RALEIGH REGISTER. FRIDAY, JANUARY 14, 1825.

We have not received the official returns, but have ascertained with certainty, that GEORGE OUTLAW, Esq. is elected by a large majority over his opponent WILLIS ALSTON, Esq. to the seat in Congress, lately relinquished by Gov. BURTON. Mr. Outlaw stands pledged to vote for Mr. CRAWFORD as President.

A warning to the Intemperate.—A man by the name of Hugh Johnson, yesterday morning went into the grocery store of Mr. Richard Roberts, of this city, and after taking a drink laid himself down upon a bed in an adjoining room: where he remained some time without being noticed. A few hours afterwards, some one going up to him, discovered that he was dead! An inquest was called over him, whose verdict was, that he came to his death from excessive intoxication! We learn that he had, for some years, followed gambling as a profession. He died without a cent in his pocket.

Since our last, the following young gentlemen have obtained licences to practice Law in the Superior Courts: Henry N. Jasper, of Beaufort; Wm. Littlejohn of Granville. And the following in the County Courts: Thos. G. Spears, of Mecklenburg, Daniel W. Courts, of Rockingham.

HENRY NEWMAN, Esq. has been recognized by the President of the U. States, as Consul of his Britanic Majesty for the States of North and South Carolina, to reside at Charleston.

NEW-JERSEY.—The Legislature of this State adjourned on the 31st ult. after passing an act to incorporate a Company to make a Canal from the Raritan to the Delaware, from which Company the State is to receive a Bonus of $100,000. Acts were also passed to incorporate six Banks, which are collectively to pay to the State a bonus of $60,000. Some of these banks are to be established at places having neither capital or business, the names of some of which are hardly known, the intention being evidently to convert to such purposes, some of the overflowing capital of the city of New-York.

On the 1st inst. DEWITT CLINTON took the oath of office of Governor of the State of New-York, which was administered to him by Chief Justice Savage. The Governor has appointed Charles G. Haines to be Adjutant General of the State.

On Tuesday last, the Legislature of the same State assembled at Albany.—Clarkson Crolius was chosen Speaker of the House of Assembly, and F. Seg Clerk.

The Message of the Governor was transmitted on the day following. It is of great length, and embraces many topics of interest, which are handled with ability.

INDIANA.—Indianapolis, in Marion county, is, by an act passed at the last session of the Legislature, adopted and established as the permanent seat of government of Indiana, from and after the 10th inst. The next regular session of the Legislature will commence in the Court House in Indianapolis on that day.

As was contemplated, the members of Congress gave a sumptuous dinner to Gen. LAFAYETTE, on New-Year's day, of which more than two hundred persons participated. Mr. GALLIARD presided, assisted by Mr. CLAY. The President of the United States, and many of our distinguished officers both of the Army and Navy attended. The third regular toast was,

The President of the United States.—Our respectability abroad and prosperity at home is the best eulogy of his administration.

On the toast being drank, the President rose and said—

I cannot but be deeply affected by the generous sentiments which you have expressed in favor of my conduct, in the high trust which I have so long held from my country. In our respectability abroad and prosperity at home, no one can take a more profound interest than I do. It is to the virtue and intelligence of our fellow-citizens that we owe this success, and I see in it the most decisive proof of the excellence and stability of our republican institutions. That I have exerted my best faculties in a long course of public service to support these institutions and to promote the welfare and happiness of our union, is most certain. To receive this public acknowledgment, from so distinguished an assembly, on an occasion so highly interesting and honorable to the nation, affords me a gratification which I shall forever cherish.

The 8th Toast was,

General Lafayette, the great Apostle of rational Liberty, unawed by the frowns of Tyranny, uninfluenced by the blandishments of Wealth, and unseduced by popular applause—the same in the Castle of Olmutz as in the active scenes of his labor, & the height of his renown.

When this toast was drank, General Lafayette rose, and said—

Gentlemen of both Houses: I want words to express the respectful and grateful sense I have of all the favors and kindnesses you are pleased to confer upon me. I hope you will do justice to the warm feelings of an American heart, and I beg leave to propose the following Toast: "Perpetual Union among the United States: it has saved us in our times of danger: it will save the world."

