THE CONVENTION.

The Convention was engaged during the morning session Thursday in consideration of the ordinance known as the ordinance in regard to the debts of the State, and the original ordinance bassed the second reading, all amendments having been rejected. On the third reading an amendment submitting that part of the ordinance which relates to the war debt to the people, was offered by Mr. Grissom, of Granville, and was under discussion when the Convention took a recess until 74 o'clock P. M.

The Convention at the evening session passed the Ordinance in regard to the State debt. It requires the Legislature to make provision for the payment of the interest on what is known as the old or ante-war debt, and forbids the payment safely housed in Mr. Coleman's Eutaw of debts contracted in aid of the rebel-

The Convention adjourned, to meet ou the 1st of May next.

Our citizens should bear in mind the fact that if the State of North Carolina is to be represented on the floor of the next Congress we must send men there who can take the test oath prescribed.

Some individuals have been very busy in this community circulating reports that President Johnson had said he would have the oath modified. Such persons, to say the least, do not "speak by the card."

THE PROPLE'S LINE I left New Berne, as you kilów, on Thursday morning at nine e'clock, on board the Argo. The voyage was exceedingly pleasant clear through to this place. The weather was delightful, the water smooth, and the old boat steamed along at fair speed until we struck head winds on the Albemarle Sound. This threw us behind about an hour, and when we connected with the canal boat at the mouth of Pamilico Canal, it was nearly 7 o'clock Friday (this) morning.rituck Sound was quite as pleasant as that of the previous day. [From the Norfolk Old Dominion.]

The merchants and farmers of a large and rich section of the Old North State. have for many years contributed heavily to the trade of this city. Vast quantities of corn from the rich and exhaustless cotton lands, millions of lumber from the vast timber lands, naval stores from the great hive regions, and fish from the sounds, the rivers and the sea coast, have ALEXANDER come up through the canal, and by rail-road, to the dealers and commission merchants of Norfolk. Heavy shipments of merchandise of every description have gone back in return to supply town, village and country place in our adjoining sister States. Of course, this trade, one of the chief sources of wealth and The ride through canals and over Cur- advancement here, was checked by the war. The cargoes of corn, cotton, staves, shingles, tar, pitch, rosin, turpentine and herrings, ceased to arrive, the canals were obstructed, the railroads partially destroyed, and the producers, most of did their full duty in the way of table them, upon the bloody battle-field or wandering away from their once quiet and happy homes.

But it is very gratifying to notice that this Carolina business is starting off again fairly and surely. Some of the most rehable and extensive mercantile houses, have resumed business; trade and commeree are beginning to burst asunder the fetters that have bound them so long. and the old order of things is beginning to take the place of the long and tedious period of war and ruin. DEAR SIR :- I have been afflicted many years with severe prostrating cramps in my limbs, cold feet and hands, and a general disordered system. Physicians and medicine failed to relieve me. Some friends in New York, who were using Plantation Bitters, prevailed upon me te try them. I commenced with a small wine-glass-full after dinner. PARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BU-CHU. The component parts are BUCHU. LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES. MODE OF PREPARATION .- Buchu, in vacuo. Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Culbebs extracted by displacement by liquor obtained from Juniper Berries, containing very little angar, a small proportion of spirit, and more palatable than any now in use. The active EMPIRE SEWING MACHINE

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists generally, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle,) leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. will find this a most advantageous chance to The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopous, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exists. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of
