

POETRY.

GREEK MELODY.

O! where is now that noble band,
And where that soul supreme,
Which swelld to shield the classic land,

Where—where that eye, which fir'd the gloom—
That arm which broke the chain?

The rude barbarian blots their tomb,
And darkness rules the plain.

The light, which o'er the warrior's brow,
The orb of Freedom cast—
The word which bore the hero's vow?

The light—the word are past!
No marble bids the wanderer pause,
The wand'rer's tear to glide,

Here, here we fought for Sparta's laws,
And here for Sparta died."

Tho' round that haunt oppression low'rs,
No darkness shrouds their name,
Eat fancy forms, in loveliest bow'rs,

Their Cenotaph of fame;
There—there 'twould know but shadow's gloom
And the winter's stormy skies—

While fancy pours her brightest bloom,
And breathes her holiest sighs.

Yet, once again, a noble band;
Again a soul supreme,
'Twas swelld to shield the classic land,

And has fir'd in glory's beam!
Soon valor's eye shall chase the gloom
His arm shall break the chain—

No rude barbarian blot their tomb,
No darkness rule the plain:

Heroes! As in your glowing days,
High songs of freedom swell—
Art shall again your altar raise,

And your story—genius tell!
Again the wanderer shall pause,
And again his tear shall glide,

Here, here we fought for Sparta's laws,
And here for Sparta died!"

*A splendid monument which has long since yielded to the ravages of time, was erected to their memory, having the epitaph inscribed—"Go traveller, tell at Sparta we died here in obedience to her laws."

Raleigh, May 9, 1825.

Navy Commissioner's Office.

5th May, 1825.

SEALED Proposals will be received by the Commissioners of the Navy, until the 1st day of July next, for the supply of 3000 Barrels of Beef, and 3000 Barrels of Pork.

One thousand barrels of beef, and one thousand barrels of pork, to be delivered at each of the Navy Yards, at Charlestown, Massachusetts; Brooklyn, New-York, and Gosport, Virginia, by the first day of May, 1826.

The said beef and pork shall be of the best and most approved quality. Of the beef, all the legs, leg rounds, necks, and cloths, shall be excluded, and the rest of the body of the animal shall be cut into pieces of ten pounds each, as near as may be, so that twenty pieces will make a barrel of two hundred pounds net weight of beef. Of the pork—which must be corn-fed, and well fattened—all the skulls, feet, and hind legs, entire, shall be excluded, and the remainder of the hog, including not more than three shoulders to each barrel, shall be cut into pieces of eight pounds, as near as may be, so that twenty-five pieces will make a barrel of two hundred pounds net weight of pork.

The whole of the said beef and pork to be packed with the best clean coarse white Turk's Island, Isle of May, or T. Ubes salt, with a sufficient quantity of the best salt-petre. The barrels in which the beef and pork shall be packed, must be made of the best seasoned white oak, or white ash, and fully hooped, and must be branded "Navy Beef" and "Navy Pork," with the contractor's name, and the year when packed.

The whole of the said beef and pork must undergo the inspection of the Navy-Yards where the deliveries are to be made, or such other inspection as the Commissioners of the Navy may direct; and when delivered, shall be in perfect shipping order.

Each proposal for furnishing the beef and pork, must be accompanied by letters from two competent persons, stating their readiness to become security, in bond, for one half of the amount of the contract, conditioned for the faithful performance of the contract.

No attention will be paid to offers not corresponding with the terms required by this advertisement.

Proposals to be endorsed—"Offers to furnish salt provisions." 58 4w