COLUMBIAN INSTITUTE.—The anniversary Festival of the Columbian Institute took place at Washington on the 5th inst. The dinner was prepared in a style of uncommon richness and elegance. Mr. John Quincy Adams, President of the Institute, presided; assisted by Dr. Edward Curbus, Vice-President of the Institute. After the cloth was removed, the following Toasts were successively offered by the different gentlemen, and drank with great cordiality: By the Hon. John Q. Adams, President of the Institute. The olive and the vine, and social enjoyment under the joint auspices of their patron Deities. By Dr. E. Curbus, Vice-President. Science: May the resources and prosperity of our country be increased by its application to agriculture, commerce, the arts, and manufactures.

A letter was read to the company by Mr. Secretary DICKENS, from Gen. LAFAYETTE, expressing the warm thanks of that distinguished individual to the Institute for conferring on him the highest mark of its respect, in unanimously making him an honorary Member, and also expressing his regret that a previous engagement in the country had deprived him of the pleasure of dining with the Institute. After reading the letter, Mr. Dickens gave for a toast: "Happiness to General LAFAYETTE." Which was drank with enthusiasm. By Alex. H. Everett, Esq. A permanent alliance between the two principal Republics of the globe—the Republic of Letters and the Republic of the United States. The Rev. Mr. LITTLE, a member of the Institute, addressing the chair said, "In offering you a toast, sir, I must premise, that my inaptness in marking with perspicuity the allusion it contains, renders it necessary to preface it with some explanation. The beautiful edifice which stands on the adjacent hill, is attractive to every stranger, and interesting to every American, not only because it is the Capitol of our Republic, but on account of the moral dignity of its occupation. In one end of that magnificent building, sit the Representatives of the People; in the other the Senators chosen by the Legislatures of the States, deliberating on the laws by which the country shall be governed. In a lower apartment, the Supreme Judiciary at the proper season, with splendid talents and unimpeachable integrity, administer justice to all who claim the highest protection of the law. In the western extremity of the building, Literature has deposited her ample stores in a National Library, the richness of which, will, we trust, exceed even the exquisite beauty of the Room in which they are lodged. Underneath this temple of Wisdom, our infant Institute has, by the favor of Government, found a shelter, where (though as yet we have done but little) we shall, I hope grow in vigor and usefulness, and repay the protection we have found by adding something to the science and happiness of the country. I propose, sir, this sentiment: "Internal concord between Science, Legislation and Justice."

General Lafayette's father in law, the Duke de Noailles, died at Paris, November 8th, at a very advanced age.

The Rev. R. C. Maturin, well known in the literary world, died lately in Ireland.

The Editors of the Nat. Intelligencer, state in their last paper, that a very short experiment has been sufficient to satisfy them of the impracticability of publishing and delivering their Register of Congressional Debates, sheet by sheet, & to induce them to defer the delivery of any part of the volume until the whole shall be completed, which will be as soon as practicable after the close of the present and each succeeding session of Congress.

Statue of Washington.—To some inquiries in the public papers in Boston, relative to the subscriptions received for a Monument to Washington, Mr. John Lowell, chairman of the Committee for procuring the Statue states that nearly $16,000, has been vested in public funds for that purpose; that Mr. Chantry, of Panlico, London, the great rival of the late Canova, has agreed to deliver the statue on ship board, for 10,000 dollars, and that the Committee will, in January next, make choice of a place for its reception.

A trial, or rather a condemnation that has taken place before, the Mayor's Court in Philadelphia, is worthy of notice. A juror having agreed to and signed a verdict, rose in Court and declared that the paper did not contain his real sentiments. He was told that the crime was perjury—but in consequence of his ignorance, he was dismissed by the Court with a reprimand and a fine of ten dollars.

FOREIGN NEWS. There have been several recent arrivals at New York from Liverpool. The most interesting News, is that portion which relates to the affairs of the Greeks—the present intelligence more fully confirming the previous reports of their successes; and adding as the result, that the Maritime Commander of the Greeks, having crippled the Turkish Admiral and driven him through the straits, had taken position at the mouth of the Dardanelles, with the view of keeping the Ottoman fleet in the sea of Marmora, and intercepting the military supplies from Constantinople.

The Bank for Savings, in the City of New-York, has given notice, that after the first day of this month, the interest on deposits will be reduced to four per cent. It is understood that the aggregate of deposits in that Bank amounts to twelve hundred thousand dollars.

