BURGLARY. -Burglarious entrances seem to be quite common still. Professionals do not exhibit a desire to close business under any circumstances. Besides some seven or eight minor transactions at various points in the city last week, we have to note a successful attempt was made Friday night upon the large establishment of MITCHELL, ALLEN & Co. The burglar entered the store by a back window, how, nobody knows. He left no trace of the means by which he enportable articles.

REMEMBER-The spring term of Craven County Court will commence to-morrow. Suitors and counsel will take noti e and act accordingly.

A BEAUTIFUL IDEA .- In the mountains of national song until they hear their husbands. fathers and brothers answers them from the hills Adriatic such a custom prevails. There the wives of the fishermen come down about sunset and sing a melody. After singing the first stanza they listen awhile for an answering melody from off the water, and continue to sing and songs of the loved ones at home, that sing to tighten the links that bind together these humble dwellers by the sea! Truly it is among the lowly in this life that we find some of the most beautiful customs in practice.

THE GRAND COMBINATION CIRCUS COMPANY left last night for Raleigh on a special train, and our friends at the Capitol will be regaled for a short season with something good. Aside from the usual performances incident to the arena everywhere, Mr. Castello proves to the world that he is the most successful trainer of animals now is the most successful trainer of animals now known to the public. The exhibition of the Deauthful horse Czar is alone worth the price of admission, and when our Raleigh friends witness the complete system of menage by Mrs. Castello, they will agree with us that he is not only a most tractable animal, but that he approaches nearer the human being, than any animal they have ever seen. Mrs. Castello seems to be a greater favorite with him than Dan himself, as he (the horse) obeys every wish she utters. It is alone worth the price of Andrew Donohue, in Market street, yesterday morning, which resulted in the dangerous wounding of James Collins at the hands of Donohue, who is his brother-in-law. It appears that for some time past considerable ill will has existed between Collins and Donohue, arising from domestic difficulties. Yesterday morning at about nine o'clock Collins entered the cooper's shop of Donohue, and they soon became innalism, and go at once into the livery

TERRIBLE DEATH.—An unfortunate inebriate, Joe Ralston, after having spent all his cash in the kets of Paris. doggeries of Phillipsburg, Centre county, Pa., was thrust out to find his way home the best he could. Failing to find the bridge across Mashannon, he boldly dashed into the creek to wade it, but ere he had proceeded two-thirds across, his limbs refused to perform their office. He grasped a bough of an overhanging tree, unable to advance further, and soon the fast congealing water cemented close about him a tomb of ice, which stretched from shore to shore. Two days after this, he was found standing rigid as an icicle, his knees imbedded in a sheet of the fro-zen element seven inches thick, his body inclined Fifteen men were dreadfully burned by the sudden explosion of a pit of molten metal in London on the 12th ult. caused by a drop of rain falling in it from the skylight.

The execution of Samuel O. Berry, the one-armed guerills, which was to have been carried into effect at the Military Prison, Louisville, on Friday, has been postponed until March 16.

It takes a down east man to ask questions; but once in a while one of them find his match. Jonathan overtook a gentleman who was traveling on horseback notwithstanding the disadvantage of having lost a leg. His curiosity was awakened, as he rode alongside of him, to know how he chanced to meet with such a misfortune :

"Been in the army, I guess?" said the anxious "Never was in the army in my life," the trav-eler remarked.

"Fit a duel, p'rhaps?"
"Never fought a duel sir."
"Horse throwed you off, I guess, or something of that are sort?" 'No, sir, nothing of the kind."

Jonathan tried various dodges, but all to no effect; and at last, almost out of patience with himself as well as with the gentleman, whose pa-tience was very commendable, he determined on a direct inquiry as to the return of the accident by which the gentleman mad come to lose his

ELOPEMENT.-We learn faom the Stanstead (Vt.) Journal that quite a sensation occurred at Derby Line last Tuesday. A couple of juvenile French Canadians came over the border to com mit matrimony. It seems that they were pursued, and a telegraphic dispatch to Stanstend, from Sherbrooke, was just a little too late to catch the lovers. An enterprising bailiff and an assistant followed after them, however, and, tered, and carried off, besides, $20 in money. overtaking them near Newport, turned them back to Derby Line, where young Thibodeau was advised that he was not obliged to obey the behests of a Canadian officer. A minister was called in, and the fugitives were speedily murried. About 12 o'clock, after the "happy pair" had "retired," their sleep was rudely disturbed by

WILL PEEP OUT .- The Memphis Avalanche likens the Southern people to a "hen-pecked husband, who was invariably thrust under his wife's bed when visited by good-looking men. On one occasion she was serving up refreshments for her guests, and her husband could not resist the temptation to peep out. She perceived it, and by sly nods and shakes of the head, was warning him to be quiet. You may wink and blink as much as you please, said he. but so long as I have the spirit of a man within me I will peep. The Southern people have been driven to the wall. The seldier has laid down his arms in good faith. While the radicals are proposing their infamous schemes of oppression, we cannot resist the temptation to 'peep.'"
