There were in one of the horse dens belonging to the circus two beautiful cubs, about as large as cats, and as playful as kittens. Fred R. C. Twitty offered young John Robinson $50 for one of them, and was informed in a manner both childlike and bland, that the proposition would be thought of, if he would offer $5,000.

We regret to learn that our old friend W. F. Pollock, a well-known citizen of Mount Olive, was on Thursday morning last killed by a train on the W. & W. railroad. It seems that in a state of drowsiness he had gone to sleep on the truck, and the morning train ran over him. He leaves a family and many sorrowing friends. - W. J. Journal.

The Raleigh News says that Gov. Caldwell received a telegraphic despatch Saturday morning from Columbus, Ga., notifying him of the arrest in that State, of the notorious George Applewhite, one of the Henry Berry Lowery gang of outlaws. A reward of six thousand dollars had been offered for his arrest by the Governor. There are now only two remaining, for whom a reward is offered, Andrew Strong and Stephen Lowery.

GENERAL NEWS.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.

Those who have conversed with President Grant and his more intimate friends in Washington during the past month will remember that they uniformly predicted such a result of the Presidential election as has just occurred.

They seemed to possess data from gentlemen in different parts of the country which justified them in their hopes and prospects, now fully realized. The President to-day received calls of congratulations in addition to numerous telegrams of greeting, and also announcing results.

He expressed thanks to his guests for these manifestations of friendship, and apart from the political issues involved was gratified, that the people had vindicated his private character, which had been assailed during the canvass, that there will be at least one change in the Cabinet at the commencement of the next Presidential term, there is no question.

It is known that Secretary Fish has recently expressed his wish to be relieved from the position of Secretary of State. This desire will be gratified at the end of the present term. There is no probability of a change of Attorney General.

Judge Williams recently remarked that although he could have been elected Senator from Oregon, he declined to be a candidate in order that he might remain in his present office. There is good reason for stating that any remarks with regard to other members of the Cabinet would be mere speculation, but it may be said that the commissions of all of them will expire at the close of the present term, necessitating new commissions to those serving as Cabinet officers after the 4th of March next. It is too early to anticipate the President's action in the future concerning reforms and measures of administration, but it is his intention to-day that he will so endeavor to shape his official conduct as to unite the people in stronger bonds of peace, while by all means in his power promoting their welfare at home and abroad.

FOREIGN NEWS.

LONDON, Nov. 6.

The result of the Presidential election in America is published in London this morning. The Telegraph believes Grant deserved re-election, and that the fact that he has been again chosen disproves the assertion that Republicans are ungrateful.

The Standard makes a violent attack upon the Republican party, which it says has done nationally what Tammany and Fisk did locally, that Grant and Greeley are both unfit for the position of President of the United States, but it says of the two evils it believes the people have made the best choice.