An altercation took place some days since in Loudon county, Virginia, between a capt. Beaty and Dennis McCarty; the latter stabbed Beaty with a dirk, which caused his death in a short time—the murderer fled but was overtaken. The Alexandria Herald states, that they were brothers-in-law, and both men of families.

Anecdote of Lafayette.—A member of Congress, conversing with the General on the proceedings of Congress, & delicately apologising for the opposition which the appropriation in his favour had experienced in that body—the General with great naivete, and never-failing presence of mind, interrupted him with this happy remark—"I, Sir, am one of the opposition. The gift is so munificent, so far exceeding the service of the individual, that had I been a member of Congress, I must have voted against it."

Accounts from Colombia announce the death of William D. Robinson, who recently departed from the United States for that country, where he is well known as having been Consul of the United States at Carthagen. He is better known to the world generally as an author of much intelligence, and as a merchant of great enterprise, who mixed also somewhat in the politics of the country, which caused his imprisonment and transportation to Spain as a State Prisoner, whence he luckily made his escape. It is probable some one of his numerous friends in this country will furnish for the press some more particular account of his eventful life. His death occurred on the 13th December—his age, 52.

By the last accounts from Calcutta, it appears that the Burmese War has not proceeded with the rapidity and good fortune which have generally attended the British conquests with the native powers of India. The Burmese have lodged themselves on various parts of the north-east frontier, and have broken into the British territories, carrying their incursions to the neighborhood of Dacca, distant from Calcutta but 170 miles, destroying the valuable crops of Indigo, and ravaging the country, one of the richest in the Peninsula of Hindostan. The Burmese have taken up a position at Ranou, within the British territory, which they have strongly stockaded. Their force there is said to be 8,000 foot and 200 horse.

KENTUCKY.—In the Legislature of this State, there has been an attempt in both Houses to procure addresses to the Governor to remove the Judges of the Court of Appeals, who have, in the opinion of the prevailing party in the State exceeded their prerogative. In both Houses, the project failed by small majorities, the requisite majority for such a proceeding being two-thirds of both Houses.

U. S. Penal Code.—The penal laws of the U. States have long been known to be entirely deficient; but the subject was so grave a one, and its details in such a degree perplexing, that a revision of those laws has always been contemplated with reluctance, almost amounting to aversion. The defects of the system have become so flagrant however, as to overcome this reluctance; and the House of Representatives is at length seriously engaged in the discussion of a bill embracing such a multitude of provisions for the punishment of offences that have hitherto gone unpunished, as to excite a wonder that, under this defective system, so few crimes have been committed within the peculiar jurisdiction of the federal government. This bill will, probably, occasion much discussion and difference of opinion upon its details; but, as it has been seriously entered upon, we think it probable that, in whatever shape it may be thrown by amendments, a bill upon this subject will take the form and force of Law before the close of the present session. Nat. Int.

Mr. Noah, of the N. York National Advocate, closes some handsome remarks on the contemplated settlement of the mouth of the Columbia River, in the following manner: "We should say that our national straits are too rapid that we undertake Quixotic projects; but so we said when the grand canal was first attempted. For eighteen months we wore our eyes, hair, and fingers to nothing, in endeavoring to prove that the canal never would be completed, but alas, the more we wrote the faster they worked, and had actually the boats afloat, and the tolls gathered, by the time we arrived at the conclusion that the thing was impossible. We doubt whether a post road can be made from Buffalo to the Columbia River, and whether post coaches, with glass windows, will be established; but it may, possibly be done, and we will consider nothing as beyond the power, resources, and enterprise of this country."

In a debate in the Revolutionary Congress, on the strengthening the federative system, it being urged that the time must come when a confederacy would be dissolved, Dr. Wetherston made the following, among many, eloquent observations in reply. "I am none of those who either deny or conceal the depravity of human nature, till it is purified by the light of truth, and renewed by the spirit of the living God. Yet I apprehend there is no force in that reasoning at all. Shall we establish nothing good, because we know it cannot be eternal? Shall we live without government, because every constitution has its old age, and its period? Because we know that we shall die, shall we take no pains to preserve or lengthen our life? Far from it. But only requires the more watchful attention to a civil government on the best principles, and in the wisest manner, that it may last as long as the nature of things will admit."

Preaching may be expected hereafter, every Sunday in the Baptist Church at 11 o'clock in the morning.
