathes such sentiments as these: "By selecting characters most conspicuous for their probity, virtue, capacity and firmness, without any regard to party, you will go far to, if not entirely, eradicate those feelings which on former occasions, threw so many obstacles in the way of government; and perhaps have the pleasure and honour of uniting a people heretofore politically divided." The Chief-Magistrate of a great and powerful nation should never indulge in party feelings. His conduct should be liberal and disinterested, always bearing in mind that he acts for the whole, and not a part of the community." (See Jackson's letter to Mr. Monroe.) Let me ask this gentleman, where is the criminality in this? Does it recommend the appointment of either Federalists or Republicans? It strikes me not. General Jackson, has most explicitly defined the class of men he recommends to be selected for the cabinet; and can a man go wrong in selecting men of probity, virtue, capacity and firmness, as officers; or can a man go wrong in recommending such to be selected? The fact is, that it was not the circumstance of the original letters not making their appearance upon the first misrepresentation of Mr. Lowrie, that raised this pretended dudgeon of the opposition prints. But that they would put on this ireful appearance, thereby making the people believe, that Jackson was a Federalist, and did not wish it to be known. Even admit the fact of its being one evidence of his Federalism, does this one evidence, justify these gross aspersions of the Crawford prints, when Mr. Crawford's votes on the embargo, non-intercourse, non-importation, late war and the national bank, are each equal evidences of his Federalism? And, that now, General Jackson, should be called a Federalist, is equally astonishing, as that he should be called by Mr. Crawford's friends in the South, a Tariff man, in preclusion of Mr. Crawford's sentiments on that subject. Upon the whole, the catch is as pitiful, as that of imputing some months back, to Mr. Crawford Federalism, for having addressed President Adams, in '98. I repeat, it is a pitiful resort; and as a drowning man, will lay hold of a straw, it fully exemplifies the desperateness of Mr. Crawford's case, that his friends should endeavor to raise him, by exposing the demerits of his opponent; if, demerits they were. I think I speak with the candour of an impartial man, when I give it as my opinion, that there is not the man that lives, whose private bureau could be searched, and its contents disclosed, which were consigned to oblivion, that could do more honour to himself, than this correspondence of General Jackson to Colonel Monroe. It is written in that chasteness and purity of style—it breathes that knowledge of human nature and self-government—it exposes at one view, virtue, honour, patriotism, and a purity of motive, that we rarely see in the production of one, who writes for the criticism of the world. This, this shrewd Editor of the Gazette, will be compelled to acknowledge, if he lays aside those feelings towards Mr. Crawford, which must be more personal than political.

WARREN.
Warrenton, May 22, 1824.

An Act to provide for the extinguishment of the debt due to the United States, by the Purchasers of Public Lands.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That, in all cases where the purchaser, or legal holder, of any certificate of purchase of any of the Public Lands of the United States, may have obtained a certificate of further credit, under the provisions of an act, passed second March, one thousand eight hundred and twenty-one, entitled "An act for the relief of the purchasers of public lands prior to the first day of July, one thousand eight hundred and twenty-two," or of the acts supplementary thereto, of the twentieth of April, one thousand eight hundred and twenty-two, and of the third of March, one thousand eight hundred and twenty-three, the person obtaining such certificate, or the legal holder thereof, shall be allowed, at any time prior to the tenth of April, one thousand eight hundred and twenty-five, to file, with the Register of the Land Office, in the district where such land is situated, a relinquishment, in writing, of any section, half section, quarter section, or legal subdivision of a fractional section, made according to the provisions of the existing laws, in relation to the survey and sale of the Public Lands; and any payment made, on any tract of land, so relinquished, shall be applied to the payment of the amount due on any tract retained by said purchaser, or legal holder of a certificate of purchase; which relinquishment shall be allowed only on condition that any such purchaser, or legal holder of a certificate of purchase, relinquish a sufficient quantity of land thereby to complete his or her payments due to the United States, or any lands retained, or pay the balance due, and which may afterwards become due, in money, before or at the time of such relinquishment; and, on the payment of such balance in money, there shall be allowed, on the amount so paid, a deduction of the rate of thirty-seven and a half per centum: Provided, That nothing herein contained, shall entitle the person making such relinquishment to claim any repayment from the United States, on account of any lands so relinquished: And provided further, That nothing herein contained shall authorize any discounts upon payments made by relinquishment.

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted, That all purchasers, or legal holders of any certificate of purchase, of any of the Public Lands of the United States, who may have obtained a certificate of further credit, under the provisions of the several acts above mentioned, or making complete payment, previous to the tenth of April, eighteen hundred and twenty-five, of every instalment now due, and which shall afterwards become payable, shall be allowed, upon the amount so paid, a deduction, at the rate of thirty-seven and a half per centum.

Sec. 3. And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of the Registers and Receivers of the Land Offices of the United States, immediately after the 10th of April, eighteen hundred and twenty-five, to return complete lists of the lands relinquished to the United States; within their districts, and such lands shall be exposed to sale, as other public lands of the United States.

