FROM PERU—IMPORTANT.

Baltimore, Oct. 30.

By the fast sailing schooner Express, captain Chaytor, arrived here yesterday in 15 days from Jamaica, the editors of the American have received, from their attentive Kingston correspondent, files of Jamaica papers to the 9th inst. inclusive, from which they extract the following gratifying and important intelligence from Peru.

VICTORY OF BOLIVAR.

From the Extraordinary Gazette de Isthmo, of 7th Sept. inst.

The following official communication was received by the General Commandant, it having been brought by the Colombian schooner Guenchaco, which anchored at this port (Panama) in 17 days from Guenchaco:

Republic of Peru, Truxillo,
Aug. 18, 1824.

To the Intendant and General Commandant the Department of the Isthmus of Panama.

Sir: It is with feelings of the highest satisfaction that I have the honor of enclosing you the Gazette of this city, containing the official accounts of the brilliant affair of Junin; the particulars of which were received here last night. This first success opens the door to expectations, as brilliant as they are well founded, and presages a speedy and felicitous termination of that war, which has desolated this rich country. Peru.

The battalion of Zuna, and the squadrons of horse, and dragoons of the guard, joined the head quarters of the Liberator (Bolivar) the day after the action of Junin. Although the official accounts transmitted by the Secretary General are very well detailed, I must take the liberty of addressing you a few particulars, which have been extracted from private letters received here from the officers of the army, and which render this brilliant victory more glorious. More than a thousand of the enemy's cavalry, advantageously posted, have been destroyed by only 400 of our horse. Canterac, in person, commanded the enemy's cavalry, as did the Liberator (Bolivar) ours. Canterac fled before the Liberator, having experienced his irresistible power. The cavalry of the enemy was the flower of the royal army, composed of its oldest veterans, and the greater part Spaniards. The shock was terrific, and our cavalry signalized themselves by prodigies of valor; but he was compelled to make a shameful flight from a few brave Patriots, who were, in number, hardly equal to one-third of those whom he commanded. The Liberator, as usual, exposed himself in the most dangerous situations; but his presence (which is well worth an army) soon compelled the disappearance of Canterac and his old veteran troops. This town has received the gratifying intelligence with inexpressible feelings of delight. All are enlivened by the pure breath of liberty, that they with reason hope to see consolidated by the extraordinary genius of him who has undertaken to give them a country with peace and happiness. I am, &c.
JOSE GABRIEL PEREZ.

APPEARANCE OF OUR WHARVES.

The present is truly a busy time in New-York. The southern and the northern markets seem to be occupying every hand, and tasking the strength of every mercantile mind. The multitude of goods on the wharves, and the great quantities going to the same destination, are cheering sights to the lover of his country's commerce. In a few weeks we may expect our inland navigation to close, and, therefore, every hand is strained in making up supplies for the interior. The book-keeper wields his pen in haste, and the active salesman dashes down the restless piece of goods on the counter. The auctioneer has few monotonous repetitions to make, for the sound of the hammer is a finale as delightful to some ears, as that of Miss Kelly's melody to the dilettanti.

What a bustle on the wharves! What a hurry and confusion on the deck of a vessel just ready for departure! Trunks, chests, and band-boxes, crowd the wharf; men with hurried steps, and beautiful females with anxious faces, blend themselves with the confusion. Even a saunterer may sometimes perceive horses shipping for the south, and cows, with their docile calves, stepping stately over the deck of the vessel. Here comes the passenger, with an umbrella or a bundle in his hand; and then follows at his heels the grinning black waiter, with his trunk on his head.

There is nothing which deserves so much to bind the different sections of the country together, as the arrivals and departures, at different periods of the year, in our northern and southern cities. At one time the citizen must fly from the south to escape the fatal pestilence, and, at another, hurry to the same place to search business and activity. The purest health is within the precincts of our country, but it is as migrating as the natives themselves.

N. Y. Patriot.

FATAL ACCIDENT.

Maysville (Ky.) Oct. 20.

On Wednesday evening last, a deputation of the Choctaw tribe of Indians arrived at this place, on their way to the Seat of Government of the United States. The deputation consisted of Mingo Puckshunubbe, Mush-shulatubbe (a young chief,) Pusmatahab, Talking Warrior, Colonel Robert Cole, Red Fort, Capt. Daniel M'Cutton, Nittahkachee, and David Felson, accompanied by Major John Pitchlynn, the United States' interpreter. Mingo Puckshunubbe, the great medal chief, (after having supped at Capt. Langhorne's, where they all put up,) in attempting to go to the river, missed his way, and was precipitated over the abutments of the road to the stone pavement below, a distance of from 15 to 20 feet, and received so severe a contusion on his head, with other injuries, as to render his recovery hopeless. He lingered until Friday night, in a perfectly senseless condition, when his soul winged its flight to the presence of the "Great Spirit."

