STANZAS.

When morning hours of life are fled, And rifled pleasures shine no more ; When all those hopes and fears are dead, That flutter'd o'er the heart before, How dear that shrine of other days, That breast with which those joys were known. Where fond remembrance kindly strays To echo notes that thrill our own.

And such a shrine of youthful hours, In thee, my friend, I look'd to prove ; I thought again to cull the flowers, Of early friendship, early love ; I hop'd to mark in later years, The first young thoughts my bosom knew To smile at long forgotten fears, And live o'er blooming hopes anew.

But fate forbade-nor I arraign The dread decree, or wish thy stay ; It were not friendship to detain Thy spirit from a purer day ; Yet, oh ! if haply souls in bliss, E'er think upon their steps of woe, From other worlds thou'lt think of this, And smile on him thou'st left below.

Upon thy simple grave I'll fling Emblems of genius cropp'd too soon ; The morning buds of infant spring, Whose beauties should have burst noon And ever by the moon's pale beam, I'll wander to that sacred spot, And wrapp'd in other moments, dream Of joys that brighten'd and are not.

RE now receiving and opening their Spring assortment of GOODS, which for variety and elegance has not yet been excelled in this market.

They deem it unnecessary to give in detail a description of the particular articles (indeed such a list would be too lengthy to gain admittance into a newspaper) suffice it to say their assortment consists of almost every article of Foreign and Domestic Goods suitable for this market and season ; all of the latest and most fashionable patterns. They have also received a large addition to their Medicine, Paint and Hatter's Material Establishment-and have on the way and Jaily expected, a superior assortment of Queens & Glass Ware. It is already known that they sell for cash only, and as to their prices they are content that those who may favor them with a call shall be their own judges, and will be thankful for a continuance of that encouragement they have hitherto so liberally experienced.

N. B. They have received six trunks of Ladie's, Gentlemen's, Misse's and Children's Shoes, also a case of elegant Parasols and Umbrellas ; and have a variety of articles not usually to be found in Stores in this place or section of country.

CTOLEN from the subscriber, in the neighborhood of Mr. Moring's, in Chat ham county, about the 10th inst. A SORREL MARE, 4 feet 10 inches high, both hind feet white, and it is believed had a white spot in her forehead. On examination will also be discovered on her shoulder the remains of a fistula ; no other mark recollected.

The subscriber has every reason to believe that the said Mare was stolen by a man of the name of JOHN C. MONTAGUE. He is believed to be a native of Henrico county, Virginia, is about 30 years of age, six feet high, light hair and sallow complexion. He wears a dark homespun coat, light pantaloons and straw hat. He has attempted to sell her, but offered her so low as to excite suspicions, as to the manner in which he obtained the property. On being questioned where he got her, he showed a bill of sale from Mr. William Burton of Wake County-but this is a forged writing. He left Haleigh on Sunday last at 3 o'clock, after having tried ineffectually to dispose of his ill-gotten spoil. I will give the above reward for the apprehension of the thief and the recovery of my property.