Sec. 4. And be it further enacted, That the Register and Receiver of any Land Office, shall be allowed double the fees given them by the act of the second March, one thousand eight hundred and twenty-one, for like services, to be paid by the person or persons availing themselves of the provisions of this act.

Sec. 5. And be it further enacted, That the provisions of this act be extended to town lots and out lots reserved for that purpose, and sold by the United States on a credit.

Approved: May 18th, 1824.

An act providing for the appointment of an Agent for the Osage Indians west of the state of Missouri, and Territory of Arkansas, and for other purposes.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the President of the United States be, and he is hereby, authorized to appoint an agent for the Osage Indians west of the State of Missouri, and Territory of Arkansas, who shall receive for his compensation the sum of fifteen hundred dollars, in full, and that all rations or other allowances made to him, shall be deducted from the sum hereby allowed.

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of each Indian agent to reside and keep his agency within or near the territory, claimed by the tribe or tribes of Indians for which he may be agent, at such place as the President of the United States may designate.

Approved: May 18th, 1824.

HAVING contracted to furnish the Capitol of North-Carolina—begs leave to inform the inhabitants of Raleigh and its vicinity, that he is about to establish himself in the above line, near the Capitol Square, where he proposes by the aid of good materials, sound workmanship, and some little display of taste, to merit a share of public patronage.

May 20.

The Celebrated Race Horse,

WASHINGTON, will stand the present season at my stable in Warrenton, and be let to mares at five dollars for the season, payable on the 1st day of January next.

Washington's Pedigree and Performances are excelled by no other horse; a full description of them cannot now be given, sufficient to say that he was gotten by the celebrated horse Napoleon out of the famous running mare Ariadne, by Citizen, her dam by Wild-air.

Washington was engaged in four Sweepstakes, two mile heats, two hundred dollars entrance, when he was three years old.—Three of them he won, beating in one of them the celebrated Horse Henry; the other he lost, after winning the first heat, he lost the second heat by a bad start, whereby he lost at least eighty yards; being in bad order he was then withdrawn, although he only lost the second heat by a few feet. Last spring he was lame in one of his hind legs, and only run at Newmarket for a Handicap, two mile heats. Three started, and he was beaten by Sir William Washington. He won the first heat, Sir William won the second and third. The second heat was run in better time than it was ever run at Newmarket. Sir William had ten pounds taken off his weight in this race. Washington lost sixty yards by a bad start in the second heat, and he only lost the heat by a length. Last fall he won the Proprietor's Purse at Newmarket, three mile heats, three hundred dollars. The first heat in this race, was two seconds faster than it was ever run there before. He was then carried to Baltimore, where he won the Proprietor's Purse of five hundred dollars, three mile heats, beating the celebrated Running Horse Flying Childers; but had the misfortune to get one of his fore legs injured. He was trained this spring, and run at Newmarket and won the Jockey Club Purse of six hundred dollars, four mile heats, beating with ease Mr. Winn's Mare Squirt and Capt. Harrison's Horse Aramis.

Washington is not withdrawn from the turf; but it is thought necessary to give him rest, as his leg is not supposed to have recovered its full strength. He will stand the next season also, and those putting Mares this season which do not prove with foal, will have the privilege of putting them next season, gratis, provided the property of such Mare is not changed.

PETER MITCHELL.

Warrenton, May 19, 1824. 55-5w.

Wm. R. Johnson, Esq. speaking of this horse says "I would as soon enter this Colt in a stake from 100 to $500, as to select from the season of any covering Horse, no matter how many Mares he had put to him."

Land for Sale In Granville County.

THE subscriber is authorized to sell tranquility, that valuable tract of land lying in Granville county, formerly the residence of Chesley Daniel, sen dec'd; containing 1405 acres; situate on the waters of Grassy Creek. There is a dwelling house on it containing four rooms below and three upstairs, which only needs some repairs to make it very commodious. The soil of this land is of superior quality, containing a great quantity of the most fertile creek low Grounds, and a large quantity of the best Tobacco land to clear. It abounds with the best Springs, and is otherwise extremely well watered.

The situation is distinguished for its healthiness, and lies in the neighborhood of good society. The range for Hogs is excellent, and it is in the centre of the best Grass range probably in the State. CHAS. MANLY, Sec.

Raleigh, 26th April, 1824. 47—

Fifty Dollars Reward.

RAN-AWAY from the subscriber living in Guilford county, on the 20th June, 1823, two negroes, CALEB and JUDY.—Caleb is about thirty years of age, light complexion, stout made, broad across the shoulders, peaks slowly, and is about 5 feet 8 or 9 inches high. He has a long, loping walk, and bends forward considerably, as he walks; he has marks of the whip. He had on when he went away, a brown bombazett surtout coat, a striped (yarn) black and white, jacket, blue cotton pantaloons and a wool hat.

Judy is about forty years of age, middle size, copper coloured, quick spoken, and blinks her eyes very much, when detected in an error. She also has the mark of the whip. Judy took among other clothing the following with her: a blue grounded cotton calico frock and two muslin ones, and an old fashioned black silk bonnet. She is an excellent Weaver.

I suppose they are lurking about as free persons. I will give the above reward for their delivery to me, or confinement in Jail, so that I get them, or in proportion for either.