[The Choctaw deputation mentioned above, has arrived at the Seat of Government.]

The following paragraphs are selected from a British review of a recent "Journal of a Horticultural Tour thro' Holland, the Netherlands, and a part of France, by two Scottish gentlemen":

"The greatest novelty in Brussels, to our tourists, was the Frog market; and as we do not recollect seeing it described in any other book of travels, we will extract the entire description, with all its decorative Scotticism, for the satisfaction of our reader.

"In a lane hard by the green and fruit stalls, we fell in with the Frog-market, which was a novelty to us. The animals are brought alive in pails and cans, and are sold by tale. The frog-women are arranged on forms, like the oyster-women in the Edinburgh fish-market, and like them, they prepare the article for the purchaser on the spot; as the oyster woman dexterously opens the shells with her gully, the frog woman shows no less adroitness, although more barbarity, in the exercise of her scissors; with those she clips off the hind limbs (being the only parts used) flaying them at the same time with great rapidity, and sticking them on wooden skewers. Many hundreds of the bodies of the frogs, thus cruelly mangled, were crawling in the kennel, or lying in heaps, till they should be carried off in the dirt cart.

"We may mention, that the species thus used as food (Rana esculenta) has never been observed by us as a native of Scotland, though it is marked in natural history works as a British species. It is generally larger, and more arched on the back, than our common frog (Rana temporaria;) and the color is rather green while ours is rather yellow. We noticed, however, many specimens, perhaps males marked longitudinally over the back with three faint yellow lines.

"Our worthy Caledonians do not inform us whether they ventured to taste a pastry made with these hind quarters, after the scene they witnessed. For our own parts, having been accustomed to contemplate nearly as much cruelty practised by the females who sell and skin live eel in London, we were easily prevailed on to partake of a frog pastry in Paris, and in common with several of our countrymen, who pronounced it to be, decidedly, the best of the French dishes. Frogs, however, are expensive, and a rarity even in Paris, and are only seen at the tables of the opulent."

RANAWAY from the subscriber on the night of the 20th inst., a yellow Man by the name of SAM, (sometimes calls himself Sam Freeman, at others Sam Craven.) He has the countenance of an Indian than a mulatto. He is 5 feet 8 or 9 inches high, 24 years of age, husky hair, his fore-teeth decayed, is sensible and quick spoken, can read and write, and is a carpenter and Painter by trade, and is also a pretty good Barber. He carried with him a blue homespun suit, also a blue broadcloth coat, a buff colored and a brown pair of pantaloons. I have no doubt he has a free pass, and is aiming to get to some free State. He some years ago ran away, and was apprehended and lodged in Harrisburg Jail, in Rockingham county, Virginia. I will give Fifty Dollars for his apprehension if taken out of the State, or Twenty-five Dollars within the State.

Valuable Property for Sale,

IN Granville county, N. Carolina, viz. one Tract of 1000 Acres of Land on Grassy Creek; one Tract of 200 Acres on the same Creek; one Tract of 800 Acres on Tuihomy Creek, and one of near 2000 on Island Creek and the waters of Grassy Creek. The aforesaid Tracts of Land have Plantations on each of them, in tolerable good repair. The first large enough to work 10 hands on to advantage; the 2d, 4 or five hands; the 3d, 8 or 10; and the 4th sufficient for 15 or 18 hands. The other improvements on each plantation, are tolerably good, (except buildings excepted.) It is believed that the Orchards on two of the places, are more valuable, and contain more Fruit trees, than any other two plantations in the county, and which are known to bear every year. One of the above Tracts of Land is within 6 or 7 miles of Oxford, the other three Tracts are in the north western part of the county.

The above lands are situated in the most healthy part of Granville, affording a plenty of excellent springs and other convenient streams of water.

The soil is well adapted to the culture of Corn, Tobacco, Wheat, Cotton, &c. and may be justly ranked with the valuable Lands of said County. The Plantations are in a good condition for making a crop the ensuing year. Persons inclined to purchase are requested to examine the premises and satisfy themselves. The subscriber, or Sam'l S. Downey, Esq. living in the upper part of Granville, will shew the property and make known the terms. The crops of Corn and Fodder and stock of Horses, Mules, Cattle and Hogs on two of the above plantations, are for sale; also a very valuable Jack, and 3 Jennies raised from the most approved stock.

Two of the above tracts of land will be exchanged for Western Land.
